Nab 1 Portrait Of A Politician:

NAB 1: Portrait of a Politician Gerald Nabarro, 1969 A Bibliography of British History, 1914-1989 Keith Robbins, American Historical Association, Royal Historical Society (Great Britain), 1996 Containing over 25 000 entries this unique volume will be absolutely indispensable for all those with an interest in Britain in the twentieth century Accessibly arranged by theme with helpful introductions to each chapter a huge range of topics is covered There is a comprehensive index The Bookseller, 1969 Vols for 1871 76 1913 14 include an extra number The Christmas bookseller separately paged and not included in the consecutive numbering of the regular series The NUM and British Politics Andrew Taylor, 2017-03-02 From its formation in 1944 the National Union of Mineworkers NUM was one of the most powerful and important players on the British political and industrial stage Whilst the nation relied upon coal for its electricity production domestic heating and railway transportation the miners and their unions would always play a central role in national politics with the ability to cause massive disruption to the nation should they decide to strike as they did in 1972 and 1974 However as the country began to move towards other forms of energy such as oil and gas the power of the mineworkers correspondingly decreased leaving the once mighty union to come to terms with a very different world by the early eighties The NUM and British Politics makes use of union material and party and government archives as well as oral testimony much of it highly confidential to present the first overall account of the evolving nature of the tripartite relationship between the miners the NUM and the state Electing Our Masters Jon Lawrence, 2009-03-26 In this engagingly written history of electioneering in Britain from the eighteenth century to the present Jon Lawrence explores the changing relationship between politicians and public Throughout this period he argues British politics has been characterized by bruising public rituals intended to bestow legitimacy on politicians by obliging them to face an often irreverent public on broadly equal terms Face to face interaction was central both to the disorderly civic rituals of eighteenth century politics and to the Victorian and Edwardian election meeting Perhaps surprisingly it also survived in pretty rude health between the wars despite the emergence of the new mass communication media of radio and cinema But the same cannot be said of the post war era and the rise of television Today most politicians are content merely to offer the semblance of meaningful engagement walkabouts canvassing and meetings are all designed to ensure that most senior politicians come into contact only with the smiling faces of that dwindling band the party faithful Lloyd George and Churchill might have relished the rough and tumble of a tumultuous public meeting but their modern counterparts tend to be more risk averse and not without reason given that the cameras are always present to capture their mishaps But this is not another nostalgic lament for a lost golden age On the contrary Electing Our Masters argues that politicians frequently still crave the kudos to be derived from bruising encounters with an irreverent public hence Tony Blair's so called masochism strategy in the 2005 election campaign with its succession of gruelling sessions before live studio audiences As Lawrence points out the vital question for today is can we persuade our broadcasters that such encounters must form a staple of modern mediated politics Tony Benn Jad Adams,2025-02-13 Jad Adams has worked as a television producer and a Fleet Street newspaper journalist He knew Tony Benn well for the last twenty five years of his life He was the last researcher to have full access to the extensive Benn Archive in Benn s basement office prior to its being given to the British Library Jad s political books include Women and the Vote A World History Gandhi Naked Ambition and The Dynasty The Nehru Gandhi Story His television work has included biographies of Bill and Hillary Clinton the Nehru dynasty and Lord Kitchener He has also specialised in work on the decadent era of the nineteenth century including Decadent Women Yellow Book Lives Madder Music Stronger Wine The Life of Ernest Dowson and Hideous Absinthe A History of the Devil in a Bottle Jad has written two novels Cafe Europa and Choice of Darkness He lives in London and on the Greek island of Leros His website is www.jadadams.co.uk The British General Election of 1970 David Butler,Michael Pinto-Duschinsky,1971-06-18 Exploits of a Politician Sir Gerald Nabarro,1973 Catalog of Copyright Entries.
