Practice Werner H. Kelber,Paula A. Sanders,2016-09-30 In April 2008 a conference was convened at Rice University that brought together experts in the three monotheistic religions of Judaism Christianity and Islam The papers discussed at the conference are presented here revised and updated The thirteen contributions comprise the keynote address by John Miles Foley three essays on Judaism and the Hebrew Bible three on the New Testament three on the Qur an and two summarizing pieces by the Africanist Ruth Finnegan and the Islamicist William Graham respectively The central thesis of the book states that sacred Scripture was experienced by the three faiths less as a text contained between two covers and a literary genre and far more as an oral phenomenon In developing the performative recitative aspects of the three religions the authors directly or by implication challenge their distinctly textual identities Instead of viewing the three faiths as quintessential religions of the book these writers argue that the religions have been and continue to be appropriated not only as written but also very much as oral authorities with the two media interpenetrating and mutually influencing each other in myriad ways

Performing Habakkuk Jeanette Mathews, 2012-06-01 Scripture like any performance aims for transformation of its audience In this new study Jeanette Mathews demonstrates how literature from the diverse field of performance studies can be applied to the prophetic book of Habakkuk in order to draw out themes and features that are common to both Mathews offers a fresh new translation of Habakkuk that emphasizes and celebrates its intrinsic dramatic features This translation provides the script for the performance of Habakkuk The attitudes and actions of the actors in the performance become models for their audience such that the audience members are drawn into the performance and do not remain impartial spectators The context of crisis that forms the book's setting is of crucial importance ensuring that genres such as complaint and lament are taken seriously as expressions of faith in the midst of traumatic experience The open ended script makes explicit the drama of faithfulness in the midst of cultural trauma and public crises a faithfulness that is ready to be reenacted in our own settings
