Discourses We Live By: Narratives of Educational and Social Endeavour Hazel R. Wright, Marianne Høyen, 2020-07-03 What are the influences that govern how people view their worlds What are the embedded values and practices that underpin the ways people think and act Discourses We Live By approaches these questions through narrative research in a process that uses words images activities or artefacts to ask people either individually or collectively within social groupings to examine discuss portray or otherwise make public their place in the world their sense of belonging to and identity within the physical and cultural space they inhabit This book is a rich and multifaceted collection of twenty eight chapters that use varied lenses to examine the discourses that shape people's lives The contributors are themselves from many backgrounds different academic disciplines within the humanities and social sciences diverse professional practices and a range of countries and cultures They represent a broad spectrum of age status and outlook and variously apply their research methods but share a common interest in people their lives thoughts and actions Gathering such eclectic experiences as those of student teachers in Kenya a released prisoner in Denmark academics in Colombia a group of migrants learning English and gambling addiction support workers in Italy alongside more mainstream educational themes the book presents a fascinating array of insights Discourses We Live By will be essential reading for adult educators and practitioners those involved with educational and professional practice narrative researchers and many sociologists It will appeal to all who want to know how narratives shape the way we live and the way we talk about our lives Discourse In Educational And Social Research MacLure, Maggie, 2003-03-01 WINNER 2004 AESA Critics Choice Award With wonderful clarity Maggie MacLure shows how deconstructionism opens new avenues of critical inquiry and understanding for educational researchers In exposing the hidden ideological side of terms like clarity certainty mastery and relevance she allows us to see schooling and educational policy in new ways In so doing she allows us to imagine classrooms as liberating pedagogical places as places where new forms of desire knowledge and learning take place Norman K Denzin University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign This book is both practical and provocative It demonstrates the insights and the challenges of a discourse based orientation to educational and social research Drawing on a variety of educational and social science texts including press articles life history interviews parent teacher consultations policy debates and ethnographies the author shows how knowledge power identities and realities are constructed and problematised in discourse The book also deals with research itself as discursive practice examining the texts that qualitative researchers produce and consume reports monographs journal articles Practical examples are included for researchers and graduate students wishing to interrogate their own data from a discourse perspective The author develops a critical awareness of the researcher s role as writer reader of texts The book makes the case for discursive literacy in research While its primary allegiances are to poststructuralism and deconstruction it draws from a wide range of disciplines including interaction sociology feminist ethnography literary theory critical discourse analysis and art history What holds the book together is the persistent question how to do educational research and social research within a crisis of representation that has unsettled the relationship between words and worlds Routledge

Encyclopedia of Narrative Theory David Herman, Manfred Jahn, Marie-Laure Ryan, 2010-06-10 The past several decades have seen an explosion of interest in narrative with this multifaceted object of inquiry becoming a central concern in a wide range of disciplinary fields and research contexts As accounts of what happened to particular people in particular circumstances and with specific consequences stories have come to be viewed as a basic human strategy for coming to terms with time process and change However the very predominance of narrative as a focus of interest across multiple disciplines makes it imperative for scholars teachers and students to have access to a comprehensive reference resource
