so alienated from the mainstream Many contributors are writers academics or activists from the Northeast but there are many are like the editor outsiders But outsiders who share a passion for the region and an intense desire to see change to see peace Published by Zubaan Women and Social Reform in Modern India Sumit Sarkar,Tanika Sarkar,2008 An impressive collection of writings on women s issues in Indian history Constructing the Divine G. Kanato Chophy,2019-01-14 From being characterized as primitive tribe in the colonial imagination to become predominantly practitioners of the American Baptist faith the Sumi Naga formerly known as the Sema Naga in the North East Indian state of Nagaland have come a long way ever since this Naga tribe encountered the white man toward the latter half of the nineteenth century This book in a way chronicles the transition of Sumi society from the period of colonial contact up to the present day context A critical understanding of Sumi society and culture is at the heart of the narrative and the analysis of Sumi religion and world view remains the main thrust of this book It is argued that the Sumi who are overwhelmingly Baptists are faced with new religious issues which has brought about not only schismatic divisions but also rendering ebullience to religious life and that a new discourse has emerged in Sumi religion The author positions himself as an insider and in doing so has given a reflexive account of Sumi religious life meanwhile substantiating the arguments and findings in the light of contemporary theoretical developments The volume brings out compelling evidence that religion significantly shapes the daily life of the Sumi It offers a detailed ethnographic study of Sumi religion and world view as the Sumi Naga was seldom studied in depth in the post Independence period Please note Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India Pakistan Nepal Bhutan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka A Genealogy of Government in Nagaland Robert Thomas Pollock,2000 Monumentalising Life in the Neolithic Anne Birgitte Gebaer,Lasse Sørensen,Anne Teather,António Carlos Valera,2020-09-30 One of the principal characteristics of the European Neolithic is the development of monumentality in association with innovations in material culture and changes in subsistence from hunting and gathering to farming and pastoralism The papers in this volume discuss the latest insights into why monumental architecture became an integral part of early farming societies in Europe and beyond One of the topics is how we define monuments and how our arguments and recent research on temporality impacts on our interpretation of the Neolithic period Different interpretations of G bekli Tepe are examples of this discussion as well as our understanding of special landmarks such as flint mines The latest evidence on the economic and paleoenvironmental context carbon 14 dates as well as analytical methods are employed in illuminating the emergence of monumentalism in Neolithic Europe Studies are taking place on a macro and micro scale in areas as diverse as Great Britain Denmark Sweden Poland Germany the Dutch wetlands Portugal and Malta involving a range of monuments from long barrows and megalithic tombs to roundels and enclosures Transformation from a natural to a built environment by monumentalizing part of the landscape is discussed as well as changes in megalithic architecture in relation to shifts in the social structure An ethnographic study of megaliths in Nagaland discuss monument building as an act of social construction

Other studies look into the role of monuments as expressions of cosmology and active loci of ceremonial performances. Also a couple of papers analyse the social processes in the transformation of society in the aftermath of the initial boom in monument construction and the related changes in subsistence and social structure in northern Europe. The aim of the publication is to explore different theories about the relationship between monumentality and the Neolithic way of life through these studies encompassing a wide range of types of monuments over vast areas of Europe and beyond. Tattoo Histories Sinah Theres Kloß, 2019-11-25. Tattoo Histories is an edited volume which analyses and discusses the relevance of tattooing in the socio-cultural construction of bodies, boundaries and identities among both individuals and groups. Its interdisciplinary approach facilitates historical as well as contemporary perspectives. Rather than presenting a universal essentialized history of tattooing, the volume's objective is to focus on the entangled and transcultural histories, narratives and practices related to tattoos. Contributions stem from various fields including Archaeology, Art History, Classics, History, Linguistics, Media and Literary Studies, Social and Cultural Anthropology and Sociology. They advance the current endeavour on the part of tattoo scholars to challenge Eurocentric and North American biases prevalent in much of tattoo research by including various analyses based in locations such as Malaysia, Israel, East Africa and India. The thematic focus is on the transformative capacity of tattoos and tattooing with regard to the social construction of bodies and subjectivity, the recreation of social relationships through the definition of non-tattooed others, the formation and consolidation of group identities, traditions and authenticity and the conceptualization of art and its relevance to tattoo artist-tattooee relations.

Socio-cultural History of Shüpfomei Naga Tribe William Nepuni, 2010. Agency and Knowledge in Northeast India Michael Heneise, 2018-08-06. The Nagas of Northeast India give great importance to dreams as sources of divine knowledge, especially knowledge about the future. Although British colonialism, Christian missions and political conflict have resulted in sweeping cultural and political transformations in the Indo-Myanmar borderlands, dream sharing and interpretation remain important avenues for negotiating everyday uncertainty and unpredictability. This book explores the relationship between dreams and agency through ethnographic fieldwork among the Angami Nagas. It tackles questions such as: What is dreaming? What does it mean to say 'I had a dream'? And how do night-time dreams relate to political and social actions in waking moments? Michael Heneise shows how the Angami glean knowledge from signs, gain insight from ancestors and potentially obtain divine blessing. Advancing the notion that dreams and dreaming can be studied as indices of relational, devotional and political subjectivities, the author demonstrates that their examination can illuminate the ways in which, as forms of authoritative knowledge, they influence daily life and also how they figure in the negotiation of day-to-day domestic and public interactions. Moreover, dream narration itself can involve techniques of interference in which the dreamer seeks to limit or encourage the powerful influence of social others encountered in dreams such as ancestors, spirits or the divine. Based on extensive ethnographic research, this book advances research on dreams by conceptualising how the social encompasses the broader co extensive set of relations and experiences especially with spirit entities reflected in the ethnography of dreams It will be of interest to those studying Northeast India indigenous religion and culture indigenous cosmopolitics in tribal India more generally and the anthropology of dreams and dreaming Among the Headhunters Robert Lyman, 2016-06-07
