uncanny fortune is displayed in every corner of her life Film Clowns of the Depression Wes D. Gehring, 2007-02-16 The 1930s are routinely considered sound film's greatest comedy era. Though this golden age encompassed various genres of laughter, clown comedy is the most basic type. This work examines the Depression decade's most popular type of comedy: the clown or personality comedian. Focusing upon the Depression era, the study filters its analysis through twelve memorable pictures. Each merits an individual chapter in which it is critiqued. The films are deemed microcosmic representatives of the comic world and discussed in this context. While some of the comedians in this text have generated a great deal of previous analysis, funnymen like Joe E. Brown and Eddie Cantor are all but forgotten. Nevertheless, they were comedy legends in their time, and their legacy, as showcased in these movies, merits rediscovery by today's connoisseur of comedy. Even this book's more familiar figures, such as Charlie Chaplin and the Marx Brothers, are often simply relegated to being recognizable pop culture icons whose work has been neglected in recent years. This book attempts to address these oversights and to re-expose the brilliance and ingenuity with which the screen clowns contributed a comic resiliency that was desperately needed during the Depression and can still be greatly appreciated today. The films discussed are: City Lights 1931, Chaplin; The Kid 1932, Chaplin; From Spain 1932, Cantor; She Done Him Wrong 1933, Mae West; Duck Soup 1933, Marx Brothers; Sons of the Desert 1933, Laurel and Hardy; Judge Priest 1934, Will Rogers; It's a Gift 1934, W. C. Fields; Alibi 1935, Brown; A Night at the Opera 1935, Marx Brothers; Modern Times 1936, Chaplin; Way Out West 1937, Laurel and Hardy; and The Cat and the Canary 1939, Bob Hope.

Birthing Outside the System Hannah Dahlen, Bashi Kumar-Hazard, Virginia Schmied, 2020-01-17 This book investigates why women choose birth outside the system and makes connections between women's right to choose where they birth and violations of human rights within maternity care systems. Choosing to birth at home can force women out of mainstream maternity care despite research supporting the safety of this option for low risk women attended by midwives. When homebirth is not supported as a birthplace option, women will defy mainstream medical advice and if a midwife is not available, choose either an unregulated care provider or birth without assistance. This book examines the circumstances and drivers behind why women nevertheless choose homebirth by bringing legal and ethical perspectives together with the latest research on high risk homebirth, breech and twin births, freebirth, birth with unregulated care providers, and the oppression of midwives who support unorthodox choices. Stories from women who have pursued alternatives in Australia, Europe, Russia, the UK, the US, Canada, the Middle East, and India are woven through the research. Insight and practical strategies are shared by doctors, midwives, lawyers, anthropologists, sociologists, and psychologists on how to manage the tension between professional obligations and women's right to bodily autonomy. This book, the first of its kind, is an important contribution to considerations of place of birth and human rights in childbirth. In Spite of Cancer Georgia Lucas, 2010-12 IN SPITE OF CANCER In spite of the gravity of this dreaded disease, this book is not sad. These cancer sufferers learned what they were living for and in some cases dying for, and that made all the difference in their lives and in the lives of loved ones who suffered with them. This
