Performing The Past A Study Of Israeli Settlement Museums:

Performing the Past Tamar Katriel, 2013-11-05 A nostalgic interest in the past is a well recognized feature of fast changing contemporary societies It finds its expression in a variety of history making practices of which the establishment of local heritage museums is a major manifestation in many parts of the world today Katriel develops a communication centered perspective on the study of heritage museums and by extension other tourist sites highlighting the role of discourse in these institutionalized yet vernacular contexts of cultural production social legitimation and identity formation Descriptive and critical in orientation this book combines a close analysis of museum discourse with an exploration of such larger issues as the socio cultural role of museums as arenas for the production of collective memory the ideological and performative constraints that shape museum presentations the interfacing of verbal and visual codes of communication in the context of material displays the dialectical interplay of the local and the global in contemporary life and the interpenetration of the personal and the communal in vernacular processes of narrative production Of interest to scholars in communication linguistics anthropology history museum studies tourism intercultural communication middle eastern studies or those with interests in narratives material culture and ethnography Encyclopedia of Jewish Folklore and Traditions Raphael Patai, 2015-03-26 This multicultural reference work on Jewish folklore legends customs and other elements of folklife is the first of its kind Mediating Knowledges Gwyneira Isaac, 2022-03-29 This book tells the story of the search by the Zuni people for a culturally relevant public institution to help them maintain their heritage for future generations Using a theoretical perspective grounded in knowledge systems it examines how Zunis developed the A shiwi A wan Museum and Heritage Center to mediate between Zuni and Anglo American values of history and culture By using in depth interviews previously inaccessible archival records and extensive ethnographic observations Gwyneira Isaac provides firsthand accounts of the Zunis and non Zunis involved in the development of the museum These personal narratives provide insight into the diversity of perspectives found within the community as well as tracing the ongoing negotiation of the relationship between Zuni and Anglo American cultures In particular Isaac examines how Zunis who transmit knowledge about their history through oral tradition and initiation into religious societies must navigate the challenge of utilizing Anglo American museum practices which privilege technology that aids the circulation of knowledge beyond its original narrators This book provides a much needed contemporary ethnography of a Pueblo community recognized for its restrictive approach to outside observers The complex interactions between Zunis and anthropologists explored here however reveal not only Puebloan but also Anglo American attitudes toward secrecy and the control of knowledge Cultural Memories of Nonviolent Struggles A. Reading, T. Katriel, 2015-06-09 If societies have only memories of war of cruelty of violence then why are we called humankind This book marks a new trajectory in Memory Studies by examining cultural memories of nonviolent struggles from ten countries The book reminds us of the enduring cultural scripts for human agency solidarity resilience and human
