

The painting 'The Light of Origins' by Marc Chagall is a vibrant, abstract work. On the left, a large, red, goat-like creature with a human face and blue eyes plays a blue violin. Below it is a dense, dark blue and red floral arrangement. To the right, a woman with a red headscarf and a yellow dress holds a large, dark purple bird. In the bottom right corner, a profile of a woman with dark hair is visible. The background is a warm, yellowish-gold with various abstract shapes and lines, including a large, curved line resembling a path or a river. The overall style is characteristic of Chagall's expressionist and cubist influences.

expanded beyond purist abstract modernism to include surrealist nationalist realist and expressionist art Drawing on interviews with Barr's contemporaries as well as on Barr's extensive correspondence Kantor also paints vivid portraits of among others Jere Abbott Katherine Dreier Henry Russell Hitchcock Philip Johnson Lincoln Kirstein Agnes Mongan J B Neumann and Paul Sachs

Marc Chagall Victoria Charles, 2011-07-01 Marc Chagall was born into a strict Jewish family for whom the ban on representations of the human figure had the weight of dogma A failure in the entrance examination for the

Stieglitz School did not stop Chagall from later joining that famous school founded by the Imperial Society for the Encouragement of the Arts and directed by Nicholas Roerich Chagall moved to Paris in 1910 The city was his second Vitebsk At first isolated in the little room on the Impasse du Maine at La Ruche Chagall soon found numerous compatriots also attracted by the prestige of Paris Lipchitz Zadkine Archipenko and Soutine all of whom were to maintain the smell of his native land From his very arrival Chagall wanted to discover everything And to his dazzled eyes painting did indeed reveal itself Even the most attentive and partial observer is at times unable to distinguish the Parisian Chagall from the Vitebskian The artist was not full of contradictions nor was he a split personality but he always remained different he looked around and within himself and at the surrounding world and he used his present thoughts and recollections He had an utterly poetical mode of thought that enabled him to pursue such a complex course Chagall was endowed with a sort of stylistic immunity he enriched himself without destroying anything of his own inner structure Admiring the works of others he studied them ingenuously ridding himself of his youthful awkwardness yet never losing his authenticity for a moment At times Chagall seemed to look at the world through magic crystal overloaded with artistic experimentation of the Ecole de Paris In such cases he would embark on a subtle and serious play with the various discoveries of the turn of the century and turned his prophetic gaze like that of a biblical youth to look at himself ironically and thoughtfully in the mirror Naturally it totally and uneclectically reflected the painterly discoveries of C zanne the delicate inspiration of Modigliani and the complex surface rhythms recalling the experiments of the early Cubists See Portrait at the Easel 1914 Despite the analyses which nowadays illuminate the painter s Judaeo Russian sources inherited or borrowed but always sublime and his formal relationships there is always some share of mystery in Chagall s art The mystery perhaps lies in the very nature of his art in which he uses his experiences and memories Painting truly is life and perhaps life is painting
