The Completion of Judges David J. H. Beldman, 2017-05-08 The last five chapters of the book of Judges chs 17 21 contain some shocking and bizarre stories and precisely how these stories relate to the rest of the book is a major question in scholarship on the book Leveraging work from literary studies and hermeneutics Beldman reexamines Judges 17 21 with the aim of discerning the strategies of ending that are at work in these chapters The author identifies and describes a number of strategies of ending in Judges 17 21 including the strategy of completion the strategy of circularity and the strategy of entrapment The temporal configuration of Judges and especially the nonlinear chronology that chapters 17 21 expose also receive due attention All of this offers fresh insights into the place and function of Judges 17 21 in the context of the whole book

The Temporal Mechanics of the Fourth Gospel Douglas Charles Estes, 2008-03-31 Spiritual but broken theological but flawed these are the words critics use to describe the Gospel of John Compared to the Synoptics John's version of the life of Jesus seems scrambled especially in the area of time and chronology But what if John's textual and temporal flaws have more to do with our implicit assumptions about time than a text that is truly flawed This book responds to that question by reinventing narrative temporality in light of modern physics and applying this alternative temporal lens to the Fourth Gospel From the singularity in the epic prologue to the narrative warping of event like objects this work explodes the elemental temporalities simmering below the surface of a spiritual yet superior Gospel text

Point of View, Perspective, and Focalization Peter Hühn, Wolf Schmid, Jörg Schöner, 2009 Stories do not actually exist in the world but are created and structured modeled through the process of mediation i e through the means and techniques by which they are represented This is an important field not only for narratology but a

Memory, Metaphors, and Meaning Nicolae Babuts, 2017-07-05

Literature explores the human condition the mystery of the world life and death as well as our relations with others and our desires and dreams It differs from science in its aims and methods but Babuts shows in other respects that literature has much common ground with science Both aim for an authentic version of truth To this end literature employs metaphors and it does so in a manner similar to that of scientific inquiry The cognitive view does not imply that there is a one to one correlation between the world and text that meaning belongs to the author or that literature is equivalent to perception What it does maintain is that meaning is crucially dependent on mnemonic initiatives and that without memory the world remains meaningless Nicolae Babuts claims that at the interface with the printed page readers process texts in a manner similar to the way they explain the visible world in segments or units of meaning or dynamic patterns Babuts argues that humans achieve recognition by integrating stimulus sequences with corresponding patterns that recognize and interpret each segment of a text Memory produces meaning from these patterns In harmony with its goals memory may adopt specific strategies to deal with different stimuli Dynamic patterns link the unit of processing with the unit of meaning In sum Babuts proposes that meaning is achieved through metaphors and narrative and that both are ways to reach cognitive goals This original study offers perspectives that will interest cognitive psychologists as well as those simply interested in the process through which literature stirs the human imagination

Science and Affect in Contemporary Literature Shannon Lambert, 2024-11-14 Moving from the micro world of quantum physics to the macro scales of earth science and ecology this book considers how in contemporary literature affective experiences like desire suffering anxiety and joy shape scientific persons practices and products This book brings into dialogue close readings of scientific writing and contemporary literary works by authors like Jeanette Winterson Richard Powers Hanya Yanagihara Thalia Field and Jenny Offill Combining narrative and affect studies it uses formal strategies such as moving metaphor visceral or affective description plot level analogy contraction and rhythm to engage with western scientific epistemologies which still tends towards the impassive universal and objective While each chapter focuses on a different field or fields of science all foreground bodies human and nonhuman as a way of exploring knowledge production Through close readings the book argues that select scientific stories raise important questions about how knowledge is defined and who and what is invited into its processes of production

Sorlin, 2019-12-12 This book focuses on how readers can be manipulated during their experience of reading fictional texts and how they are incited to perceive process and interpret certain textual patterns Offering fine grained stylistic analysis of diverse genres including crime fiction short stories poetry and novels the book deciphers various linguistic pragmatic and multimodal techniques These are skilfully used by authors to achieve specific effects through a subtle manipulation of deixis metalepsis dialogue metaphors endings inferences or rhetorical narratorial and typographical control Exploring contemporary texts such as The French Lieutenant's Woman The Remains of the Day and We Need to Talk About Kevin chapters delve into how readers are pragmatically positioned or cognitively mis directed as the author guides their attention and influences their judgment They also show how readers responses can conversely bring about a certain form of manipulation as readers challenge the positions the texts invite them to occupy David's Capacity for Compassion

Barbara Green, 2017-04-20 In this book Barbara Green demonstrates how David is shown and can be read as emerging from a young naive whose early successes grow into a tendency for actions of contempt and arrogance of blindness and even cruelty particularly in matters of cult However Green also shows that over time David moves closer to the demeanor and actions of wise compassion more closely aligned with God Leaving aside questions of historicity as basically undecidable Green's focus in her approach to the material is on contemporary literature Green reads the David story in order applying seven specific tools which she names describes and exemplifies as she interprets the text She also uses relevant hermeneutical theory specifically a bridge between general hermeneutics and the specific challenges of the individual and socially located reader As a result Green argues that characters in the David narrative can proffer occasions for insight wisdom and compassion Acknowledging the unlikelihood that characters like David and his peers steeped in patriarchy and power can be shown to learn and extend wise compassion Green is careful to make explicit her reading strategies and offer space for dialogue and disagreement A Companion to Greek Tragedy Justina Gregory, 2008-04-15 The Blackwell Companion to Greek Tragedy provides readers with a fundamental grounding in Greek tragedy and also introduces them to the various methodologies and the lively critical dialogue that characterize the study of Greek tragedy today Comprises 31 original essays by an international cast of contributors including up and coming as well as distinguished senior scholars Pays attention to socio

