and Applause that achieve rave reviews and even go on to win awards but don't recover their negative costs. Then there are the movies the critics hate but the public enjoys. All three versions of Back Street for instance. Finally come the pictures everyone loves like From Here To Eternity or Sunset Boulevard. In the annals of success in Hollywood's Golden Age one name stands out above all others: Cecil B. DeMille. His famous pictures reviewed here include both versions of The Buccaneer, The Crusades, Sign of the Cross, The Story of Dr. Wassell and Union Pacific. But the book also notes a DeMille B movie that tied up a fair amount of money but proved so unpopular it was released in some territories as a support. The book also covers some of Hollywood's other disastrous failures including the M.G.M. movie that cost over 4 million to make and returned virtually nothing.

The Art of Identification Rex Ferguson, Melissa M. Littlefield, James Purdon, 2021-08-13. Since the mid nineteenth century there has been a notable acceleration in the development of the techniques used to confirm identity. From fingerprints to photographs to DNA we have been rapidly amassing novel means of identification even as personal individual identity remains a complex chimera. The Art of Identification examines how such processes are entangled within a wider sphere of cultural identity formation. Against the backdrop of an unstable modernity and the rapid rise and expansion of identificatory techniques this volume makes the case that identity and identification are mutually imbricated and that our best understanding of both concepts and technologies comes through the interdisciplinary analysis of science, bureaucratic infrastructures and cultural artifacts. With contributions from literary critics, cultural historians, scholars of film and new media, a forensic anthropologist and a human bioarcheologist this book reflects upon the relationship between the bureaucratic scientific and technologically determined techniques of identification and the cultural contexts of art, literature and screen media. In doing so it opens the interpretive possibilities surrounding identification and pushes us to think about it as existing within a range of cultural influences that complicate the precise formulation, meaning and reception of the concept. In addition to the editors the contributors to this volume include Dorothy Butchard, Patricia E. Chu, Jonathan Finn, Rebecca Gowland, Liv Hausken, Matt Houlbrook, Rob Lederer, Andrew Mangham, Victoria Stewart and Tim Thompson.

Focus On: 100 Most Popular Male Actors in Hindi Cinema Wikipedia contributors, The 3M Model of Motivation and Personality John C. Mowen, 2013-03-14. Integrating control theory, evolutionary psychology and a hierarchical approach to personality this book presents a new approach to motivation, personality and consumer behavior. Called the 3M which stands for Meta-theoretic Model of Motivation this theory seeks to account for how personality traits interact with the situation to influence consumer attitudes and actions. The book proposes that multiple personality traits combine to form a motivational network that acts to influence behavior. Mowen argues that in order to understand the causes of enduring behavioral tendencies one must identify the more abstract traits underlying surface behaviors. In constructing the 3M model the author reports data from fifteen empirical studies employing over 3500 respondents. In this hierarchical model four types of personality traits are identified: elemental, compound, situational and surface traits. Eight elemental traits are proposed as forming the underlying dimensions of personality Consistent with control theory the research reveals that the elemental traits combine to form compound traits such as self efficacy task orientation playfulness and competitiveness These elemental and compound traits combine with situational influences to cause enduring behavioral tendencies within general situational contexts Examples of situational traits investigated include impulsive buying value consciousness sports interest and health motivation In the 3M model the elemental compound and situational traits combine to yield surface traits which are enduring dispositions to act in specific behavioral contexts Five surface traits are empirically investigated in the book compulsive buying sports participation healthy diet lifestyles proneness to bargaining and a tendency to frugality Across these five studies the empirical results reveal that the 3M model accounts for over 44% of the variance in the surface trait measures By presenting a new meta theory of motivation and personality that is testable Mowen s 3M model accounts for high levels of variance in consumer behavior By integrating the work of selected past and current theorists into a comprehensible whole the 3M model provides coherence in a field currently dominated by conflicting ideas theories and approaches The book provides evidence that by understanding the individual dispositions that underlie consumer behavior public policy officials and marketing specialists can develop better communication programs to influence and persuade their target audiences The book shows how to employ the 3M model to segment the marketplace provide psychographic inventories position brands create promotional themes and develop brand personalities Vitaphone Films Roy
