Right and Turtles Can Fly:

The History of Genocide in Cinema Jonathan Friedman, William Hewitt, 2016-10-27 The organization Genocide Watch estimates that 100 million civilians around the globe have lost their lives as a result of genocide in only the past sixty years. Over the same period the visual arts in the form of documentary footage has aided international efforts to document genocide and prosecute those responsible but this book argues that fictional representation occupies an equally important and problematic place in the process of shaping minds on the subject. Edited by two of the leading experts in the field, The History of Genocide in Cinema analyzes fictional and semi-fictional portrayals of genocide focusing on amongst others the repression of indigenous populations in Australia, the genocide of Native Americans in the 19th century, the Herero genocide, Armenia, the Holodomor, Stalin's policy of starvation in Ukraine, the Nazi Holocaust, Nanking and Darfur. Comprehensive and unique in its focus on fiction films as opposed to documentaries, The History of Genocide in Cinema is an essential resource for students and researchers in the fields of cultural history, Holocaust studies and the history of film.

Children and Violence Bina D'Costa, 2016-10-04 Children's diverse experiences during periods of conflict, post-conflict and peacetime reveal that their roles in society and political communities are complex. Based on this premise, this book suggests that understanding children's roles involves a critical analysis of where the child is situated within her/his family, within socio-political networks and within the state. Through examining various case studies in South Asia, a region that is marked as much by its homogeneity as by its immense diversity, the book observes that significant tensions exist between universal and local approaches to childhood. It reflects how the development of international and national discourses on children's rights and protection is relevant to children's everyday lives in situations of conflict.

No Place for a War Baby Donna Seto, 2016-05-06 Donna Seto investigates why children born of wartime sexual violence are rarely included in post-conflict processes of reconciliation and recovery. The focus on children born of wartime sexual violence questions the framework of understanding war and recognizes that certain individuals are often forgotten or neglected. This book considers how children are neglected sites for the reproduction of global norms. It approaches this topic through an interdisciplinary perspective that questions how silence surrounding the issue of wartime sexual violence has prevented justice for children born of war from being achieved. In considering this, Seto examines how the theories and practices of mainstream International Relations (IR) can silence the experiences of war rape survivors and children born of wartime sexual violence and explores the theoretical frameworks within IR and the institutional structures that uphold protection regimes for children and women.

Forgetting Children Born of War Charli Carpenter, 2010-05-31 Sexual violence and exploitation occur in many conflict zones and the children born of such acts face discrimination, stigma and infanticide. Yet the massive transnational network of organizations working to protect war-affected children has for two decades remained curiously silent on the needs of this vulnerable population. Focusing specifically on the case of Bosnia Herzegovina, Charli Carpenter questions the framing of atrocity by human rights organizations and the limitations these narratives impose on their response She finds that human rights groups set their agendas according to certain grievances the claims of female rape victims or the complaints of aggrieved minorities for example and that these concerns can overshadow the needs of others Incorporating her research into a host of other conflict zones Carpenter shows that the social construction of rights claims is contingent upon the social construction of wrongs According to Carpenter this pathology prevents the full protection of children born of war

Ancestral Mindset John Daniel,2025-01-14 Ancestral Mindset by thought leader and human relations expert John Daniel offers deep insight into what motivates us and drives our actions and how we can use that information to better lead influence and collaborate at work and home If human evolutionary history were compressed into a single calendar year with our earliest ancestor arriving on January 1 our transition from hunter gatherers wouldn t occur until the end of December We were hunter gatherers for well over 90 percent of our collective history The key to understanding us is understanding the hunter gatherer neurocircuitry that crafted our human nature In Ancestral Mindset John Daniel traces the development of the human brain from the birth of our species and applies his insights to teach leadership and teamwork from an evolutionary neurological perspective Why is your fight or flight instinct on a hair trigger when the boss calls you in Why does receiving advice from a colleague induce a threat state Why does it feel so disproportionately risky to disagree with the team The answers to those questions lie in our collective past As a heart transplant recipient with decades of executive HR experience Daniel knows a thing or two about risk survival and human behavior from the operating room to the board room His unique personal story and voracious appetite for research have led to a text as potentially transformative as it is bursting with information If you are interested in upping your leadership game improving your relationships or just becoming more persuasive Ancestral Mindset will help you adapt from the brain down Access your inner hunter gatherer and transform your take on what motivates elevates and convinces It will make you a better leader a better employee and a better Homo sapiens to those around you

Right... and Turtles Can Fly! Debi Ogg, 2003-11 In the times in which we are living and in spite of the increased intelligence of humankind the false teachings and perversions of the word that Jesus and the Apostles warned about and the Prophets of old battled against have reared their ugly heads to a phenomenal degree erasing the boundaries on God's playing field throwing out God's laws and wringing His values from the fabric of humanity This book is written for Americans and ordinary Americans who are walking wounded suffering the consequences of false teachings from both sides of the pulpit The good news is to simply remember that God loves you and that's all you need