In recent years the study of unnatural narratives has become an exciting new but still disparate research program in narrative theory For the first time this collection of essays presents and discusses the new analytical tools that have so far been developed on the basis of unnatural novels short stories and plays and extends these findings through analyses of testimonies comics graphic novels films and oral narratives Many narratives do not only mimetically reproduce the world as we know it but confront us with strange narrative worlds which rely on principles that have very little to do with the actual world around us The essays in this collection develop new narratological tools and modeling systems which are designed to capture the strangeness and extravagance of such anti realist narratives Taken together the essays offer a systematic investigation of anti mimetic techniques and strategies that relate to different narrative parameters different media and different periods within literary history Reading Contingency David Wylot, 2019-11-25

Making Time Carolin Gebauer, 2021-04-19 2023

Perkins Prize of the International Society for the Study of Narrative ESSE Book Award for Junior Scholars for a book in the field of Literatures in the English Language Responding to the current surge in present tense novels Making Time is an innovative contribution to narratological research on present tense usage in narrative fiction Breaking with the tradition of conceptualizing the present tense purely as a deictic category denoting synchronicity between a narrative event and its presentation the study redefines present tense narration as a fully fledged narrative strategy whose functional potential far exceeds temporal relations between story and discourse The first part of the volume presents numerous analytical categories that systematically describe the formal structural functional and syntactic dimensions of present tense usage in narrative fiction These categories are then deployed to investigate the uses and functions of present tense narration in selected twenty first century novels including Hilary Mantel's Wolf Hall Margaret Atwood's Oryx and Crake Ian McEwan's Nutshell and Irvine Welsh's Skagboys The seven case studies serve to illustrate the ubiquity of present tense narration in contemporary fiction ranging from the historical novel to the thriller and to investigate the various ways in which the present tense contributes to narrative worldmaking

Shifting Stones, Shaping the Past Catherine Becker, 2015 In a wide ranging exploration of the creation and use of Buddhist art in Andhra Pradesh India from the second and third centuries of the Common Era to the present Catherine Becker shows how material remains and visual experiences shape and reveal essential human concerns Shifting Stones Shaping the Past begins with an analysis of the ornamentation of Andhra's ancient Buddhist sites such as the lavish limestone reliefs depicting scenes of devotion and lively narratives on the main stupa at Amaravati As many such monuments have fallen into disrepair it is tempting to view them as ruins however through an examination of recent state sponsored tourism campaigns and new devotional activities at the sites Becker shows that the monuments are in active use and even ascribed innate power and agency Becker finds intriguing parallels between the significance of imagery in ancient times and the new social political and religious roles of these objects and spaces While the precise functions expected of these monuments have shifted the belief that they have the ability to effect spiritual and mental transformation has remained consistent Becker argues that the efficacy of Buddhist art relies on the careful attention of its makers to the formal properties of art and to the harnessing of the imaginative potential of the human senses In this respect Buddhist art mirrors the teaching techniques attributed to the Buddha who often engaged his pupils desires and emotions as tools for spiritual progress

Pronouns in Literature Alison Gibbons, Andrea Macrae, 2018-01-04 This edited collection brings together an international interdisciplinary group of scholars who together offer cutting edge insights into the complex roles functions and effects of pronouns in literary texts The book engages with a range of text types including poetry drama and prose from different periods and regions in English and in translation Beginning with analyses of the first person pronoun it moves onto studies of the subject dynamics of first and second person before considering plural modes of narration and how pronoun use can help to disperse narrative perspective The volume then debates the functional constraints of pronouns in fictional contexts and finally reflects upon the theoretical advancements presented in the collection This innovative volume will appeal to students and scholars of linguistics stylistics and cognitive poetics narratology theoretical and applied linguistics psychology and literary criticism

Narrative Theory Kent Puckett, 2016-11-07 Kent Puckett's Narrative Theory A Critical Introduction provides an account of a methodology increasingly central to literary studies film studies history psychology and beyond In addition to introducing readers to some of the field's major figures and their ideas Puckett situates critical and philosophical approaches towards narrative within a longer intellectual history The book reveals one of narrative theory's founding claims that narratives need to be understood in terms of a formal relation between story and discourse between what they narrate and how they narrate it both as a necessary methodological distinction and as a problem characteristic of modern thought Puckett thus shows that narrative theory is not only a powerful descriptive system but also a complex and sometimes ironic form of critique Narrative Theory offers readers an introduction to the field's key figures methods and ideas and it also reveals that field as unexpectedly central to the history of ideas

A Theory of Narrative Alojzija Zupan Sosič, 2022-09-08 Relying on the structure and methodology of classical and postclassical narratology this
