

DAVID B. BARRETT, Schism and Renewal in Africa: An Analysis of Six Thousand Contemporary Religious Movements. Nairobi: Oxford University Press, 1969, xix + 363 pp., 65s.

This is an important and original treatment of its subject, and future studies, whether monographs or general surveys, will have to take good note of it. Dr. Barrett, who is an Anglican priest formerly of the Church of the Province of East Africa, has collected an enormous quantity of data on African independency and with industry and ingenuity has produced the first really adequate survey, over the whole continent, of a movement which is of the greatest importance in contemporary Africa. Dr. Barrett shows up the inadequacy of many of the usual unicausal explanations, and offers us many striking insights; but the value of his book does not rest on his central theoretical explanation which is, I believe, quite inadequate.

Since 1862 there have been 5,000 recorded independent religious movements among nearly 300 African peoples, and independency is both coming to involve new peoples, and increasing its adherents where it already exists. Barrett's aim is to discover the underlying cause of a movement without precedent in Christian history which he believes must be considered as 'organic'. That the basic cause must be a shared and general one is the questionable metaphysical assumption that underlies the whole argument.

Taking as his basic unit the tribe-within-the-nation (so that, for example, the Ewe of Ghana and Togo count separate), he constructs a scale of proneness to independency using 18 variables drawn from 30 national and 70 tribal variables in Murdock's Human Relations Area Files. The variables are: (1) is the tribe Bantu? (2) is the political system large (i.e. over 115,000)? (3) is polygamy prevalent? (4) is there an ancestor cult? (5) is there an earth goddess? (6) have there been over 100 years of colonial rule? (7) are there White settlers on tribal land? (8) is national per capita income over £25. p.a.? (9) have there been over 100 years of missions? (10-13) concerning the availability of parts and the whole of the Scriptures; (14-17) concerning the extent of Protestantism, Catholicism, and negatively, Islam; (18) is there independency in a neighbouring tribe? This measures the 'zeitgeist' or proneness to independency. With 0-5 factors present it is absent, 6-7 marginal, 8-12 under strain, 13-18 inevitable; all tribes in this category, which includes the Kongo, Sotho, Zulu, Ganda, Yoruba, Ibibio, Fanti etc., have independent churches in profusion. Despite reservations about the validity of some of the data (I find it inexplicable that the Ijebu Yoruba have a stated zeitgeist-value of 8, while the Ekiti and Oyo Yoruba are given 13; there are no Yorubas more prone to independency than the Ijebu), it cannot be doubted that in a rough-and-ready way the zeitgeist-scale is a predictor of both the emergence, and the continued growth of independency.

But the variables must not only correlate with independency; the relationship is only comprehensible if it makes sense in causal terms. It is quite credible that independency should become more likely as the depth of Christian penetration, measured by numbers of adherents or Scripture-availability in the vernacular, increases; or as there are more causes of tension between modernity or European missionaries and/or settlers and traditional culture. But why the Bantu variable (which has in fact the third highest correlation of .50)? 'Bantu' is only a linguistic category. Barrett offers three possibilities: the peculiar psychology and 'genius for religion' of the 'Bantu race', or the failure of the missions to adapt to it, or some quite accidental unknown attribute of Bantu-speaking peoples—such as their being, on the whole, distant from Muslim influence, or subject to European settlers. Even with such variables as the presence of

