Nakuru The Lake Of A Million Flamingos:

Nakuru Charles A. Vaucher, 1973 The Greater Flamingo Alan Johnson, Frank Cézilly, 2009-01-01 With their curious feeding behaviour peculiar elongated body gregarious social lives and exotic pink plumage flamingos are among the most familiar and popular of all the world's birds. They have inspired artists, poets and amateur naturalists for centuries but until 50 years ago very little was known about their biology. A growing number of scientists have directed their attention to these magnificent birds over recent years. This book summarises current understanding of flamingo biology with detailed discussion of population dynamics, ecology, movements, feeding, breeding biology and conservation, with emphasis placed on the author's work on the famous population of Greater Flamingos in the Camargue region of southern France. There is also a detailed guide to breeding areas and an outline of future challenges for research. Conservation of the Lesser Flamingo in Eastern Africa and Beyond, 1997 The Mystery of the Flamingos Leslie Brown, 1973 State of the Wild 2008-2009 Wildlife Conservation Society (New York, N.Y.), 2008-03-30 Presents a collection of essays that profile a variety of major emerging issues concerning wildlife conservation and climate change. Details the effects of politics on conservation efforts and wildlife trade and outlines the current state of ecological systems worldwide. East African Ecosystems and Their Conservation T. R. McClanahan, T. P. Young, 1996 East Africa is one of the most diverse and interesting tropical areas on the planet. It is home not only to the last great megafaunal assemblage but also to human populations with the highest growth rates. This book draws on the expertise of leading ecologists, each intimately familiar with a particular set of East African ecosystems, to provide the first in-depth and integrated account of the ecology, management, threats and conservation of these diverse ecosystems. Summarizing the tremendous wealth of scientific research that has come out of East Africa in the last few decades, each chapter analyses a given ecosystem type, taking the reader through the basics of its ecology, its historical use and misuse by humans, and its prospects for conservation. Throughout the book, linkages and similarities among ecosystems are emphasized; the historical and contemporary role of humans in shaping these ecosystems is considered; fundamental principles of ecology are considered; and interesting case studies are highlighted. Students and researchers in ecology, conservation biology and environmental sciences will find this book useful in their work. Flights Against the Sunset Kenn Kaufman, 2018-09-01 True-life essays that show how a son's connection with birds helped him reconnect with his mother. From the ornithologist and author of Kingbird Highway, at age sixteen Kenn Kaufman left home to travel the world in search of birds. Now a grown man and a renowned ornithologist, he has come back to visit his ailing mother and explain to her what drove his obsession with bird life. His explanation forms a series of interlocking tales from the frontier where the world of birds intersects with the world of the humans who pursue them. The stories range over settings from Alaska to Africa, from trackless jungles to parking lots. They delve into subjects from first dates to last rites, from imagination and desire to sleep deprivation, from poignant encounters with eternal mysteries to comical brushes with biker gangs and secret agents. But as the stories unfold the ornithologist comes to realize that he can still learn some things about life and even about the meaning of birds from his mother

Flights Against the Sunset brings together nineteen essays mostly adapted from Kaufman's long running column in Bird Watcher's Digest. They weave an original story that examines how we communicate about our passions with those who do not share the same interests and how to celebrate the world of infinite possibilities and wonder. A skilled storyteller. The stories presented here are uniformly captivating and entertaining but there is also deep insight into birds, people and life.

The Birder's Library Foods of Kenya Barbara Sheen, 2010-04-02 One of the most popular dishes of Kenya is Nayama Choma. It is served with vegetables for a perfect meal. Shared Waters, Shared Opportunities Bernard Calas, Mumma Martinon, 2010-10-25 The importance of watercourses to human life and development cannot be overemphasised. From communication, trade, agriculture and the location of human settlements, they have played an immeasurable role. Almost 60% of Africa lies within shared rivers and lake basins. The Nile is shared by more than seven nations, the Zambezi by six and the Congo by nine. With populations on the rise, many countries have been labeled water scarce nations and in fifteen years it is predicted that many people on earth will be exposed to water shortage consequences such as famine and disease. Thirteen African nations already suffer water stress and soon another twelve will join the list unless something is done to thwart the problem.

On March 20, 2009, in Nairobi, Hekima College collaborated with Jesuit Hakimani Centre and the French Institute for Research in Africa (IFRA) to host the Hekima College Water Day Academic Seminar with the theme Shared Waters, Shared Opportunities. This book is the result of critical research and presentations by internationally renowned scholars, researchers and experts and students of the Institute of Peace Studies and International Relations, Hekima College.

For most of 2009, Kenya suffered severe problems caused by flooding, which took many lives and destroyed homes and important infrastructures. It highlighted the issues of water management and water conflicts not only in Kenya but in other parts of East Africa as it was made abundantly clear that not only scarcity of water but excess water incorrectly managed can be disastrous. This timely scholarly book presents discussions of the issues which underlie the major water crises in the region. They open the debate into the water problems of Kenya and East Africa in an effort to join the global campaign to find solutions to these difficulties.

Quaternary Carbonate and Evaporite Sedimentary Facies and Their Ancient Analogues Christopher G. St. C. Kendall, Abdulrahman S. Alsharhan, 2011-02-18 This book is part of the International Association of Sedimentologists (IAS) Special Publications. The Special Publications from the IAS are a set of thematic volumes edited by specialists on subjects of central interest to sedimentologists. Papers are reviewed and printed to the same high standards as those published in the journal Sedimentology and several of these volumes have become standard works of reference This volume commemorates the eclectic research of Douglas James Shearman into evaporites which was initiated by his studies of the prograding UAE coastal sabkhas or salt flats that incorporate evaporite minerals which displace and replace earlier carbonate sediments His subsequent proselytization of the study of ancient evaporites in sedimentary sections all over the world led to fundamental advances in our understanding of arid zone carbonate sedimentology The papers presented here are based on presentations made in Abu Dhabi UAE 12 14th October 2004 and 7th 8th November 2006 They provide a retrospective from the 1960 s and 70 s of Holocene evaporites and carbonates recapturing Shearman s contribution by revisiting the Holocene coastal evaporite and carbonate sediments of the Arabian Persian Gulf from Abu Dhabi Qatar and Oman The first set of papers considers these sediments from the perspective of their coastal geomorphology sedimentary character and their geochemistry Later papers examine the significance of these settings in the ancient geological section world wide including examples from the Mesozoic Cenozoic of the Moroccan Atlantic margin and the Upper Jurassic Arab Formation of the Arabian Gulf
