

A photograph of a modern, multi-story building with a terracotta-colored facade. The building features a series of vertical, rectangular columns and balconies, some of which are painted orange. The architecture is characterized by its geometric forms and the use of warm, earthy tones. The building is set against a clear blue sky, and there are some green plants and a car visible in the foreground.

Narratives Spaces:

Narratives of Academics' Personal Journeys in Contested Spaces Namrata Rao, Anesa Hosein, Ian M.

Kinchin, 2023-05-18 Narratives of Academics Personal Journeys in Contested Spaces provides theoretically informed personal narratives of 11 emerging and established leaders in learning and teaching in Australia Finland New Zealand Singapore the UK and the USA The academics narratives focus on how the individuals have navigated to their current leadership role in learning and teaching whilst negotiating contested identities such as gender and physical and social marginalised spaces such as interstitial middle leadership positions These international narratives provide unique perspectives on the sense making of academics as they reflect on their learning and teaching leadership journey and how these journeys are shaped by their contested identities and the marginalised spaces they inhabit Often such identities and spaces are not recognised in higher education which may lead to even more isolating and challenging leadership journeys The book contributes to our understanding of the subjective experiences that academics encounter in their leadership journeys Further the personal narratives included in the book capture how the contested identities and marginalised spaces influence the learning and teaching leadership practices in various educational cultural and national contexts The Ontology of Space in Biblical

Hebrew Narrative Luke Gartner-Brereton, 2014-12-18 The central premise of this book is that biblical Hebrew narrative in terms of its structure tends to operate under similar mechanical constraints to those of a stage play wherein space is central characters are fluid and objects within the narrative tend to take on a deep internal significance The smaller episodic narrative units within the Hebrew aesthetic tend to grant primacy to space both ideologically and at the mechanical level of the text itself However space as a determinate structural category has been all but overlooked in the field of biblical studies to date reflecting perhaps our own inability as modern readers to see beyond the dominant cinematic aesthetic of our times The book is divided into two major sections each beginning with a more theoretical approach to the function of narrative space and ending with a practical application of the previous discussion using Genesis 28 10 22 the Bethel narrative and the book of Ruth respectively as test cases Infrastructures of Reality: Metaverse Stories, Spaces, Bodies Chris

Hesselbein, Paolo Bory, 2025-08-09 This open access book focuses on two dimensions of the development of the metaverse that are crucial to reality namely spatiality and embodiment Metaversal technologies are thought to fundamentally affect both our spaces and bodies which are two central aspects of the constitution of social reality Both spatiality and embodiment are core elements of world making that are being pulled into the ambit of metaversal projects On the one hand metaversal technologies are profoundly spatial in the sense that they render space in virtual form or overlay digital layers onto pre existing physical spaces On the other hand metaversal technologies are directly geared towards the body in that they not only seek to extend or expand our embodied senses and emplace our bodies in virtual spaces but they also seek to capture their behaviours and actions on a far more granular level This can create new opportunities in terms of work social interaction and leisure but can also open our bodies up to new tech driven interventions and control Whether in the form of VR or AR such technologies not only reproduce space but also rely on making spaces more legible and open to automated interventions Taken together the metaversification of spaces and bodies gives rise to crucial questions about the goals and implications of metaversal developments by large technology companies and about the relationship between the developments of the metaverse and AI systems Drawing on our combined background and expertise in Science and Technology Studies and the History of Media and Communication we critically analyse the development of metaversal technologies and platforms by discussing a broad set of developments and examples from a wide range of technology and gaming companies Written in clear concise and accessible language and combining and applying novel theoretical frameworks and concepts to a currently emergent phenomenon this book will find a large audience not only within academic and professional circles but also in popular culture

Space, Narrative, and Historical Imagination in Livy's Ab Urbe Condita Virginia Fabrizi, 2025-08-07 The surviving books of Livy's Ab Urbe Condita written ca 30-15 BCE narrate the origins of Rome the gradual growth of the city and its rise to Mediterranean hegemony This monograph reads Livy's work as among other things a narrative about space the space of the city and the space of the world which Rome strives to conquer and control Using a narratological approach it analyses how the text constructs the settings of historical events through an interplay of historical information literary or conventional elements and spatial semantics In this way it sheds light on Livy's interpretation of politics empire conquest and Roman identity

Narrative Space and Time Elana Gomel, 2014-02-18 Space is a central topic in cultural and narrative theory today although in most cases theory assumes Newtonian absolute space However the idea of a universal homogeneous space is now obsolete Black holes multiple dimensions quantum entanglement and spatio-temporal distortions of relativity have passed into culture at large This book examines whether narrative can be used to represent these impossible spaces Impossible topologies abound in ancient mythologies from the Australian Aborigines dream time to the multiple layer universe of the Sumerians More recently from Alice's adventures in Wonderland to contemporary science fiction's obsession with black holes and quantum paradoxes counter-intuitive spaces are a prominent feature of modern and postmodern narrative With the rise and popularization of science fiction the inventiveness and variety of impossible narrative spaces explodes The author analyses the narrative techniques used to represent such spaces alongside their cultural significance Each chapter connects narrative deformation of space with historical problematic of time and demonstrates the cognitive and perceptual primacy of narrative in representing imagining and apprehending new forms of space and time This book offers a comprehensive analysis of the connection between narratology cultural theory science fiction and studies of place

