Maps In History:

Maps and History Jeremy Black,2000-01-01 Explores the role development and nature of the atlas and discusses its impact on the presentation of the past A History of the World in Twelve Maps Jerry Brotton,2012-09-06 Jerry Brotton is the presenter of the acclaimed BBC4 series Maps Power Plunder and Possession Here he tells the story of our world through maps Throughout history maps have been fundamental in shaping our view of the world and our place in it But far from being purely scientific objects world maps are unavoidably ideological and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power and authority of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton examines the significance of 12 maps from the mystical representations of ancient history to the satellite derived imagery of today He vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which each of the maps was made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world whether the Jerusalem centred Christian perspective of the 14th century Hereford Mappa Mundi or the Peters projection of the 1970s which aimed to give due weight to the third world Although the way we map our surroundings is once more changing dramatically Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been but that they continue to make arguments and propositions about the world and to recreate shape and mediate our view of it Readers of this book will never look at a map in quite the same way again A History of America in 100 Maps Susan Schulten,2018-09-21 Throughout its history America has been defined through maps Whether made for military strategy or urban reform to encourage settlement or to investigate disease maps invest information with meaning by translating it into visual form They capture what people knew what they thought they knew what they hoped for and what they feared As such they offer unrivaled windows onto the past In this book Susan Schulten uses maps to explore five centuries of American history from the voyages of European discovery to the digital age With stunning visual clarity A History of America in 100 Maps showcases the power of cartography to illuminate and complicate our understanding of the past Gathered primarily from the British Library's incomparable archives and compiled into nine chronological chapters these one hundred full color maps range from the iconic to the unfamiliar Each is discussed in terms of its specific features as well as its larger historical significance in a way that conveys a fresh perspective on the past Some of these maps were made by established cartographers while others were made by unknown individuals such as Cherokee tribal leaders soldiers on the front and the first generation of girls to be formally educated Some were tools of statecraft and diplomacy and others were instruments of social reform or even advertising and entertainment But when considered together they demonstrate the many ways that maps both reflect and influence historical change Audacious in scope and charming in execution this collection of one hundred full color maps offers an imaginative and visually engaging tour of American history that will show readers a new way of navigating their own worlds Great City Maps DK,2016-09-06 Journey back in time and take a walk through the Comparative Map History and “the History of Cartography” Matthew H. Edney,2025-07-10 The apparently centuries old field of the history of cartography was invented after 1950 through incomplete historiographies by leading map historians This monograph uses an empirically grounded analysis of the ways in which early maps have been systematically studied since the early 1800s to offer an innovative account of the practices and institutions of comparative map history in support of Western imperialism and nationalism and of how the field was reconfigured as the core of a newly idealized discipline of the history of cartography Smithsonian - History of the World Map by Map Peter Snow,2018 More than 140
