INVENTORY

There are no right or wrong answers to the questions on the following pages; each person differs in the way he feels about them. We are attempting to study certain aspects of personality that are important factors in one's adjustment to life, school, or work in general. You can help by answering each question thoughtfully and honestly. Your sincere cooperation in this will prove beneficial to you and your classmates. Think carefully, but do not spend too much time on any one question. Let your own personal experiences or opinions guide you and record the way you feel about each question.

For each question, decide whether your answer is "Yes" or "No." If your answer is "Yes," blacken the "Yes" space on the answer sheet. If your answer is "No," blacken the "No" space. For instance, if your answers to questions 26, 17, 28, 29, and 30 were "Yes," "No," "No," "Yes," "No," respectively, you would fill in the answer spaces as follows:

26	Yes	No
17	Yes	No
28	Yes	No
29	Yes	No
30	Yes	No

If you think the answer to a particular question is "Yes" under some circumstances and "No" under others, decide which is more often the appropriate answer and mark the corresponding space.

You should be able to decide for every question, or for almost every question, whether the true answer would usually be "Yes" or "No." If, however, there are a small number of questions for which you are absolutely unable to decide whether "Yes" or "No" is the better answer, fill in the circles containing the question numbers. For instance, if you could not choose between "Yes" and "No" for question 23, you would fill in the circle as follows:

	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>

However, in nearly every case you should decide which answer is more commonly characteristic of you, thus keeping the number of marked statements down to an absolute minimum.

In filling in answer spaces, be sure to make your marks heavy and black.

Personal Adjustment In The American Cult:

Psychiatry and the Cults John A. Saliba, 2018-09-24 Originally published in 1987 this title was compiled in response to the concern in some segments of society about the presence of new religious movements in the West in the second half of the twentieth century There are lots of psychological questions surrounding cults and the influence they have over their members These questions have been operative in the accumulation of this annotated bibliography which was intended primarily as a reference guide for psychiatrists and counsellors who advise cult members ex cult members and their bewildered parents and lawyers who use psychiatric arguments in the courts

The Future of Religion Rodney Stark, William Sims Bainbridge, 2023-04-28 Religion is alive and well in the modern world and the social scientific study of religion is undergoing a renaissance For much of this century respected social theorists predicted the death of religion as inevitable consequence of science education and modern economics But they were wrong Stark and Bainbridge set out to explain the survival of religion Using information derived from numerous surveys censuses historical case studies and ethnographic field expeditions they chart the full sweep of contemporary religion from the traditional denominations to the most fervent cults This wealth of information is located within a coherent theoretical framework that examines religion as a social response to human needs both the general needs shared by all and the desires specific to those who are denied the economic rewards or prestige enjoyed by the privileged By explaining the forms taken by religions today Stark and Bainbridge allow us to understand its persistence in a secular age and its prospects for the future This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1985 Religion is alive and well in the modern world and the social scientific study of religion is undergoing a renaissance For much of this century respected social theorists predicted the death of religion as inevitable consequence of science education

Becoming an Ex Helen Rose Fuchs Ebaugh, 2013-11-22 The experience of becoming an ex is common to most people in modern society Unlike individuals in earlier cultures who usually spent their entire lives in one marriage one career one religion one geographic locality people living in today's world tend to move in and out of many roles in the course of a lifetime During the past decade there has been persistent interest in these passages or turning points but very little research has dealt with what it means to leave behind a major role or incorporate it into a new identity Helen Rose Fuchs Ebaugh's pathbreaking inquiry into the phenomenon of becoming an ex reveals the profundity of this basic aspect of establishing an identity in contemporary life Ebaugh is herself an ex having left the life of a Catholic nun to become a wife mother and professor of sociology Drawing on interviews with 185 people Ebaugh explores a wide range of role changes including ex convicts ex alcoholics divorced people mothers without custody of their children ex doctors ex cops retirees ex nuns and perhaps most dramatically transsexuals As this diverse sample reveals Ebaugh focuses on voluntary exits from significant roles What emerges are common stages of the role exit process from disillusionment with a particular identity to searching for alternative roles to turning points that trigger a final decision to exit and finally to the creation of an identity as an ex Becoming an Ex is a challenging and influential study that will be of great interest to sociologists mental health counselors members of self help groups such as Alcoholics Anonymous and Parents Without Partners those in corporate settings where turnover has widespread implications for the organization and for anyone struggling through a role exit who is trying to establish a new sense of self