Heimat, Space, Narrative Friederike Ursula Eigler, 2014 Explores how contemporary novels dealing with flight and expulsion after the Second World War unsettle traditional notions of Heimat without abandoning place-based notions of belonging At the end of the Second World War millions of Germans and Poles fled or were expelled from the border regions of what had been their countries This monograph examines how in Cold War and post Cold War Europe since the 1970s writers have responded to memories or postmemories of this traumatic displacement Friederike Eigler engages with important currents in scholarship on Heimat the much debated German concept of homeland on the spatial turn in literary studies and on German Polish relations arguing for a transnational approach to the legacies of flight and expulsion and for a spatial approach to Heimat She explores notions of belonging in selected postwar and contemporary German novels with a comparative look at a Polish novel Olga Tokarczuk's House of Day House of Night 1998 Eigler finds dynamic manifestations of place in Tokarczuk's novel in Horst Bienek's 1972/82 Gleiwitz tetralogy about the historical border region of Upper Silesia and in contemporary novels by Reinhard Jirgl Christoph Hein Kathrin Schmidt Tanja Dückers Olaf Müller and Sabrina Janesch In a decisive departure from earlier approaches Eigler explores how these novels foster an awareness of the regions multiethnic and multinational histories unsettling traditional notions of Heimat without altogether abandoning place based notions of belonging Friederike Eigler is Professor of German at Georgetown University Space and Narrative in the Nineteenth-Century British Historical Novel Tom Bragg, 2016-03-31 Demonstrating that nineteenth century historical novelists played their rational trustworthy narrators against shifting and untrustworthy depictions of space and place Tom Bragg argues that the result was a flexible form of fiction that could be modified to reflect both the different historical visions of the authors and the changing aesthetic tastes of the reader Bragg focuses on Scott William Harrison Ainsworth and Edward Bulwer Lytton identifying links between spatial representation and the historical novel's multi generic rendering of history and narrative Even though their understanding of history and historical process could not be more different all writers employed space and place to mirror narrative stimulate discussion interrogate historical inquiry or otherwise comment beyond the rational factual narrator's point of view Bragg also traces how landscape depictions in all three authors' works inculcated heroic masculine values to show how a dominating theme of the genre endures even through widely differing versions of the form In taking historical novels beyond the localized questions of political and regional context Bragg reveals the genre's relevance to general discussions about the novel and its development Nineteenth century readers of the novel understood historical fiction to be epic and serious moral and healthful patriotic but also universal Space and Narrative in the Nineteenth Century British Historical Novel takes this readership at its word and acknowledges the complexity and diversity of the form by examining one of its few continuous features a flexibly metaphorical valuation of space and place Interactive Storytelling Lissa Holloway-Attaway, John T. Murray, 2023-10-30 This two volume set LNCS 14383 and LNCS 14384 constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 16th International Conference on Interactive Digital Storytelling ICIDS 2023 held in Kobe Japan during November 11-15 2023 The 30 full papers presented in this book together with 11 short papers were carefully reviewed and selected from 101 submissions Additionally the proceedings includes 22 Late Breaking Works The papers focus on topics such as theory history and foundations social and cultural contexts tools and systems interactive narrative design virtual worlds performance games and play applications and case studies and late breaking works Visioning Technologies Graham Cairns, 2016-12-08 Visioning Technologies brings together a collection of texts from leading theorists to examine how architecture has been and is reframed and restructured by the visual and theoretical frameworks introduced by different technologies of sight understood to include orthographic projection perspective drawing telescopic devices photography film and computer visualization amongst others Each chapter deals with its own area and historical period of expertise organized sequentially to mark out and analyse the historical evolution of how architecture has been transformed by technologically induced shifts in human perception from the 15th century until today This book underlines the way in which architectural forms and design processes have developed historically in conjunction with the systems of sight we manufacture technologically and suggests this continues today Paradoxically it is premised on the argument that these technological systems tend in their initial formulations to obtain ever greater realism in our visualizations of the physical world Storytelling and the Sciences of Mind David Herman, 2017-02-24 An transdisciplinary exploration of narrative not just as a target for interpretation but also as a means for making sense of experience itself With Storytelling and the Sciences of Mind David Herman proposes a cross fertilization between the study of narrative and research on intelligent behavior This cross fertilization goes beyond the simple importing of ideas from the sciences of mind into scholarship on narrative and instead aims for convergence between work in narrative studies and research in the cognitive sciences The book as a whole centers on two questions How do people make sense of stories And How do people use stories to make sense of the world Examining narratives from different periods and across multiple media and genres Herman shows how traditions of narrative research can help shape ways of formulating and addressing questions about intelligent activity and vice versa Using case studies that range from Robert Louis Stevenson s Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde to sequences from The Incredible Hulk comics to narratives told in everyday interaction Herman considers storytelling both as a target for interpretation and as a resource for making sense of experience itself In doing so he puts ideas from narrative scholarship into dialogue with such fields as psycholinguistics philosophy of mind and cognitive social and ecological psychology After exploring ways in which interpreters of stories can use textual cues to build narrative worlds or storyworlds Herman investigates how this process of narrative worldmaking in turn supports efforts to understand and engage with the conduct of persons among other aspects of lived experience
