The Noir Atlantic Pim Higginson, 2011 The Noir Atlantic follows the influence of African American author Chester Himes on Francophone African crime fiction In 1953 Himes emigrated to Paris he struggled there just as he had in the United States In 1957 his luck changed the famous French Série noire brought out the first installment of his Harlem crime series La reine des pommes Suddenly he was a household name in France Later he would also have a significant influence on Francophone African writers for them Himes's blend of absurdist humor and violence offered an alternative to a high literary paradigm implanted during the colonial era Likewise his heterogeneous identity as American black and a writer of French bestsellers modeled an escape from the centripetal pull of the Metropole Starting with Abasse Ndione's depictions of Senegal's marijuana smoking subculture in La Vie en spirale 1982 and ending with Mongo Beti's 2001 Branle bas en noir et blanc set in Yaoundé Cameroon Francophone African crime fiction rejected French criteria of literary success it embraced a new postcolonial aesthetic that emphasized entertaining the reader while making a living The Noir Atlantic demonstrates why turning to what this study calls a frivolous literary mode represented a profound shift in perspective that anticipated more recent developments such as littérature mondiale Drama in three acts. Founded on Edmund Yate's novel of "Black sheep." And arranged for the stage by J. Palgrave Simpson, and the author Edmund Hodgson Yates, 1868 Black Fiction A. Robert Lee, 1980 The Facts on File Companion to the French Novel Karen L. Taylor, 2006 French novels such as Madame Bovary and The Stranger are staples of high school and college literature courses This work provides coverage of the French novel since its origins in the 16th century with an emphasis on novels most commonly studied in high school and college courses in world literature and in French culture and civilization

Spectacular Blackness Amy Abugo Ongiri,2010 Exploring the interface between the cultural politics of the Black Power and the Black Arts movements and the production of postwar African American popular culture Amy Ongiri shows how the reliance of Black politics on an oppositional image of African Americans was the formative moment in the construction of authentic blackness as a cultural identity While other books have adopted either a literary approach to the language poetry and arts of these movements or a historical analysis of them Ongiri s captures the cultural and political interconnections of the postwar period by using an interdisciplinary methodology drawn from cinema studies and music theory She traces the emergence of this Black aesthetic from its origin in the Black Power movement s emphasis on the creation of visual icons and the Black Arts movement s celebration of urban vernacular culture Figures in Black : Words, Signs, and the "Racial" Self Henry Louis Gates Jr. Chairman of the Department of Afro-American Studies and W.E.B. DuBois Professor of the Humanities Harvard University,1987-07-16 The originality brilliance and scope of the work is remarkable Gates will instruct delight and stimulate a broad range of readers both those who are already well versed in Afro American literature and those who after reading this book will eagerly begin to be Barbara E Johnson Harvard University A critical enterprise of the first importance Gates promises to lead and to show the way in boldness of conception in vigor of execution and in vitality and pertinence of expression James Olney Louisiana State University Recently awarded Honorable Mention from the John Hope Franklin Publication Prize Committee of the American Studies Association Figures in Black takes a provocative new look at how we analyze and define black literature Henry Louis Gates Jr attacks the notion that the dominant mode of Afro American literature is or should be a kind of social realism evaluated primarily as a reflection of the Black Experience Instead Gates insists that critics turn to the language of the text and bring to their work the close methodical analysis of language made possible by modern literary theory But his goal in this volume is not merely to apply contemporary theory to black texts Indeed as he ranges from 18th century poet Phillis Wheatley to modern writers Ishmael Reed and Alice Walker he attempts to redefine literary criticism itself moving it away from a Eurocentric notion of a hierarchical canon mostly white Western and male to foster a truly comparative and pluralistic notion of literature In doing so he provides critics with a powerful tool for the analysis of black art and more important reveals for all readers the brilliance and depth of the Afro American tradition

Intimate Revolt Julia Kristeva, 2025-01-14 Julia Kristeva herself a product of the famous May 1968 Paris student uprising has long been fascinated by the concepts of rebellion and revolution But is it still possible to build and nurture a culture of revolt in today's world In this book Kristeva examines the manner in which three of the most unsettling modern writers Louis Aragon Jean Paul Sartre and Roland Barthes affirmed their personal rebellions She then ponders the future of rebellion maintaining not only that political revolt is mired in compromise but also that an essential component of European culture a culture of doubt and criticism is losing its moral and aesthetic force

Black Literature and Literary Theory Henry Louis Gates, Jr, 2016-08-19 The imaginative literature of African and Afro American authors writing in Western languages has long been seen as standing outside the Western literary canon In fact however black literature not only has a complex formal relation to that canon but tends to revise and reflect Western rhetorical strategies even more than it echoes black vernacular literary forms This book first published in 1984 is divided into two sections thus clarifying the nature of black literary theory on the one hand and the features of black literary practice on the other Rather than merely applying contemporary Western theory to black literature these critics instead challenge and redefine the theory in order to make fresh stimulating comments not only on black criticism and literature but also on the general state of criticism today

