Publizistische Kontroversen über den Holocaust im Film Martina Thiele, 2001 Deutsche Nachkriegsliteratur und der Holocaust Stephan Braese, 1998 Realitätskonstruktion Thomas Beutelschmidt, Rüdiger Steinlein, 2004 The Buchenwald Child William John Niven, 2007 At the notorious Buchenwald concentration camp communist prisoners organized resistance against the SS and even planned an uprising They helped rescue a three year old Jewish boy Stefan Jerzy Zweig from certain death in the gas chambers After the war his story became a focus for the German Democratic Republic s celebration of its resistance to the Nazis Now Bill Niven tells the true story of Stefan Zweig what actually happened to him in Buchenwald how he was protected and at what price He explores the mis representation of Zweig s rescue in East Germany and what this reveals about that country s understanding of its Nazi past Finally he looks at the telling of the Zweig rescue story since German unification a story told in the GDR to praise communists has become a story used to condemn them Bill Niven is Professor of Contemporary German History at the Nottingham Trent University UK

The Buchenwald Child Bill Niven, Deutsche Erinnerung Ursula Heukenkamp, 2000 Nackt Unter Wolfen : Roman B. Apitz, 1969 Rescue and Remembrance Kobi Kabalek, 2025-01-07 In Rescue and Remembrance Kobi Kabalek examines how the rescue of Jews during the Holocaust has been understood and represented in Germany from the Nazi period to the present In many regions outside Germany a small number of known Holocaust rescuers are often held up as exemplars of broad pro Jewish sentiment among that country s population during World War II thereby projecting an image of national moral virtue Within Germany by contrast rescuers are often presented in both scholarship and public commemoration as a small minority their examples condemn the majority by showing what Germans could have done but did not do Kabalek argues that such simplistic depictions of the majority versus minority obscure the complex motivations and situations that led people in Nazi Germany to help persecuted Jews Against the view that the rescuers were forgotten after the war he shows that portrayals and interpretations of helping Jews appeared in various media and social discourses in East West and unified Germany and were used to actively debate questions of collective morality Rescue and Remembrance analyzes the varied and changing depictions of rescue in the distinct German polities from the Nazi period examining how the very notions of majority and collective were articulated and reformulated The memory of catastrophe Peter Gray, Kendrick Oliver, 2024-07-30 Investigates the dynamic relationship between experiences of profound social and cultural disruption and human memory Critical comparisons are made across a wide variety of catastrophic experiences and memories not just of war but also of massacre genocide rebellion famine partition shipwreck and fire The book is an accessible showcase for a wide range of methodological approaches to the study of memory including literary studies cultural studies participant observation and historical studies and uses a variety of oral visual and written sources Offers a diverse chronological and geographical range of catastrophic cases from seventeenth century England to the recent conflicts in the former Yugoslavia from Ireland to the Indian sub continent from Mexico to wartime Leningrad Well written and accessible a fascinating read Holocaust Cinema Complete Rich Brownstein, 2021-09-17 Holocaust movies have become an important segment of world cinema and the de facto Holocaust education for many One quarter of all American produced Holocaust related feature films have won or been nominated for at least one Oscar In fact from 1945 through 1991 half of all American Holocaust features were nominated Yet most Holocaust movies have fallen through the cracks and few have been commercially successful This book explores these trends and many others with a comprehensive guide to hundreds of films and made for television movies From Anne Frank to Schindler's List to Jojo Rabbit more than 400 films are examined from a range of perspectives historical chronological thematic sociological geographical and individual The filmmakers are contextualized including Charlie Chaplin Sidney Lumet Steven Spielberg Quentin Tarantino and Roman Polanski Recommendations and reviews of the 50 best Holocaust films are included along with an educational guide a detailed listing of all films covered and a four part index glossary Mapping the Contours of Oppression Owen Evans, 2006-01-01 Despite all the assertions towards the end of the twentieth century that the literary subject had expired along with the author the wave of autobiographies published in German after the Wende was a clear indication that on the contrary life stories were very much alive In this study Owen Evans examines the work of eight authors Ludwig Harig Uwe Saeger Ruth Kluger Gnter de Bruyn Gnter Kunert Christoph Hein Grete Weil and Monika Maron who all published personal texts after 1989 dealing either with life in Nazi Germany or the GDR and in some cases both By means of close textual analysis Evans explores the impact these regimes had on the individuals concerned and the contrasting ways in which the authors handle the autobiographical project They adopt varying textual strategies to render the self on the page with some employing overt fiction and yet in each case the project was clearly motivated by the need to treat psychological wounds inflicted on the self by totalitarianism In their mapping of the contours of oppression the texts at the heart of this study combine to offer a powerful defence of literary autobiography in Germany at least as a valuable means of tackling the legacy of totalitarianism

Screening War Paul Cooke, Marc Silberman, 2010 Re-examines German cinema's representation of the Germans as victims during the Second World War and its aftermath The recent discovery of German wartime suffering has had a particularly profound impact in German visual culture Films from Margarethe von Trotta's Rosenstrasse 2003 to Oliver Hirschbiegel's Oscar nominated Downfall 2004 and the two part television mini series Dresden 2006 have shown how ordinary Germans suffered during and after the war Such films have been presented by critics as treating a topic that had been taboo for German filmmakers However the representation of wartime suffering has a long tradition on the German screen For decades filmmakers have recontextualized images of Germans as victims to engage shifting social and ideological discourses By focusing on this process the present volume explores how the changing representation of Germans as victims has shaped the ways in which both of the postwar German states and the now unified nation have attempted to face the the level of the state to consider the everyday contributions of local institutions and youth mentors responsible for conveying stories and commemorative practices to generations born during WWII and after the defeat of fascism While the government sought to use educators and former resistance fighters as ideological shock troops it could not completely dictate how these stories would be told with memory intermediaries altering at times the narrative and message Using a variety of primary sources including oral history interviews the author also assesses how students viewed antifascism with reactions ranging from strong identification to indifference and dissent Antifascist education and commemoration were never simply state prescribed and were not as participation less as some scholars and contemporary observers claim even as educators fought a losing battle to maintain enthusiasm
