Narrative Of The Life Of Frederick Douglass Approaches To Teaching World Literature Hardcover:

A Political Companion to Frederick Douglass Neil Roberts, 2018-06-29 A splendid opportunity to rethink Douglass's political thought relevant today given the discourse of white nationalism in the United States. Choice. Frederick Douglass was a writer and public speaker whose impact on America has been long studied by historians and literary critics. Yet as political theorists have focused on the legacies of such notables as W. E. B. Du Bois and Booker T. Washington, Douglass's profound influence on Afro-modern and American political thought has often been undervalued. In an effort to fill this gap in the scholarship on Douglass, editor Neil Roberts and an exciting group of established and rising scholars examine the author's autobiographies, essays, speeches, and novella. Together they illuminate his genius for analyzing and articulating core American ideals such as independence, liberation, individualism, and freedom, particularly in the context of slavery. The contributors explore Douglass's understanding of the self-made American and the way in which he expanded the notion of individual potential by arguing that citizens had a responsibility to improve not only their own situations but also those of their communities. A Political Companion to Frederick Douglass also considers the idea of agency, investigating Douglass's passionate insistence that every person in a democracy, even a slave, possesses an innate ability to act. Various essays illuminate Douglass's complex racial politics, deconstructing what seems at first to be his surprising aversion to racial pride, and others explore and critique concepts of masculinity, gender, and judgment in his oeuvre. The volume concludes with a discussion of Douglass's contributions to pre- and post-Civil War jurisprudence. Rich insights from scholarship, both old and new. A fine collection. Political Theory Approaches to Teaching Jacobs's Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl Lynn Domina, 2024-07-13 One of the most commonly taught slave narratives, Harriet Jacobs's Incidents in the Life of a Slave Girl is rightly celebrated for its progressive and distinctive appeals to dismantle the dehumanizing system of American slavery. Depicting the abuse Jacobs experienced, her years in hiding, and her escape to the North, the work evokes sympathy for Jacobs as a woman and a mother. Today it continues to inform readers about gender and sexuality, power and justice, and Black identity in the United States. Part 1 of this volume, Materials, discusses different editions of the work and suggests background readings. The essays in part 2, Approaches, explore Jacobs's literary techniques and influences, drawing on autobiography, theory, medical humanities, and theology among other perspectives. Contributors also propose pairings with historical and recent literary works as well as teaching approaches involving visual arts, geography, archives, digital humanities, and service learning. Decolonizing EFL Writing Education Shizhou Yang, 2025-01-15 Arguably the first book-length exploration of decolonizing English as a Foreign Language (EFL) writing education, this novel volume uses poetic autoethnography to provide a situated, dynamic, and complex view of multilingual writers through their second language (L2) academic writing and creative writing. Responding to contemporary calls to decolonize L2 writing as a field and diversify academic writing for multilingual students, this book is the first of its kind to explore the decolonization of EFL writing education from a Global Southern context Chapters critically and creatively consider issues of educational technologies translanguage academic writing epistemology and pedagogy from two writing courses from a Global South and classroom writing ecology perspective Using poetic autoethnography alongside data from authentic writing classrooms in Thailand the book posits that emergent translanguage literature can be cultivated for decolonization purposes critiquing and providing decolonial options in such areas as monolingual ideology freewriting student identity and mind Empowering EFL writing teachers to raise students critical awareness of issues such as writing culture and coloniality this book will be of key interest to researchers scholars and postgraduate students in the fields of applied linguistics Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages TESOL L2 writing multilingual education and language policy and planning

