Pérez Galdós and the Spanish Novel of the Nineteenth Century Leslie Bannister Walton,1927 Pérez Galdós and the Spanish Novel of the Nineteenth Century Leslie Bannister Walton,1927 The Shadow Benito Pérez Galdós,1980 Anselmo marries a young woman Elena and his love for her causes his already unstable senses to feverishly work overtime He imagines the figure of Paris from a very sensual painting of Helen of Troy and Paris disappears from the canvas He also imagines hearing a male voice in Elena's room and upon his approach what sounds like fleeing footsteps In a rage Anselmo breaks open the door to her room He finds nothing and notices the window is closed and the interior door is locked The fright to his wife though was very real A second occurrence of hearing voices in his wife's room causes him to intrude again but this time he thinks he sees a shadow escape though the window Anselmo follows the shadow into the garden Thinking he sees the figure hiding in the well he spends all evening filling it up with rocks Anselmo feels tortured by betrayal but a few days later in his bedroom the shadow takes corporeal form as Paris from the painting They hold conversations that depress the doctor driving him mad with the realization that he will never shake such a being so he challenges Paris to a duel Even though Anselmo's shot would be deadly to a mortal Paris lives Anselmo has the being brought to his bedroom and they continue to hold conversations heightening the husband's shame at the loss of his honor Pérez Galdós L. Pérez Galdós and the Spanish Novel of the Nineteenth Century L. B. Walton,1980 Pérez Galdós and the Spanish Novel of the Nineteenth Century Leslie Bannister Walton,1927 The Novel on the Tram Benito Pérez Galdós,2021-05-19 In The Novel on the Tram Benito Pérez Galdós masterfully weaves a narrative that captures the vibrant tapestry of late 19th century Madrid using the tram then a novel mode of transportation as a backdrop for his exploration of social dynamics and human interaction This innovative novel employs a realist literary style infused with naturalistic elements allowing readers to experience the bustling city life and the myriad characters that inhabit it Galdós's acute observations reflect the broader societal changes occurring in Spain during this period marking the tram as a symbol of modernity and progress amidst the lingering remnants of tradition Benito Pérez Galdós often hailed as one of Spain's greatest novelists was deeply influenced by the socio-political upheavals of his time particularly the decline of the Spanish Empire and the rise of the bourgeoisie His rich background in journalism and theater contributes to the vivid characterization and intricate dialog prevalent in his works The Novel on the Tram exemplifies his commitment to portraying authentic experiences delving into class disparities and the search for identity in a rapidly changing society Readers seeking to immerse themselves in a richly detailed atmosphere and to gain insight into the complexities of human relationships during a transformative era will find The Novel on the Tram an invaluable addition to their literary collection Galdós's ability to blend humor social critique and the everyday with a sense of historical consciousness renders this work not only enjoyable but also profoundly thought provoking The Historical Novel in Nineteenth-Century Europe Brian Hamnett,2011-11-24 Even at the height of its popularity in the early nineteenth century the historical novel faced criticism at many levels After its predominance in the 1810s and 1820s writers and historians shunned it as a travesty of their respective disciplines Even so the historical novel has frequently attracted a wide ranging public right up to the present day Brian Hamnett examines key novels by authors including Scott Balzac Manzoni Dickens Eliot Flaubert Fontane Gald s and Tolstoy revealing the contradictions inherent in this form of fiction and exposing the challenges writers faced in attempting to represent a reality that linked past and present He argues that the historical novel in the nineteenth century was a common European phenomenon with considerable interconnection of themes and periods Accordingly the book ranges from the British Isles and France through the Germanic territories Italy and Spain to the Russian Empire identifying the different objectives and phases of the historical novel Although historical novels did appear in the two previous centuries the form came to maturity in the nineteenth century a consequence of the developing nature of history as a discipline distinct from literature and philosophy and the increasing primacy of the novel for writers and the reading public Yet the frontiers between history and literature remained blurred and the two disciplines continued to influence one another as each sought a faithful representation of human experience

The Reframing of Realism Hazel Gold, 1993 In the writing of Benito P rez Gald s Spain s most prolific and innovative nineteenth century novelist Hazel Gold finds the act of framing insistently at work By exploring Gald s s methods of structuring and evaluating literary and historical experience Gold illuminates the novelist s art and uncovers the far reaching narratological social and epistemological implications of his framing strategies A close look at Gald s s novels reveals the artist at pains to contain and interpret what he perceived to be the distinctive and oftening disheartening experience of bourgeois liberalism of his day Looking beyond text to context Gold examines the ways in which Gald s s work itself has been framed by readers and critics in accordance with changing allegiances to contemporary literary theory and the canon The highly ambiguous status of the frame in Gald s s fiction confirms the author s own signal position as a writer poised at the limits between realism and modernity
