Performing Action Artistry In Human Behavior And Social Research:

Performing Action Joseph R. Gusfield, 2017-09-08 In recent years the social sciences and the humanities have drawn closer to each other in thought and method This rapprochement has led to new perceptions of human behavior by sociologists as well as new methodological orientations Sociologist Joseph R Gusfield draws upon drama and fiction to show how human action is shaped by the formal dimensions of performance Gusfield first defines the concept of behavior as artistic performance He then analyzes routine and classic social research reports as literary performances in qualitative and quantitative terms Next he moves to social movements and public actions demonstrating how objects and events are products of the interpretation and reflection of individuals He draws upon literary and artistic conventions to deal with issues of representation and meaning In the first and last chapters Gusfield provides a conceptual summary examining the relation between sociology as science and art arguing that sociological methods are neither science nor art but partake of both Following the philosopher Paul Ricoeur Gusfield shows how human behavior can be read as a text always telling the participant or observer something about something Performing Action will be of interest to sociologists psychologists and students of aesthetics and critical theory

Sandinista Narratives Jean-Pierre Reed, 2020-10-21 Sandinista Narratives is an analysis of the role of agency in the Nicaraguan Revolution and its aftermath Jean Pierre Reed argues that the insurrection in Nicaragua was shaped by political contingency action specific subjectivity and popular culture He also examines how Sandinista ideology contributed to state building in Nicaragua while tracing the role of post revolutionary Sandinismo as a political identity

Making Sense of Reality Tia DeNora, 2014-09-22 What is reality and how do we make sense of it in everyday life Why do some realities seem more real than others and what of seemingly contradictory and multiple realities This book considers reality as we represent perceive and experience it It suggests that the realities we take as real are the result of real time situated practices that draw on and draw together many things technologies and objects people gestures meanings and media Examining these practices illuminates reality or rather our sense of it as always virtually real that is simplified and artfully produced This examination also shows us how the sense of reality that we make is nonetheless real in its consequences Making Sense of Reality offers students and educators a guide to analysing social life It develops a performance based perspective doing things with that highlights the ever revised dimension of realities and links this perspective to a focus on object relations and an ecological model of culture in action

Boxing, the Gym, and Men Jérôme Beauchez, 2017-09-19 This book explores the lived experiences of boxers in a French banlieue largely populated by people from working class and immigrant backgrounds Jérôme Beauchez who joined in the men's daily workouts for many years analyzes the act of boxing as a high stakes confrontation that extends well beyond the walls of the gym Exploring the physical and existential realities of combat the author provides a multifaceted thick description of this world and shows that the violence faced by the gym s members is not so much to be found in the ring as in the adversity of everyday racism and social exclusion Boxing can therefore be understood as an act of resistance that is about more than simply fighting an opponent and that reflects all the existential struggles facing these men who are both stigmatized and socially dominated by race and class Holding down the Fort

Aaron Bielejewski,2022-11-26 This Open Access book questions the relationship between institutionalized images and understandings of policing the monolithic ideas common to most if not all Western law enforcement agencies and contextual situative and local interactions where the human representatives of policing street level officers come into contact with residents The political and theoretical association of specific forms of Western policing with democratic society can be illustrated in the case of German integration narratives of reform and essentially forging new democratic police agencies in the new German states stand at odds with much of the experience and statements of officers who continued to serve following Re Unification Officers who present their works primarily in terms of their local responsibilities expectations and more specifically to their unique and individual relationship and connection to their communities downplay the relevance of high level policing policy Based on a two year ethnographic study of policing in a rural county in the German state of Brandenburg this book explores the local nature of policing both in terms of how police officers imagine their communities to be and with reference to broader societal expectations and assumptions of what police essentially are can effectively do and should effectively do Comedy and Social Science Cate Watson,2015-06-12

