find a way through it that courage is a virtue friendship is strong and light always wins over darkness Lighthouse grows a tribute to the eternal light that lives inside all of us and a constant warning that light can be found if you're brave enough to look for it even when things are at their darkest Chapter 1 the Story Every child in the small village of Lighthouse looked forward to a certain activity In this village smiles were as common as the flowers that grew everywhere As the sun went down the sky would turn orange and pink and they would gather around a roaring fire eyes wide with hope The warm glow of the fire cast swirling shadows behind them making them look even more scared Old people in the town who were wise and wrinkled from age were about to tell stories that had been told for years The kids were especially interested in the story about an old trail that was said to be hidden somewhere near their town People said that this path was cursed by a strong ancient force and wasn't like any other The kids leaned in closer making sure they didn't miss a word as the adults spoke in a respectful but careful way For those brave enough to cross the road it was said that the shadows would be so thick that they would feel like they were alive There were stories about strange sights and sounds as well as mutterings in the dark that told long lost secrets The air around the path was filled with the magic of old spells and only the bravest people were thought to be brave enough to explore its secrets The elders warned that the way was guarded by mysteries as old as the stars themselves illusions that could trick the eyes and puzzles that could twist the mind But there was also the idea that overcoming these problems would lead to amazing achievements The Lighthouse kids were very interested in these stories Their minds were as active as the fires in front of them making clear pictures of the road that was hidden by the darkness They dreamed of going on trips to find this interesting road walking along paths where shadows danced and finding out what the curse meant For kids who were brave enough to listen the story of the old road became a sign of excitement It was dark outside and the Lighthouse children were very brave when the fire was reduced to glowing coals and the stars started to come out They dreamed as they went to sleep that they were heroes in their own stories that they were in myths and that they found the truth behind the strange path The story of the old evil road had a magical effect on the new generation making them dream believe and maybe even go exploring one day
