

The background of the book cover is a close-up photograph of a man and a woman. The man, on the left, is wearing a dark suit jacket over a light-colored shirt. The woman, on the right, is wearing a dark, possibly black, dress. They are both looking down, and their faces are partially visible. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and shadows.

Sword and Scalpel Lorry Lutz,1990 Novel Stages Pratima Prasad,Susan McCready,2007 The essays in Novel Stages examine the myriad intersections between drama and the novel in nineteenth century France a period when the two genres were in constant engagement with one another The collection is unified by common intellectual concerns the inscription of theatrical esthetics within the novel the common practice among nineteenth century novelists of adapting their works for the stage and the novel's engagement with popular forms of theater The essays provide insight into a specific aspect of the relationship between the theater and the novel in the nineteenth century Their distinct perspectives form an overview of the literary landscape of nineteenth century France and demonstrate many ways in which all major nineteenth century French novelists including Hugo Flaubert Sand and Zola participated in the theatrical culture of their century Sword and Scalpel Frank G. Slaughter,1974-01-01 Sword and Scalpel Frank G. (Frank Gill) Slaughter,1958 The Academy and Literature ,1895 Purity and Contamination in Late Victorian Detective Fiction Christopher Pittard,2011 Concentrating on works by authors such as Fergus Hume Arthur Conan Doyle Grant Allen L T Meads and Marie Belloc Lowndes Christopher Pittard explores the complex relation between the emergence of detective fictions in the 1880s and 1890s and the concept of purity The centrality of material and moral purity as a theme of the genre Pittard argues both reflected and satirised a contemporary discourse of degeneration in which criminality was equated with dirt and disease and where national boundaries were guarded against the threat of the criminal foreigner Situating his discussion within the ideologies underpinning George Newnes Strand Magazine as well as a wide range of nonfiction texts Pittard demonstrates that the genre was a response to the seductive and impure delights associated with sensation and gothic novels Further Pittard suggests that criticism of detective fiction has in turn become obsessed with the idea of purity thus illustrating how a genre concerned with policing the impure itself became subject to the same fear of contamination Contributing to the richness of Pittard s project are his discussions of the convergence of medical discourse and detective fiction in the 1890s including the way social protest movements like the antivivisectionist campaigns and medical explorations of criminality raised questions related to moral purity