While there have been many sociological and psychological studies of humor few can claim to be funny Humor may be regarded as a legitimate topic for social scientists but in general they present their research rather seriously In academia humor tends to be trivialized and dismissed This is more than just a missed opportunity for otherwise fun loving academics In literature it is readily accepted that comedy is integral to the human condition To ignore humor is to reject a potentially insightful methodological approach as the humorous worldview presents unique opportunities for investigating the social This book constitutes a unique resource presenting chapters on irony satire and parody as tools for analysis and means of representation as well as considering humor in the conduct of research and offering guidance on getting published Through presenting examples from across the social sciences the book seeks to persuade and inspire rather than to prescribe an approach a closure which would ironically be inimical to the multiplicity and ambiguity which characterizes humorous research and lends it its distinctive edge Ten

Jaque,2016-12-30 Creativity and the Performing Artist Behind the Mask synthesizes and integrates research in the field of creativity and the performing arts Within the performing arts there are multiple specific domains of expertise with domain specific demands

This book examines the psychological nature of creativity in the performing arts. The book is organized into five sections. Section I discusses different forms of performing arts, the domains and talents of performers, and the experience of creativity within performing artists. Section II explores the neurobiology of physiology of creativity and flow. Section III covers the developmental trajectory of performing artists, including early attachment, parenting, play theories, personality, motivation, and training. Section IV examines emotional regulation and psychopathology in performing artists. Section V closes with issues of burnout, injury, and rehabilitation in performing artists. Discusses domain specificity within the performing arts. Encompasses dance, theatre, music, and comedy performance art. Reviews the biology behind performance, from thinking to movement. Identifies how an artist develops over time, from childhood through adult training. Summarizes the effect of personality, mood, and psychopathology on performance. Explores career concerns of performing artists, from injury to burn out. American Book Publishing Record, 2000-07

Emancipatory and Participatory Methodologies in Peace, Critical, and Community Psychology Mohamed Seedat, Shahnaaz Suffla, Daniel J. Christie, 2017-10-17. Offering a unique set of case studies that invites readers to question and reimagine the concept of community engagement, this collected work provides an overview and analysis of numerous creative participatory research methods designed to improve well-being at both the individual and societal level. In a world where there are enormous differences in the wealth and health of people, it is increasingly recognized that sustainable peace requires both a broad-based public commitment to nonviolence combined with noticeable increments in the wellbeing of people who occupy the lowest socioeconomic strata of societies. This volume focuses on the latter: how to use qualitative research methods to improve well-being of research participants and thus the wider society. The participatory research examples described in these chapters are meant to encourage researchers, scholars, and practitioners to question assumed knowledge about community engagement research and practice and to inspire social justice-oriented scholarship. The cases, studies, and methods portrayed are as varied as the situations and cultures in which they take place. In most of the case studies, the personal is linked to the political with a social justice imperative as participants from marginalized communities express an understanding of their own position within power hierarchies, deconstruct power relations, and experience a sense of agency. In other instances, the methods are no less participatory, but the aim is more focused on inner and outer harmony, psychological wellbeing, conflict resolution, and intergroup reconciliation. In all the cases, studies, there is a strong emphasis on methods in which community members are at the center of efforts to promote social change. The methods described include group storytelling, community arts, asset mapping, dialogues, creative writing, embroidery, filmmaking, Photovoice, writing back to power, and other means of engaging in emancipatory praxis and promoting personal wellbeing. Taken together, the chapters illustrate creative ways in which community members embedded in disadvantaged contexts can engage in a dynamic process that stimulates individual and collective agency. Ultimately, this volume will provide readers with a deeper understanding of a wide range of creative qualitative research methods and will encourage establishment of an effective social justice agenda essential to human wellbeing and sustainable peace

Performing Citizenship Paula Hildebrandt, Kerstin Evert, Sibylle Peters, Mirjam Schaub, Kathrin Wildner, Gesa Ziemer, 2019-02-05 This open access book discusses how citizenship is performed today mostly through the optic of the arts in particular the performing arts but also from the perspective of a wide range of academic disciplines such as urbanism and media studies cultural education and postcolonial theory It is a compendium that includes insights from artistic and activist experimentation Each chapter investigates a different aspect of citizenship such as identity and belonging rights and responsibilities bodies and materials agencies and spaces and limitations and interventions It rewrites and rethinks the many layered concept of citizenship by emphasising the performative tensions produced by various uses occupations interpretations and framings
