The Politics of Speech in Later Twentieth-Century Poetry William Fogarty, 2022-07-30 The Politics of Speech in Later Twentieth Century Poetry Local Tongues in Heaney Brooks Harrison and Clifton argues that local speech became a central facet of English language poetry in the second half of the twentieth century It is based on a key observation about four major poets from both sides of the Atlantic Seamus Heaney Gwendolyn Brooks Tony Harrison and Lucille Clifton all respond to societal crises by arranging reproducing and reconceiving their particular versions of local speech in poetic form The book s overarching claim is that local tongues in poetry have the capacity to bridge aesthetic and sociopolitical realms because nonstandard local speech declares its distinction from the status quo and binds people who have been subordinated by hierarchical social conditions while harnessing those versions of speech into poetic structures can actively counter the very hierarchies that would degrade those languages The diverse local tongues of these four poets marshaled into the forms of poetry situate them at once in literary tradition in local contexts and in prevailing social constructs

Tony Harrison Plays 6 Tony Harrison, 2019-04-16 Tony Harrison s sixth collection includes a foreword by Lee Hall The book contains Harrison s translation of Euripides s Hecuba which inaugurated the modern amphitheatre of Delphi in 2005 the remarkable Fram which opened at the National Theatre in 2008 and Iphigenia in Crimea after Euripides which premiered on BBC Radio 3 to mark Tony Harrison s eightieth birthday in 2016 Tony is that incredibly rare beast as great a playwright as he is a poet Lee Hall I am convinced that Tony Harrison is one of the truly great poets writing in English today Melvyn Bragg Hecuba Harrison s urgent translation never lets us forget the aching topicality of Euripides study of the powerful and the powerless Guardian Fram Harrison brings gloriously rich life to the stage by turns funny and rending His couplets are a feast for rhyme junkies Financial Times As visually resplendent a piece of theatre as you will see all year The words more than hold their own however expressing in rhymes to be relished that poetry might yet if not lead us out of the darkness at least make us feel ashamed we re still stuck in it Sunday Times Iphigenia in Crimea Set in Sebastopol 1854 in the midst of the Crimean war a lieutenant decides to stage an all male production of Euripides s tragedy After initial raucous incredulity the atmosphere changes as the men commit themselves to the drama until as it draws to a close ancient and modern worlds collide and warfare resumes in earnest

Looking North Dave Russell,2004-10 Investigating areas as diverse as travel literature fiction dialect the stage radio television feature film music and sport this book assesses the portrayal of the North of England within the national culture and how this has impacted upon attitudes to the region and its place within notions of Englishness The relationship between these cultural forms and the construction of regional identity has received only limited consideration and this fascinating work provides not only much new information but also a map for future writers The North although seen ultimately as other and the subject of much critical comment is also shown here as capable of stimulating the creative imagination and invigorating English culture in sometimes surprising ways Poetry in Britain and Ireland Since 1970 Jonathan Barker,1995
