Ontology Without Borders Jody Azzouni, 2017-07-20 Our experience of objects and consequently our theorizing about them is very rich We perceive objects as possessing individuation conditions They appear to have boundaries in space and time for example and they appear to move independently of a background of other objects or a landscape In Ontology Without Boundaries Jody Azzouni undertakes an analysis of our concept of object and shows what about that notion is truly due to the world and what about it is a projection onto the world of our senses and thinking Location and individuation conditions are our product there is no echo of them in the world Features the ways that objects seem to be aren't projections Azzouni shows how the resulting austere metaphysics tames a host of ancient philosophical problems about constitution Ship of Theseus

Sorities as well as contemporary puzzles about reductionism In addition it s shown that the same sorts of individuation conditions for properties which philosophers use to distinguish between various kinds of odd abstracta universals tropes and so on are also projections Accompanying our notion of an object is a background logic that makes cogent ontological debate about anything from Platonic objects to Bigfoot Contemporary views about this background logic quantifier variance make ontological debate incoherent Azzouni shows how a neutral interpretation of quantifiers and quantifier domains makes sense of both philosophical and pre philosophical ontological debates Azzouni also shows how the same apparatus makes sense of our speaking about a host of items Mickey Mouse unicorns Martians that nearly all of us deny exist It s allowed by what Azzouni shows about the background logic of our ontological debates as well as the semantics of the language of those debates that we can disagree over the existence of things like unicorns without that background logic and semantics forcing ontological commitments onto speakers that they don t have

Stylistic study of Virginia Woolf s fiction Reading a novel by Virginia Woolf involves an element of double reflexivity first the reader s interaction with Woolf s words and what they describe and second the interaction of these words with the world Woolf perceived and attempted to represent Oddvar Holmesland takes this paradox and shows that it is not the invention of recent critics but something of which Woolf herself is well aware In a number of analyses of Woolf s major works Mrs Dalloway To the Lighthouse The Waves he explores the ambiguity that Woolf s reader must work through in order to reach the insights and rewards that her fiction offers Professor ODDVAR HOLMESLAND is Professor of English at the University of Tromsø Norway
