Mar Morto:

Il Mar Morto e la Pentapoli del Giordano Eugenio Falcucci, 1881 Profumo di fascismo e sali del Mar Morto Vittorio Pavoncello, 2021-01-07 L'autore al centro di quella che dovrebbe essere una tranquilla giornata estiva sulla sua terrazza si trova invece immerso in un repentino quanto drammatico cambiamento climatico. Con l'appressarsi di un misterioso e minaccioso temporale viene rievocata la Shoah e immersa nei contesti attuali di negazionismi sia del clima sia della storia.

Relocating the Sacred Niyi Afolabi, 2022-11-01 Although Brazil is home to the largest African diaspora the religions of its African descendants have often been syncretized and submerged first under the force of colonialism and enslavement and later under the spurious banner of a harmonious national Brazilian character. Relocating the Sacred argues that these religions nevertheless have been preserved and manifested in a strategic corpus of shifting masks and masquerades of Afro-Brazilian identity. Following the re-Africanization process and black consciousness movement of the 1970s to 1990s Afro-Brazilians have questioned racial democracy seeing how its claim to harmony actually dispossesses them of political power. By embracing African deities as a source of creative inspiration and resistance Afro-Brazilians have appropriated syncretism as a means of not only popularizing African culture but also decolonizing themselves from the past shame of slavery. This book maps the role of African heritage in and relocation of the sacred to three sites of Brazilian cultural production: ritual altars, literature, and carnival culture.

Beyond the Line Georg Berkemer, Derek L. Elliot, Ute Fendler, Margret Frenz, Michael Mann, Ineke Phaf-Rheinberger, Sebastian R. Prange, Ana Sobral, Frank Schulze-Engler, 2014-04-23 The title of Beyond the Line refers to the imaginary Line drawn between North and South at a division established by the Peace Treaty of Cateau Cambresis in 1559. This is an early modern time and Eurocentric construction according to which the southern oceanic world has long been taken as symbol of expansionist philosophies and practices. An obvious motivation for changing this Line division is the growing influence of the Global South in the contemporary economic and political setting. However, another motivation for changing opinions in regard to the Line is equally important. We observe an emergent consciousness of the pivotal role of the oceanic world for human life. This requires the reformulation of former views and raises numerous questions. A diversity of connections comes to the mind which demands the composition of a catalogue of case studies with an oceanic horizon. Through this operation different problems are being linked together. Which problems encounter historians with their research on fishes in the archives? How to trace records about pirates of non-European descent in the Indian Ocean? Which role play the Oceans as mediators for labor migrations not only of the Black Atlantic but also of people moving from Asia to Africa and vice versa? What do we know about workers on the oceans and their routes? When considering oceans as contact zones with which criteria can their influence in different literary texts be analyzed? Is it possible to study nationalisms taking into account these transoceanic relationships? And how do artists address these questions in their use of the media? Against the background of this catalogue of oceanic questions old stories are told anew Sometimes their cultural stereotypes are recycled to criticize political and social situations Or in other cases they are adopted for elaborating alternative options In this sense the contributions concentrate on countries like India Kenya Angola or Brazil and cover different academic fields A variety of objects and situations are explored which have been and still are determinant for the construction of cultural narratives in view of the modified relationship with the geographically southern oceanic regions

The Invention of the Brazilian Northeast Durval Muniz de Albuquerque Jr.,2014-10-17 Brazil s Northeast has traditionally been considered one of the country s poorest and most underdeveloped areas In this impassioned work the Brazilian historian Durval Muniz de Albuquerque Jr investigates why Northeasterners are marginalized and stereotyped not only by inhabitants of other parts of Brazil but also by nordestinos themselves His broader question though is how the Northeast came into existence Tracing the history of its invention he finds that the idea of the Northeast was formed in the early twentieth century when elites around Brazil became preoccupied with building a nation Diverse phenomena from drought policies to messianic movements banditry to new regional political blocs helped to consolidate this novel concept the Northeast Politicians intellectuals writers and artists often nordestinos played key roles in making the region cohere as a space of common references and concerns Ultimately Albuquerque urges historians to question received concepts such as regions and regionalism to reveal their artifice and abandon static categories in favor of new more granular understandings
