Rescue the Perishing Gibbons Ruark, 1991-08-01 Man is in love and loves what vanishes Yeats wrote What more is there to say Gibbons Ruark endorses this view in Rescue the Perishing his fifth volume of poetry even as he challenges Yeats through the depth and breadth of his memory and testimony Ruark's love poems and elegies are filled with music In the opening poem Postscript to an Elegy the tremor of the phone ringing Muffled car horns jamming in the neighborhood anchor the memory of a lost friend in the music of everyday life In other poems these moments of discovered music join with the strains of Jelly Roll Morton Louis Armstrong and traditional Irish songs to create sense as joyful as love at its best and as tragic as car bombs and the elegies they necessitate Ruark has an unusual capacity to blend the political and the personal to make the small things of this world a glass swan bought as a gift for example reverberate with a patriot s love for Ireland a traveler's love for someone distant and the fragility of a country trapped in war The poet captures how an oral tradition lingers not just in the rhythms of speech or in songs repeated for generations but in stories of heroism and violent death told where people gather for drinks Moments of beauty are shattered as in Glasnevin In Ulster just as the year was flowering The Sten guns roared and adamant hymn singers Slumped in their bloody pews and now rung off This granite the old staunch hymns are streaming From the country churches of my boyhood Yet images of dissolution little shards That will not gather into anything as Ruark phrases it in the volume s opening poem are transformed by the poet s lyricism and his love of the natural world a binding force throughout the book This is a poet who in the words of William Stafford discovers as he goes One of Ruark's many strengths is his charm in inviting readers to travel with him The Perishing Sherod Santos, 2004-07 Exploring the themes of death and rebirth a new anthology by a critically acclaimed poet collects neo Romantic poems dealing with the social and political concerns of the writer including such works as Greencastle Red Advancing and Book of Blessings Reprint Perishable World Alicia Hokanson, 2021-10-21 Who knows if the grief I squeeze through my lips can be borne says an ancient Aztec singer In this collection prize winning poet Alicia Hokanson sets out to map the raw boundaries of grief by ruthlessly examining occasions and consequences of loss offset by close and affectionate attention to the smallest nuances of the sensual universe We learn that what perishes from this world is not only bearable but inseparable from what we celebrate Samuel Green former Washington Poet Laureate author of Disturbing the Light A Concordance to the Poems of Emily Dickinson S.
