Anxiety Management Training Richard M. Suinn, 1990-10-31 This book owes its existence to an ideal a burning frustration and a trusted believer The ideal was the sense that governed my feelings about systematic desensitization during my early introduction to its benefits It is hard to put into words the initial doubts that pervaded me during my first attempt with desensitization with a seriously phobic client as I religiously worked my way through the procedure Will this client really become relaxed And then what will the visualization actually occur And then what will the fear really vanish just like that And oh the feeling of discovery and validation when indeed the process worked and worked well Desensitization was everything it was claimed to be systematic clean theoretically grounded empirically tested applicable as a behavioral technology regardless of one's own theoretical bias And there were testable outcomes concrete evidence for change So I became invested and aimed at doing more with desensitization My students and I raised some theoretical questions in order to open the doors for revising the desensitization to improve on its applications We tested the rapidity with which desensitization could be accomplished shortening the time by shortening the anxiety hierarchy Along with others we studied the question of group delivery and reducing the total number of sessions as well as examining the use of audiotaped delivery of services

Foreign Language Anxiety and the Advanced Language Learner Zsuzsa Tóth, 2010-08-11 Does anxiety about learning and using a foreign language decline as learners become more competent in the target language or is anxiety also relevant at higher levels of proficiency This is the question Foreign Language Anxiety and the Advanced Language Learner sets out to explore The aim of the book is to give readers an insight into what role anxiety plays in the language learning and communication processes of advanced language learners. Specifically, the study examines how advanced EFL learners' foreign language anxiety (FLA) can be characterized, how anxiety relates to other individual differences (cognitive, affective, personality), and explores the relationship between FLA and various aspects of learners' performance and communication experience in the target language. The research context is Hungary. The findings, however, are not confined to the Hungarian EFL setting. In addition to making a contribution to the clarification of some unresolved issues in language anxiety research, including the role of proficiency in the development of anxiety, the relationship between anxiety and other learner variables, and the much debated question of whether or not anxiety accounts for differential success in L2 learning, this study has important implications for language teachers as well.
