Power, Powerlessness, and Globalization Opoku Agyeman, 2014-08-20 This book is about imperialism driven globalization its historic impact on Africa Latin America and Asia and over time the varied responses of the national political units and regional entities in these continents to the challenges of building countervailing power and laying foundations for independent development Where genuine recovery and empowerment have emerged this has been the result not only of the pursuit of dignitist political and economic values that emphasize robust and sustained productivity geared toward uplifting the living standards and dignity of all the members of the national society but also of the creation of indigenous institutions whose relations with the external world are defined by equality rather than dependence and subordination Opoku Agyeman argues that dignification is the fundamentally necessary response to imperialism's inevitable afflictions of national racial humiliation. It is the most crucial ingredient in the complex of motivations that propel formerly weak nation states and regional communities to rise up and defend the honor of their people. As Mao Zedong told the world in 1949: Ours will no longer be a nation subject to insult and humiliation. We have stood up. This study argues emphatically that it is a country's or region's developed or developing capabilities, not its historic and continuing victimization or habitual dependence on charitable aid and other altruistic interventions from the international community that determines its success in escaping the scourge of powerlessness and underdevelopment. It further maintains that a people who have been brought low through brutal dehumanizing imperialism cannot bypass the need for redemptive empowerment if they wish to regain honor and a proper place in the world. Finally, it takes issue with Joseph Stiglitz, Jeffrey Sachs, and others like them whose moralistic critiques of the rapacity of imperialistic globalization carry the unfortunate implication that it is possible for a fair and just world social order to come out of incremental reforms of philanthropically motivated developed powerful countries in the structure and operations of global capitalism.

American Capitalism Sven Beckert, Christine Desan, 2018-02-06 The United States has long epitomized capitalism. From its enterprising shopkeepers, wildcat banks, violent slave plantations, huge industrial working class, and raucous commodities trade to its world-spanning multinationals, its massive factories, and the centripetal power of New York in the world of finance, America has come to symbolize capitalism for two centuries and more. But an understanding of the history of American capitalism is as elusive as it is urgent. What does it mean to make capitalism a subject of historical inquiry? What is its potential across multiple disciplines alongside different methodologies and in a range of geographic and chronological settings? And how does a focus on capitalism change our understanding of American history? American Capitalism presents a sampling of cutting-edge research from prominent scholars. These broad-minded and rigorous essays venture new angles on finance, debt, and credit, women's rights, slavery, and political economy, the racialization of capitalism, labor beyond industrial wage workers, and the production of knowledge, including the idea of the economy among other topics. Together, the essays suggest emerging themes in the field: a fascination with capitalism as it is made by political authority; how it is claimed and contested by participants; how it spreads across the globe; and how it can be reconceptualized without being universalized. A major statement for a wide open field, this book demonstrates the breadth and scope of the work that the history of capitalism can provoke.

Dynamics of International Relations Walter C. Clemens, 2004 Student-friendly and professor-endorsed Dynamics of International Relations is an innovative introductory-level core text. It compares realist and idealist theories and the paradigm of interdependence against case studies of recurrent problems: why wage war, how to make peace, how to transcend conflict, when and where to mediate, how to increase GDP, but also quality of life, and how to organize for peace and promote human rights. Against a backdrop of the threat of terrorism, Clemens clearly demonstrates both the danger and opportunities inherent in a growing global interdependence.

Geographies of Development Robert Potter, Tony Binns, Jennifer Elliott, Etienne Nel, David Smith, 2019-03-07 Now in its fourth edition Geographies of Development: An Introduction to Development Studies remains a core balanced and comprehensive introductory textbook for students of Development Studies, Development Geography and related fields. This clear and concise text encourages critical engagement by integrating theory alongside practice and related key topics throughout. It demonstrates informatively that ideas concerning development have been many and varied and highly contested, varying from time to time and from place to place. Clearly written and accessible for students who have no prior knowledge of development, the book provides the basics in terms of a geographical approach to development: what, where, when and why. Over 200 maps, charts, tables, textboxes and pictures break up the text and offer alternative ways of showing the information. The text is further enhanced by a range of pedagogical features: chapter outlines, case studies, key thinkers, critical reflections, key points and summaries, discussion topics and further reading. Geographies of Development continues to be an invaluable introductory text not only for geography students but also anyone in area studies, international studies and development studies.

Activism and Agency in India Supurna Banerjee, 2017-05-08 During the period 2000 to 2010 tea plantations in India experienced a crisis and were at the threshold of transformation framed by conflict and turbulence. This book is an interdisciplinary and intersectional work examining the nature of victimhood and agency among women workers on tea plantations in North Bengal, India. The author views tea plantations as social spaces rather than only economic units of production. Focusing on the lived experiences of the workers from the perspective of their multiple identities, the author uses the everyday as the entry point for understanding the exercise of agency, the negotiation of different spaces, gender roles and norms therein, as well as acts of protest. Agency and its relation to space are seen as continuums from their everyday hidden forms to the more overt and spectacular from conformity and endurance to challenge and protest. Offering an understanding of the gendered nature of space and labour, this book examines the post-crisis period by mapping the workers' narratives about their lived experiences and struggles in the times of economic, political and social tumult in the tea plantations of northern West Bengal. It will be of interest to an interdisciplinary audience interested in Development Studies, Gender Studies, South Asian Studies, Social Activism and Labour Studies.

Global Agricultural Workers from the 17th to the 21st Century, 2022-12-19 Agricultural workers have long been underrepresented in labour history. This volume aims to change this by bringing together a collection of studies on the largest group of the global workforce. The contributions cover the period from the early modern to the present, a period when the emergence and consolidation of capitalism has transformed rural areas all over the globe. Three questions have guided the approach and the structure of this volume: First, how and why have peasant families managed to survive under conditions of advancing commercialisation and industrialisation? Second, why have coercive labour relations been so persistent in the agricultural sector? and third, what was the role of states in the recruitment of agricultural workers?
