Looking Into My Sisters Eyes:

Sisters Or Strangers Franca Iacovetta, Frances Swyripa, Marlene Epp, 2004-01-01 Spanning two hundred years of history from the nineteenth century to the 1990s Sisters or Strangers explores the complex lives of immigrant ethnic and racialized women in Canada. The volume deals with a cross section of peoples including Japanese Chinese Black Aboriginal Irish Finnish Ukrainian Jewish Mennonite Armenian and South Asian Hindu women and diverse groups of women including white settlers refugees domestic servants consumer activists nurses wives and mothers. The central themes of Sisters or Strangers include discourses of race in the context of nation building encounters with the state and public institutions symbolic and media representations of women familial relations domestic violence and racism and analyses of history and memory. In different ways the authors question whether the historical experience of women in Canada represents a sisterhood of challenge and opportunity or if the racial class or marginalized identity of the immigrant and minority women made them in fact strangers in a country where privilege and opportunity fall according to criteria of exclusion. Using a variety of theoretical approaches this collaborative work reminds us that victimization and agency are never mutually exclusive and encourages us to reflect critically on the categories of race gender and the nation.

Through My Sister's Eyes Karen A. Buckhalter, Gender Conflicts Franca Iacovetta, Mariana Valverde, 1992-01-01 In the early 1970s when women's history began to claim attention as an emerging discipline in North American universities it was dominated by a middle class Anglo Saxon bias. Today the field is much more diverse a development reflected in the scope of this volume. Rather than documenting the experiences of women solely in a framework of gender analysis its authors recognize the interaction of race class and gender as central in shaping women's lives and men's. These essays represent an exciting breakthrough in women's studies expanding the borders of the discipline while breaking down barriers between mainstream and women's history.

Reading Canadian Women's and Gender History Nancy Janovicek, Carmen Nielson, 2019-01-01 Inspired by the question of what's next in the field of Canadian women's and gender history this broadly historiographical volume represents a conversation among established and emerging scholars who share a commitment to understanding the past from intersectional feminist perspectives. It includes original essays on Quebecois Indigenous Black and immigrant women's histories and tackles such diverse topics as colonialism religion labour warfare sexuality and reproductive labour and justice. Intended as a regenerative retrospective of a critically important field this collection both engages analytically with the current state of women's and gender historiography in Canada and draws on its rich past to generate new knowledge and areas for inquiry.

She Knocked at the Door Jie Zhang, 2005 She Knocked at the Door is the story of a Chinese girl told in her own words from childhood to adulthood. Her story is set during the period of China's great difficulties and the girl endures terrible blows that split her family. She faces not only the usual everyday adversities but also surprising and tragic events that no child should experience.
