Norris, 1979-06-01 Provides useful sentences and phrases for travel or everyday living abroad giving the English phrase the Swedish equivalent and a transliteration      AfroSwedish Places of Belonging Nana Osei-Kofi, 2024-06-15 This is a work of cultural studies rooted in critical feminist thought that grapples with AfroSwedishness in relation to processes and experiences of racialization imagination of self and notions of belonging agency and kinship Nana Osei Kofi focuses on the function of diverse forms of critical cultural expressions paying particular attention to their liberatory public pedagogical potential Drawing from biographical narratives documentary film digital Black feminism and queer organizing Osei Kofi offers insights into the embodied affective and experiential processes through which the formation of an emergent AfroSwedish coalitional identity is made possible Through self reflexive structural and community based forms of exploration that resist binary oppositions AfroSwedish Places of Belonging asks what the nomenclature of AfroSwede AfroSwedish and AfroSwedishness brings into being what it makes possible and what this means for Swedish society from both a historical and a contemporary perspective This work brings together two identity categories that have historically been constructed as not only mutually exclusive but oppositional to detail the emergence of AfroSwedishness as a counterhegemonic and coalitional act AfroSwedishness Osei Kofi argues must be understood as a coalitional identity one made legible through kinship based community      The Concept of Meaninglessness Edward Erwin, 2019-12-01 Originally published in 1970 Many contemporary philosophers have thought that certain philosophic disputes could be settled by using the concept of meaninglessness To solve philosophic problems in this way however it seemed necessary to provide a reliable criterion for deciding when a particular sentence or statement is meaningless But devising such a criterion has proved to be very difficult In fact in recent years many philosophers have become quite skeptical about the adequacy of the standard criteria of meaninglessness Some of the more radical skeptics have even argued that the concept of meaninglessness as it is used by philosophers is itself defective and would be even if an adequate criterion could be found Professor Erwin in a systematic study of the concept of meaninglessness begins by examining the standard criteria of meaninglessness proposed by philosophers These criteria include operationalist verificationist and type or category criteria Each of these criteria he argues is inadequate Erwin then turns to the question What kinds of items if any should be said to be meaningless Most philosophers concerned with this question have claimed that only sentences not statements or propositions can be meaningless Erwin argues however that this is wrong statements and propositions can be meaningless Once this is demonstrated it can then be shown that the more radical skepticism about the philosophic use of the concept of meaninglessness is misguided In particular Erwin shows that the following assertions of the radical skeptic are false that what is meaningless is relative to a given language or to a given time and that the concept of meaninglessness forces us to condemn as nonsense metaphors comprehensible to competent speakers of English In his concluding chapter Erwin considers the implications of there not being any adequate general criterion of meaninglessness He then tries to show how the concept of meaninglessness when interpreted in the manner he suggests can be profitably used by philosophers despite the many persuasive objections to its use that philosophers have raised in their disputes over it
