Farebrother,Martin J. B. Farebrother,2015-11-30 The Arras sector of the Western Front in World War I WW1 was held partly by the British and Dominions 1st Army from September 1915 and almost wholly by the 1st and 3rd Armies from March 1916 No less than in the Ypres sector to the north and the Somme sector to the south the struggles of the French and then British troops in this sector were pivotal to the outcome of the War The sector included countryside in the south but in the north a major part of the industrial and coal mining area of northern France around Lens and Bthune In this book the contribution of metre and 60 cm gauge railways to the Allied war effort in this sector is examined in the context of the history of the metre gauge lines already established The build up of light 60 cm gauge lines from 1916 is examined in detail area by area and the contribution of the related metre gauge lines is reassessed from British and French sources After the War the role of these railways in the reconstruction and recovery of this devastated region of France is described Later the surviving part of the 60 cm gauge network served the sugar beet industry east of Arras The history is followed through another World War to the closure of the last of these railways in 1957 The book refers to previous works on British War Department light railways in WW1 but contains sufficient general information for readers new to the subject It also describes how to find key locations now and how and where rolling stock can be seen Six walks and an urban tour are included for those who wish to explore the territory in greater depth Britain's Railways in the Second World War Michael Foley,2021-01-18 A fascinating account of the British Railways system's vital role in the defense of the country and support of the Allied forces during WWII. The outbreak of the Second World War had an enormous effect on the railway system in Britain. The Big Four companies put aside differences and worked together for the war effort. The logistics of transporting troops during the evacuation of Dunkirk and the preparations for D Day were unprecedented. Meanwhile they had to cope with the new and constant threat of aerial bombing. As a result the railway system effectively served as another branch of the military. At the end of the war Winston Churchill likened London to a large animal declaring that what kept the animal alive was its transport system. The metaphor could have been applied to the whole of Britain and its most vital transport system was the railway. This book brings to light the often forgotten stories of the brave men and women who went to work on the railways and put their lives on the line.

The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 1996 Modelling Narrow Gauge Railways in Small Scales Chris Ford, 2015-05-31. This invaluable book is essential reading for all those who wish to build a small narrow gauge model railway layout to a high standard. Comprehensive in its coverage the book begins with a useful summary of the history and development of narrow gauge railways in the British Isles and this is followed by a detailed but easily digestible consideration of the complex and wide choice of scales available to the modeller. In subsequent chapters the author covers all aspects of construction including materials and tools, skills and techniques, layout design, laying the track, scenic modelling, painting, soldering and wiring as well as the construction of narrow gauge stock and appropriate buildings. The author provides clear step by step instructions and photographs to show the reader how to build a straightforward narrow gauge model of a fictitious late 19th to early 20th century light railway in 4mm scale on 9mm track. He also suggests how the methods he has used can be adapted to other scales and briefly explains by way of example how they can be transferred directly to 7mm scale. Fully illustrated with 223 colour photographs and also included are several working sketches. The Railway Magazine ,1927 Tramway and Railway World ,1905 Railway Returns for England and Wales, Scotland, and Ireland ... Great Britain. Board of Trade, 1890 The Railway Times ,1867 The pictorial guide and itinerary for the railways and coach-roads of North Wales Wales North, 1889 The Locomotive, Railway Carriage & Wagon Review ,1920 The Pastoral Review ,1920 Tourist guide to north south & central Wales, Lake district, Buxton and Leamington London and north western railway, 1900 Locomotive Railway Carriage and Wagon Review ,1920 Railway Times ,1860 Locomotives and Railways ,1901 A History Of The First World War In 100 Objects John Hughes-Wilson, 2014-03-03. A History of the First World War in 100 Objects narrates the causes, progress and outcome of the First World War by telling the stories behind 100 items of material evidence of that cataclysmic and shattering conflict. From weapons that created carnage to affectionate letters home and from unexpected items of trench decoration to the paintings of official war artists the objects are as extraordinary in their diversity and story telling power as they are devastating in their poignancy. Each object is depicted on a full page and is the subject of a short chapter that fans out from the item itself.

to describe the context the people and the events associated with it Distinctive and original A History of the First World War in 100 Objects is a unique commemoration of the war to end all wars The writers directory [Anonymus AC00423973],1991
