Nafta Stories Fears And Hopes In Mexico And The United States:

NAFTA Stories Ann E. Kingsolver, 2001 Ann Kingsolver presents stories people have told about NAFTA young people and old urban and rural with differing political perspectives occupations and other markers of identity that demonstrate their expectations and imaginations of the sweeping trade agreement NAFTA Kingsolver contends both before and after its passage became a catch all in public discourse for tensions related to neoliberal policies and to economic and cultural processes of globalization The storytellers in her book from Mexico Kentucky and California imagined the meaning and possible effects of regional integration on topics ranging from agriculture to the stereotyping of workers to national sovereignty and identity NAFTA became invested with possibilities far beyond the scope of its literal provisions Kingsolver analyzes the metaphorical meanings attributed to NAFTA whether a giant truck in your rear view mirror in Ralph Nader's words or a panacea for what they tell us about the changing relationship between national governments and their publics She finds that rather than strengthening national authority the passage of NAFTA led to intense public questioning and deep political division

Reflecting on America Clare L. Boulanger, 2017-07-05 Anthropologists travel back in time and across the globe to understand human culture but surprise there is culture right here in the United States This second edition of the best selling textbook and anthology Reflecting on America again focuses on how we can recognize the common cultural thread running through diverse American phenomena from heroin addiction and Big Business's efforts to shape the identities of children to Civil War reenactments and the popularity of burlesque in the Midwest In addition this second edition includes chapters written especially for this volume on striptease Burning Man The Big Bang Theory TV show and Groundhog Phil Written throughout with verve and quirky humor and offering Questions for discussion after every article this book is perfect for undergraduate classes in anthropology and American studies Drawing together twenty two scholars with expertise in anthropological ideas about culture Reflecting on America examines what it means to be American

Out in the Country Mary L. Gray, 2009-08 We've become accustomed to the wisdom of the ancient Greeks being trotted out by conservatives in the name of timeless virtues At the same time critics have charged that multiculturalists and their ilk have hopelessly corrupted the study of antiquity itself and that the teaching of Classics is dead Trojan Horses is Page duBois's answer to those who have appropriated material from antiquity in the service of a conservative political agenda among them Camille Paglia Allan Bloom and William Bennett She challenges cultural conservatives' appeal to the authority of the classics by arguing that their presentation of ancient Greece is simplistic ahistorical and irreparably distorted by their politics As well as constructing a devastating critique of these pundits Trojan Horses seeks to present a more complex and more accurate view of ancient Greek politics sex and religion with a Classics primer She eloquently recounts the tales of Daedalus and Artemis for example conveying their complexity and passion while also unearthing actions and beliefs that do not square so easily with today's family values As duBois writes Like Bennett I think we should study the past but not to find nuggets of eternal wisdom Rather we can comprehend in our history a fuller range of human possibilities of beginnings of error and of difference In these fleet chapters duBois offers readers a view of the ancient Greeks that is more nuanced more subtle more layered and in every way more historical than the portrait other writers of whatever stripe want to popularize and see displayed in our classrooms Sharp timely and engaging Trojan Horses portrays the richness of ancient Greek culture while riding in to rescue the Greeks from the new barbarians

Transnational Blackness M. Marable, 2008-09-29 Black intellectuals in the US have long thought of racism as a global phenomenon This book presents for the first time a full overview of the history critical analysis and theoretical perspectives of key black scholars and activists on the transnational dynamics of modern race and racism throughout the world

Anthropology and Sexual Morality Carles Salazar, 2006 The history of sexual morality in Ireland has been traditionally associated with repression In the last two decades however repression seems to have given way to its exact opposite But where did this repression originate And how can we account for this sudden and sweeping transformation in sexual mores Based on solid ethnographic and historical analysis of sexual morality in rural Ireland augmented by comparative data from Papua New Guinea and being informed by Freud's emblematic concept of repression the author draws new conclusions that not only apply to the specific case of his Irish material but shed new light on the specific nature of an anthropological approach to the study of human societies

