Carl Cavanagh Hodge, 2016-11-25 This book is a comparative study of military operations conducted by modern states between the French Revolution and World War I It examines the complex relationship between political purpose and strategy on the one hand and the challenge of realizing strategic goals through military operations on the other It argues further that following the experience of the Napoleonic Wars military strength was awarded a primary status in determining the comparative modernity of all the Great Powers that military goals came progressively to distort a sober understanding of the national interest that a genuinely political and diplomatic understanding of national strategy was lost and that these developments collectively rendered the military and political catastrophe of 1914 not inevitable yet probable America's

Sailors in the Great War Lisle A. Rose, 2016-12-31 Honorable Mention 2016 Lyman Awards presented by the North American Society for Oceanic History This book is a thrillingly written story of naval planes boats and submarines during World War I When the U S entered World War I in April 1917 America's sailors were immediately forced to engage in the utterly new realm of anti submarine warfare waged on below and above the seas by a variety of small ships and the new technology of airpower The U S Navy substantially contributed to the safe trans Atlantic passage of a two million man Army that decisively turned the tide of battle on the Western Front even as its battleship division helped the Royal Navy dominate the North Sea Thoroughly professionalized the Navy of 1917-18 laid the foundations for victory at sea twenty five years later

The Politics of Strategic Adjustment Peter Trubowitz, Emily O. Goldman, Edward Rhodes, 1999 The contributors examine a century of American experience to illustrate how the United States determines its security policies While scholars have typically focused on outside factors such as international pressures constraints and opportunities this collection of essays shows that decisions about strategy are critically shaped by domestic politics political ideologies state structure and societal interest