African Spirituality, Politics, and Knowledge Systems Toyin Falola, 2022-03-10 Focusing on the three leading religious traditions in Africa African Traditional Religion Islam and Christianity this book shows how belief in the supremacy of sacred words compels actions and influences practices in contemporary Africa Sacred words are taken to mean holy texts as in divination the Quran and the Bible Toyin Falola evaluates how religious leaders engage with sacred words both orals and texts engendering practices that reveal the expression of religious beliefs the impact of those beliefs and the knowledge contained in them Attention is given to the key ideas in the words chosen by religious leaders and how they form a continuous knowledge system impacting the politics of managing society and people Wolaitta Evangelists E. Paul Balisky, 2009-09-01 This study presents the religious dynamics of the Wolaitta Kale Heywet Church in southern Ethiopia from 1937 to 1975 On the basis of detailed research from within southern Ethiopia E Paul Balisky demonstrates that the indigenous extension of the Wolaitta Christian movement into southern Ethiopia through the instrumentality of her evangelists helped Wolaitta regain her own religious center and subsequent identity after centuries of various forms of colonialism and imperialism Wolaitta Evangelists broadens one's understanding of how an imported model of Christianity provided religious answers to the ideals of a particular Ethiopian society and continues to motivate her members to evangelize The evangelists who went to people of similar culture and worldview were successful in effecting social change To ethnic groups who had moved beyond their former primal religions and to those of disparate culture the evangelists were those who scattered the seed and impacted the religious social economic and political life of southern Ethiopia Wolaitta Evangelists tells the story of how missionary activity played a role in Wolaitta once again becoming a people African Initiative and Inspiration in the East African Revival Daewon Moon, 2022-09-12 The East African Revival is a fascinating historical example of the significant role indigenous agency can play in creating a new Christian spirituality African revivalists initiated the spread of the movement employing creative practices such as public testimony and fellowship meetings to sustain the effects of conversion experiences Daewon Moon integrates theological and sociological analyses of conversion with interviews and personal narratives that express insiders perspectives As active agents in the multiethnic and multicultural movement African revivalists articulate through their words and changed lives what it means to be saved African Feminist Theology and Baptist Pastors' Wives in Malawi Molly Longwe, 2019-05-09 This book presents a story of the experiences of being church of the pastors wives within the Baptist Convention of Malawi BACOMA Formed in 1970 out of the missionary endeavours of the North American based Southern Baptist Convention SBC BACOMA is a voluntary national association of Baptist churches Molly Longwe's book presents a concise picture of African Feminist Theology and to relates it to the lived experiences of pastors wives in the Baptist Convention of Malawi The Bible in Folklore Worldwide Eric Ziolkowski, 2023-12-31 The Bible in Folklore Worldwide a two volume illustrated Handbook provides readers with original studies of the reception of the Bible in the folklores of different cultures around the world This second volume focuses on biblically derived characters tales and motifs in Asian African Oceanic and American cultures Pentecostalism, Catholicism, and the Spirit in the World Stan Chu Ilo, 2019-10-17 This volume's essays are an ecumenical ensemble of the best scholars and leading practitioners in the Pentecostal and Charismatic movements from all four corners of the world. The contributors bring together various denominational perspectives and dialogue for understanding the present momentum of these Spirit movements in the world church. Their diverse methodologies transverse the traditional and new approaches to studying these movements. Pointing the way forward, the authors highlight some of the lessons learned in their scholarly engagement with Spirit movements. These lessons offer significant insight and viewpoints for the academy in the historical analysis of these movements. They also serve as a good guide for pastoral discernment and accompaniment for God's people in their daily lives as well as for social ministries in the world church. This volume addresses questions of salvation and eschatology, health and healing, prosperity and poverty, suffering and death, fear and faith, despair and hope. Other topics include the conflict between charism and institution and the tension between cultic clericalism and the affirmation and use of the gifts and talents of lay members of Christ's faithful in the church.

Religious Conversion: An African Perspective Carmody, Brendan, 2018-09-17 Religious Conversion: An African Perspective includes a selection of key texts which are not easily accessible elsewhere. Most of the chapters discuss the long-standing thesis of Robin Horton who argues that religious change results from social transformation. The contributors provide different perspectives on what remains an ongoing provocative though inconclusive debate. The book has chapters on conversion in Africa from such authorities as Robin Horton, Humphrey Fisher, and Richard Gray. It also contains chapters on Zambia by Elizaebeth Colson, Brendan Carmody, Austin Cheyeka, Felix Phiri, and W. Van Binsbergen. This collection of chapters provides an introduction to the discussion surrounding the query: Did the Christian and Muslim messages bring something fundamentally new to the African religious horizon? What has indigenisation meant? What is the role of traditional religion?