Silence Maria-Luisa Achino-Loeb, 2005-12-01 This book is about silence and power and how they interact It argues that only by studying how silence works how it is implicated in the construction of meaning can we arrive at the elusive roots of power in all its dimensions Silence becomes the currency of power by delineating the margins or what we perceive and through a sleight of hand wherein behaviors undertaken in the service of self interest appear instead as inevitable and devoid of human agency The theoretical load of this argument is carried by vivid ethnographic material dealing with music linguistic behavior racial conflicts work dislocations and the construction of anthropological subjects and texts

The Routledge Companion to Contemporary Anthropology Simon Coleman, Susan B. Hyatt, Ann Kingsolver, 2016-11-25 The Routledge Companion to Contemporary Anthropology is an invaluable guide and major reference source for students and scholars alike introducing its readers to key contemporary perspectives and approaches within the field Written by an experienced international team of contributors with an interdisciplinary range of essays this collection provides a powerful overview of the transformations currently affecting anthropology The volume both addresses the concerns of the discipline and comments on its construction through texts classroom interactions engagements with various publics and changing relations with other academic subjects Persuasively demonstrating that a number of key contemporary issues can be usefully analyzed through an anthropological lens the contributors cover important topics such as globalization law and politics collaborative archaeology economics religion citizenship and community health and the environment The Routledge Companion to Contemporary Anthropology is a fascinating examination of this lively and constantly evolving discipline

Eclipse of Dreams Marco Saavedra, Claudia

Muñoz, Mariela Nuñez-Janes, Stephen Pavey, Fidel Castro Rodriguez, Pedro Santiago Martinez, 2020-05-05 After the DREAM Act failed many young undocumented activists understood that pinning their hopes on a piece of legislation had been a bad idea They also saw that the DREAM Act would have fragmented communities families and social movements because it designated only a subset of immigrants as worthy of assimilation and its rewards while others who often lived under the same roof would be further criminalized Eclipse of Dreams creatively tells the stories of a new generation of young people awakened Dreamers who see the injustice built into the American dream Using a collective writing process as well as testimonials photography poetry and art this book is an invitation to reconsider the myths we tell ourselves in order to find another way forward for migrant justice and human dignity one that might allow us all to recover our global humanity From direct action to the infiltration of immigrant detention centers these youth are leading a movement for human liberation

Breathing Spaces Nancy N. Chen, 2003 The charismatic form of healing called qigong based on meditative breathing exercises has achieved enormous popularity in China during the last two decades Qigong served a critical social organizational function as practitioners formed new informal networks sometimes on an international scale at a time when China was shifting from state subsidized medical care to for profit market medicine The emergence of new psychological states deemed to be deviant led the Chinese state to medicalize certain forms while championing scientific versions of qigong By contrast qigong continues to be promoted outside China as a traditional healing practice Breathing Spaces brings to life the narratives of numerous practitioners healers psychiatric patients doctors and bureaucrats revealing the varied and often dramatic ways they cope with market reform and social changes in China Global Mountain Regions Ann

Kingsolver, Sasikumar Balasundaram, 2018-09-01 No matter where they are located in the world communities living in mountain regions have shared experiences defined in large part by contradictions These communities often face social and economic marginalization despite providing the lumber coal minerals tea and tobacco that have fueled the growth of nations for centuries They are perceived as remote and socially inferior backwaters on one hand while simultaneously seen as culturally rich and spiritually sacred spaces on the other These contradictions become even more fraught as environmental changes and political strains place added pressure on these mountain communities Shifting national borders and changes to watersheds forests and natural resources play an increasingly important role as nations respond to the needs of a global economy The works in this volume consider multiple nations languages generations and religions in their exploration of upland communities responses to the unique challenges and opportunities they share From paintings to digital mapping environmental studies to poetry land reclamation efforts to song lyrics the collection provides a truly interdisciplinary and global study The editors and authors offer a cross cultural exploration of the many strategies that mountain communities are employing to face the concerns of the future