The Colonial Comedy: Imperialism in the French Realist Novel Jennifer Yee, 2016-08-12 Nineteenth century French Realism focuses on metropolitan France with Paris as its undisputed heart Through Jennifer Yee's close reading of the great novelists of the French realist and naturalist canon Balzac Flaubert Zola Maupassant The Colonial Comedy reveals that the colonies play a role at a distance even in the most apparently metropolitan texts In what Edward Said called geographical notations of race and imperialism the presence of the colonies off stage is apparent as imported objects colonial merchandise and individuals whose colonial experience is transformative Indeed the realist novel registers the presence of the emerging global world system through networks of importation financial speculation and immigration as well as direct colonial violence and power structures The literature of the century responds to the last decades of French slavery and direct colonialism notably in Algeria but also economic imperialism and the extension of French influence elsewhere Far from imperialist triumphalism in the realist novel exotic objects are portrayed as fake or mass produced for the growing bourgeois market while economic imperialism is associated with fraud and manipulation The deliberate contrast of colonialism and exoticism within the metropolitan novel and ironic distancing of colonial narratives reveal the realist mode to be capable of questioning its own epistemological basis The Colonial Comedy argues for the existence in the nineteenth century of a Critical Orientalism characterized by critique of its own discursive foundations Using the tools of literary analysis within a materialist approach The Colonial Comedy opens up the domestic Paris Provinces axis to signifying chains pointing towards the colonial space

The Roman Noir in Post-war French Culture Claire Gorrara,2003 The Roman Noir in Post War French Culture offers a lively introduction to the post war French roman noir from a cultural studies perspective A populist and widely disseminated genre the French roman noir has suffered from a reputation as a minor genre with its roots in American popular culture In this study Claire Gorrara challenges such preconceptions and examines how selected writers have appropriated the roman noir as a critical response to formative concerns and debates in post war French society Starting with the first truly French roman noir L o Malet s 120 rue de la gare 1943 and concluding with Maud Tabachnik s feminist thriller Un t pourri 1994 Gorrara analyses both texts and film in relation to their specific historical and cultural context From the heritage of the Second World War and France's wars of decolonisation to the rise of consumer culture and questions of gender and sexual equality the roman noir operates in dialogue with its times mediating social change and transformation with stories of crime transgression and marginality All the novelists studied were published initially in popular collections such as the Série noire but they have been chosen for the innovation of their work and the exciting ways in which they resist tired conventions and offer new ways of representing social reality One of the first English language studies of this popular genre The Roman Noir in Post War French Culture offers much more than close readings of these fascinating texts it demonstrates the important contribution of the roman noir to the cultural histories of post war France

Vénus Noire Robin Mitchell, 2020-02-15 Even though there were relatively few people of color in postrevolutionary France images of and discussions about black women in particular appeared repeatedly in a variety of French cultural sectors and social milieus In Venus Noire Robin Mitchell shows how these literary and visual depictions of black women helped to shape the country's postrevolutionary national identity particularly in response to the trauma of the French defeat in the Haitian Revolution Venus Noire explores the ramifications of this defeat in examining visual and literary representations of three black women who achieved fame in the years that followed Sarah Baartmann popularly known as the Hottentot Venus represented distorted memories of Haiti in the French imagination and Mitchell shows how her display treatment and representation embodied residual anger harbored by the French Ourika a young Senegalese girl brought to live in France by the Mar ch'al Prince de Beauvau inspired plays poems and clothing and jewelry fads and Mitchell examines how the French appropriated black female identity through these representations while at the same time perpetuating stereotypes of the hypersexual black woman Finally Mitchell shows how demonization of Jeanne Duval longtime lover of the poet Charles Baudelaire expressed France's need to rid itself of black bodies even as images and discourses about these bodies proliferated The stories of these women carefully contextualized by Mitchell and put into dialogue with one another reveal a blind spot about race in French national identity that persists in the postcolonial present Ha! Gordon Sheppard, 2003-10-07 On 15 March 1977 with his wife's consent celebrated writer and former terrorist Hubert Aquin blew his brains out on the grounds of a Montreal convent school Shocked by this self murder a filmmaker friend feels compelled to understand why Aquin killed himself and discovers at the heart of the tragedy an unforgettable love story A documentary fiction a category which includes In Cold Blood and The Executioner's Song HA is a seminal work that reinvents the audio visual revolution of the last century Interweaving photographs documents and images with testimony from Aquin's friends and contemporaries Aquin himself and the writers and artists who influenced him this intriguing novel takes the reader on a Joycean tour of a metropolis in the midst of political and cultural turmoil The BFI Companion to Crime Phil Hardy, 1997-01-01 Robbers gangsters murderers and criminals of every description have long been a staple of popular entertainment Movies are no exception and film buffs and scholars alike now have a complete guide to the vast array of films