Ancestor Christology Cletus Chukwuemeka Nwaogwugwu, 2011-01-07 The study of the application of the title ancestor to Christ permits the author to delve into the Christological reflection in Africa today through one of the principal ways at play here: the inculturation of the faith, which cannot be fully achieved without a process of theological assimilation of the fundamental parameters in the African life. The thesis therefore is not only limited to a mere description of the contemporary panorama in that respect but attempts to offer a theological evaluation of the real expressive capacity of the title as it has been proposed. The criterion used is therefore double. In the first place, the thesis tried to show that the human and the divine natures of Jesus Christ can be maintained in such a way that there is no rupture with the great tradition of the Christological councils. In the second place, if it is capable of responding to demands of Christology from above and from below. In all this, however, the horizon of the debate is not occidental exegetical investigation, well known by the author, but from the theological ambient of the sub-Saharan world. The conclusion is positive, pondering the terms involved. The work can be of great use in the christological endeavors of contemporary Africa as well for those who desire to delve into it Don Alfonso Carrasco Rouco director of the thesis and now Bishop of the Diocese of Lugo Spain The work of Don Cletus Chukwuemeka contains a clear description of what we may call African traditional religiosity as well as the theological efforts to inject Christianity into this cultural and religious tradition The central point of these efforts revolves around the understanding of Christ The most original aspect of this work is in the critical recourse to the figure of the ancestor or proto ancestor to present the identity of Christ in a way that is faithful to the Church tradition and at the same time significant for the religious and cultural tradition of Africa Dr Don Gerardo del Pozo Abejn Censor of the thesis RELIGIOUS SYNCRETISM IN AFRICAN CHRISTIANITY ISAAH OLUWAJEMIRIYE

OLATOYAN,2024-04-18 Christianity among the African people whether on the soil of Africa or in diaspora is perceived and defined differently by different people For instance among African traditional religious people and Muslims Christianity is a foreign religion that must not be allowed to thrive in Africa To several Africans who profess Jesus Christianity is good but it is not adequate and effective enough to handle all human needs Still among some Western Christians and missionaries African Christianity is superficial and lacks total commitment to Christ Of course the Africans are a cultural people with profound religious inclinations Their traditional religion ATR has tremendously shaped their worldviews and socioeconomic and political activities Consequently when traditional Africans are converted to Christianity they do not break ties with their traditional religions completely The examination of relevant biblical texts on syncretism however reveals that God condemns the worship of many gods and places a curse on anyone who offers sacrifices to carved images and bows to them in worship Therefore this work investigates the root cause of religious syncretism among African people In the attempt to find answers to why the average African Christian finds it difficult if not impossible to abandon his her traditional religious belief systems completely to embrace Christianity the author concludes that unless the issues surrounding the African forgotten and secret covenants are exposed and decisively addressed in the light of biblical teaching syncretism will continue to be a stigma on the fabric of African Christianity Therefore to overcome the threats of syncretism in African Christianity there is a need to establish a sound theological and missiological framework that can address the problems associated with the African worldviews and belief systems This task must be carried out under the searchlight of Scriptures Multiplying in the Spirit Ezra Chitando,Masiwa Ragies Gunda,Joachim Kügler,2014-10-30 Legitimation in the Letter to the Hebrews Iutisone Salevao,2002-07-01 This book adopts an inter disciplinary approach to the study of the theology symbolism and argument of Hebrews Employing sociological models the book examines Hebrews in the context of the early Christians construction and maintenance of a social world In that respect the book elaborates the thesis that Hebrews was designed to serve a legitimating function in the realm of social interaction that its theology symbolism and argument were designed to construct and maintain the symbolic universe of the community of the readers It is argued that we cannot properly understand the theology symbolism and argument of Hebrews apart from its first century context Christian Remnant - African Folk

Church Stefan Höschele, 2007-11-30 The growth of Christianity in Africa during the twentieth century is one of the most fascinating shifts in the history of religions This book presents a history of the Tanzanian Seventh day Adventist Church which is representative of this shift in many respects slow beginnings struggles over cultural issues the emergence of a unique church life combining denominational heritage and African elements frictions with governments and the development of popular theology Yet Tanzanian Adventism also exemplifies an important phenomenon which has been given little attention so far the transformation of minority denominations to dominant religions This study breaks new ground in analyzing how the Adventist remnant developed into an African folk church while attempting to remain true to its original ethos

Disabling Mission, Enabling Witness Benjamin T. Conner, 2018-07-03 How would it look if we disabled Christian theology discipleship and theological education Benjamin Conner initiates a new conversation between disability studies and Christian theology and missiology imagining a church that fully incorporates persons with disabilities into its mission In this vision people with disabilities are part of the church s pluriform witness and the congregation embodies a robust hermeneutic of the gospel
