studies in ways that are concerned primarily with Bowen's perception of writing and narrative. Moves away from perceptions of Bowen's writing tied to existing ideological categories such as viewing her work through a lens of psychoanalysis, modernism or Irish or British history and which emphasise Bowen's innovation not as central to our understanding of the changes happening in twentieth century literature and history but as instead a point of difficulty. Recognises Bowen's innovation, experimentation and her impact on her contemporaries and literary descendants. From experiments in language and identity to innovations in the novel, the short story and life narratives, the contributors discuss the way in which Bowen's work straddles, informs and defies the existing definitions of modernist and postmodernist literature which dominate twentieth century writing. The eleven chapters present new scholarship on Bowen's inventiveness and unique writing style and attachment to objects covering topics such as queer adolescents, housekeeping, female fetishism, habit and new technologies such as the telephone.
