Hayden,2016-03-03 The focus of this volume is the intersection and the cross fertilization between the travel narrative literary discourse and the New Philosophy in the early modern to early eighteenth century historical periods Contributors examine how in an historical era which realized an emphasis on nation and during a time when exploration was laying the foundation for empire science and the literary discourse of the travel narrative become intrinsically linked Together the essays in this collection point out the way in which travel narratives reflect the anxiety from changes brought about through the discoveries of the new knowledge and the way this knowledge in turn provided a new and more complex understanding of the expanding world in which the writers lived The worlds in this text are many for no world is monomial from the antipodes to the New World from the heavens to the seas and from fictional worlds to the world which contains and or constructs one s nation and empire All of these essays demonstrate the manner in which the New Philosophy dramatically changed literary discourse Catalogue of the Library of the U. S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y.. United States Military Academy. Library,1853 Travel Narratives in Translation, 1750-1830 Alison Martin,Susan Pickford,2013-05-07 This book examines how non fictional travel accounts were rewritten reshaped and reoriented in translation between 1750 and 1850 a period that saw a sudden surge in the genre s popularity It explores how these translations played a vital role in the transmission and circulation of knowledge about foreign peoples lands and customs in the Enlightenment and Romantic periods The collection makes an important contribution to travel writing studies by looking beyond metaphors of mobility and cultural transfer to focus specifically on what happens to travelogues in translation Chapters range from discussing essential differences between the original and translated text to relations between authors and translators from intra European narratives of Grand Tour travel to scientific voyages round the world and from established male travellers and translators to their historically less visible female counterparts Drawing on European travel writing in English French German Spanish and Portuguese the book charts how travelogues were selected for translation how they were reworked to acquire new aesthetic political or gendered identities and how they sometimes acquired a radically different character and content to meet the needs and expectations of an emergent international readership The contributors address aesthetic political and gendered aspects of travel writing in translation drawing productively on other disciplines and research areas that encompass aesthetics the history of science literary geography and the history of the book

Travels into Print Innes M. Keighren, Charles W. J. Withers, Bill Bell, 2015-05-11 In eighteenth and nineteenth century Britain books of travel and exploration were much more than simply the printed experiences of intrepid authors They were works of both artistry and industry products of the complex and often contested relationships between authors and editors publishers and printers These books captivated the reading public and played a vital role in creating new geographical truths In an age of global wonder and of expanding empires there was no publisher more renowned for its travel books than the House of John Murray Drawing on detailed examination of the John Murray Archive of manuscripts images and the firm's correspondence with its many authors a list that included such illustrious explorers and scientists as Charles Darwin and Charles Lyell and literary giants like Jane Austen Lord Byron and Sir Walter Scott Travels into Print considers how journeys of exploration became published accounts and how travelers sought to demonstrate the faithfulness of their written testimony and to secure their personal credibility This fascinating study in historical geography and book history takes modern readers on a journey into the nature of exploration the production of authority in published travel narratives and the creation of geographical authorship a journey bound together by the unifying force of a world leading publisher

Bibliography of Natural History Travel Narratives Anne S. Troelstra, 2017-06-01 Anne Troelstra's fine bibliography is an outstanding and ground breaking work He has provided the academic world with a long needed bibliographical record of human endeavour in the field of the natural sciences The travel narratives listed here encompass all aspects of the natural world in every part of the globe but are especially concerned with its fauna flora and fossil remains Such eyewitness accounts have always fascinated their readers but they were never written solely for entertainment fragmentary though they often are these narratives of travel and exploration are of immense importance for our scientific understanding of life on earth providing us with a window on an ever changing and often vanishing natural world Without such records of the past we could not track document or understand the significance of changes that are so important for the study of zoogeography With this book Troelstra gives us a superb overview of natural history travel narratives The well over four thousand detailed entries ranging over four centuries and all major western European languages are drawn from a wide range of sources and include both printed books and periodical contributions While no subject bibliography by a single author can attain absolute completeness Troelstra's work is comprehensive to a truly remarkable degree The entries are arranged alphabetically by author and chronologically by the year of first publication under the author's name A brief biography with the scope and range of their work is given for each author every title is set in context the contents including illustrations are described and all known editions and translations are cited In addition there is a geographical index that cross refers between authors and the regions visited and a full list of the bibliographical and biographical sources used in compiling the bibliography
