Life of the Trail 4 Emerson Sanford, Janice Sanford Beck, 2009 Life of the Trail is a fascinating series that guides today's hikers and armchair travelers through the stories of historic routes in the Canadian Rockies When authors Emerson Sanford and Janice Sanford Beck began backpacking together nearly 20 years ago they often wondered whose footsteps they were retracing and how today's trails through the Rockies came to be there In Life of the Trail they share their findings with adventurers and history buffs alike Life of the Trail 4 Historic Hikes in Eastern Jasper National Park includes trails throughout the Jasper area as well as routes outside the national park itself The main routes are fur trade routes Duncan McGillivray's route along the Brazeau river and Poboctan Creek Jacques Cardinal's route from Jasper to the North Saskatchewan River along the South Boundary Trail and over Job Pass and Old Klyne's Trail over Maligne and Cataract Passes and along the Cline River to the Kootenay Plains The fourth is a 20th century route the Skyline Trail

Ethical Adaptation to Climate Change Allen Thompson, Jeremy Bendik-Keymer, 2012-03-09 An analytically precise and theoretically probing exploration of the challenge to our values and virtues posed by climate change Predictions about global climate change have produced both stark scenarios of environmental catastrophe and purportedly pragmatic ideas about adaptation This book takes a different perspective exploring the idea that the challenge of adapting to global climate change is fundamentally an ethical one that it is not simply a matter of adapting our infrastructures and economies to mitigate damage but rather of adapting ourselves to realities of a new global climate The challenge is to restore our conception of humanity to understand human flourishing in new ways in an age in which humanity shapes the basic conditions of the global environment In the face of what we have unintentionally done to Earth's ecology who shall we become The contributors examine ways that new realities will require us to revisit and adjust the practice of ecological restoration the place of ecology in our conception of justice the form and substance of traditional virtues and vices and the organizations scale and underlying metaphors of important institutions Topics discussed include historical fidelity in ecological restoration the application of capability theory to ecology the questionable ethics of geoengineering and the cognitive transformation required if we are to think like a planet Climber's Paradise PearlAnn Reichwein, 2014-08-15 The mountain parks are for all Canadians for all time and their value cannot be measured in terms of how many access roads motels souvenir shops and golf courses we've provided Bob Jordan 1971 The Alpine Club of Canada imagined the Rockies and neighbouring ranges to the west and the north as a climber's paradise Through a century of adventure and advocacy the ACC led the way to mountain pursuits in spectacular regions Historian and mountain studies specialist PearlAnn Reichwein's research is informed by her experiences mountaineering and by her interest in mountain culture She presents a compelling case for understanding wild spaces and human activity within them as parts of a whole A work of invaluable scholarship in the areas of environmental history public policy sport studies recreation and tourism Climber's Paradise will appeal to many non specialists mountaineers environmentalists and travellers across Canada and beyond The Industrial Transformation of political geographies and superseding the historically dominant fur trade Imported southern scientists and sojourning labourers worked the Northwest and its industrial history bears these newcomers imprint This book reveals the history of human impact upon the North It provides a baseline grounded in historical and scientific evidence for measuring subarctic environmental change Liza Piper examines the sustainability of industrial economies the value of resource exploitation in volatile ecosystems and the human consequences of northern environmental change She also addresses northern communities historical resistance to external resource development and their fight for survival in the face of intensifying environmental and economic pressures Being Bertha Fran Genereux, 2017-08-28 The Ekelund family moved to Canada in 1903 and settled in what is now Southern Alberta when Bertha their sixth child was only five years old Growing up in a family that was torn apart by the tragedy of their mother's death Bertha developed an independent and unpredictable approach to life This is the truth is it not she writes to her sister at one point confirming her belief that the truth could be bent at will Smart creative bold and impulsive Bertha spent her life trying to leave her family roots in Alberta only to return with frequently disastrous consequences She was married at seventeen in Medicine Hat Alberta and divorced at twenty seven in San Francisco California only to remarry the same man a few years later This is the love story and the life story of Bertha Marshall Ekelund Ecosystems, Society, and Health Lars K. Parkes, 2015-05-01 The modern world has created complex systems that have interrelated concerns Ecosystems Society and Health presents new perspectives on how the challenges relating to these concerns must be examined not as disparate political narratives but as dynamic transformational stories that demand integrative systems of research analysis practice and action Struggles over healthy watersheds diseases associated with environmental change and public health impacts of unsafe food exemplify the demand for integrated understanding and action Contributors argue that traditional science power politics and linear ideals of public policy are inadequate to address sustainability justice safety and responsibility Drawing from a series of case studies that range from nursing to watershed management to environmental health and risk communication this collection strikes an informed balance between practical lessons and a sophisticated theoretical context with which to interpret them Demonstrating the diverse contextual understanding demanded by today's complex issues Ecosystems Society and Health is a timely resource with guidance for practitioners researchers and educators