A Genealogy of Literary Multiculturalism

Christopher Douglas, 2011-08-15 As an anthropology student studying with Franz Boas Zora Neale Hurston recorded African American folklore in rural central Florida studied hoodoo in New Orleans and voodoo in Haiti talked with the last ex slave to survive the Middle Passage and collected music from Jamaica Her ethnographic work would serve as the basis for her novels and other writings in which she shaped a vision of African American Southern rural folk culture articulated through an antiracist concept of culture championed by Boas culture as plural relative and long lived Meanwhile a very different antiracist model of culture learned from Robert Park's sociology allowed Richard Wright to imagine African American culture in terms of severed traditions marginal consciousness and generation gaps In A Genealogy of Literary Multiculturalism Christopher Douglas uncovers the largely unacknowledged role played by ideas from sociology and anthropology in nourishing the politics and forms of minority writers from diverse backgrounds Douglas divides the history of multicultural writing in the United States into three periods The first which spans the 1920s and 1930s features minority writers such as Hurston and D Arcy McNickle who were indebted to the work of Boas and his attempts to detach culture from race The second period from 1940 to the mid 1960s was a time of assimilation and integration as seen in the work of authors such as Richard Wright Jade Snow Wong John Okada and Ralph Ellison who were influenced by currents in sociological thought The third period focuses on the writers we associate with contemporary literary multiculturalism including Toni Morrison N Scott Momaday Frank Chin Ishmael Reed and Gloria Anzaldua Douglas shows that these more recent writers advocated a literary nationalism that was based on a modified Boasian anthropology and that laid the pluralist grounds for our current conception of literary multiculturalism Ultimately Douglas's unified field theory of multicultural literature brings together divergent African American Asian American Mexican American and Native American literary traditions into one story of how we moved from thinking about groups as races to thinking about groups as cultures and then back again

Black Males and Racism
Terence D. Fitzgerald, 2015-10-23 Behind the twenty first century curtain of colorblind public sentiment lies an often ignored reality shared by many African American males racism continues to thrive and often drastically affects their lives Fitzgerald draws on his extensive interviews of black males to reveal the experiences of racism that continue in public schools and in American higher education Using empirical data and the methods of sociological research Fitzgerald analyzes how the persistent effects of white supremacy in education have threatened the psychological and economic welfare of black males The effects often last well into adulthood Unraveling the subtle and overt mechanisms of institutional social control leads Fitzgerald to proposals to reduce structural racism and improve the lives of African American youth Ethics for Peacebuilders Reina C. Neufeldt, 2016-08-09 This book provides guidance for structuring ethical reflection as well as analytical tools to get to the heart of issues quickly It is designed to help practitioners engage ethically in applied peacebuilding and conflict transformation and to help students aspiring to be peacebuilders think about ethics It discusses ethics and morality significant barriers to ethical deliberations in applied work moral theories creative problem solving for situations when moral values conflict and the need for healthy ethical organizations Throughout concrete examples scenarios and discussion questions help draw out key issues to improve peacebuilding practices Detailed case studies include peacebuilding initiatives in East Timor Afghanistan Sierra Leone and more Written by an experienced practitioner the book will help identify and analyze ethical problems and resolve moral value conflicts to create healthy practices It will provide valuable guidance for thinking ethically about peacebuilding work and handling the specific dilemmas related to it El-Hi Textbooks & Serials in Print, 2005 ,2005 The American Negro Blackbelt Marengo Writings LLC, 2024-05-17 The American Negro Disrupt Misdirect and Discredit examines the fact that though there were three groups present at the foundation of the United States Native Americans ethnic Europeans and Negroes there is no narrative regarding the uniqueness of the Negro experience as it involves this group s contribution to the fulfillment of the American Experiment Also there is no reverence to the exceptional unique burdens the Negro had to encounter once cast among those who felt they freed them The author of The American Negro attempts to discuss the actuality of the trauma that led to the destruction of the Negro community It is the author s attempt to provide the insight of the transition from slavery to re enslavement to marginalization El-Hi Textbooks in Print ,1980 What Should Schools Teach? Alka Sehgal Cuthbert ,Alex Standis, 2021-01-07 The design of school curriculums involves deep thought about the nature of knowledge and its value to learners and society It is a serious responsibility that raises a number of questions What is knowledge for What knowledge is important for children to learn How do we decide what knowledge matters in each school subject And how far should the knowledge we teach in school be related to academic disciplinary knowledge These and many other questions are taken up in What Should Schools Teach The blurring of distinctions between pedagogy and curriculum and between experience and knowledge has served up a confusing message for teachers about the part that each plays in the education of children Schools teach through subjects but there is little consensus about what constitutes a subject and what they are for This book aims to dispel confusion through a robust rationale for what schools should teach that offers key understanding to teachers of the relationship between knowledge what to teach and their own pedagogy how to teach and how both need to be informed by values of intellectual freedom and autonomy This second edition includes new chapters on Chemistry Drama Music and Religious Education and an updated chapter on Biology A revised introduction reflects on emerging discourse around decolonizing the curriculum and on the relationship between the knowledge that children encounter at school and in their homes
