Rise And Fall Of Culture History:

The Rise and Fall of Culture History R. Lee Lyman, Michael J. O'Brien, Robert C. Dunnell, 1997-06-30 This volume presents an insightful critical analysis of the culture history approach to Americanist anthropology Reasons for the acceptance and incorporation of important concepts as well as the paradigm's strengths and weaknesses are discussed in detail The framework for this analysis is founded on the contrast between two metaphysics used by evolutionary biologists in discussing their own discipline materialistic populational thinking and essentialistic typological thinking Employing this framework the authors show not only why the culture history paradigm lost favor in the 1960s but also which of its aspects need to be retained if archaeology is ever to produce a viable theory of culture change

Compass on the Ocean: Chinese Maritime Theory, History and Culture Guozhen Yang, 2024-11-09 This book is a theoretical study of China's maritime development and maritime humanities and social sciences as well as a study of China's maritime historiography. China is a large country with both land and sea rich in biodiversity and the ocean is an important environment for the Chinese nation to survive and thrive. In history the Chinese nation has developed its own maritime economy, maritime society and maritime humanistic model. As a natural body the ocean treats all littoral nations equally and it is neither open nor closed to any one of them. Due to the different maritime environments the ways the coastal nations adapt vary accordingly hence the maritime culture is characterized by plurality and diversity. The contacts and exchanges between maritime civilizations in history are riddled with misunderstandings, exclusions, conflicts and confrontations. Therefore it is necessary to develop dialogues among varied maritime civilizations of varied countries which as a result will develop together through mutual tolerance, seek common ground while shelving differences and extract the idea of maritime civilization for all mankind through mutual learning and complementing each other.
