Scholars Saints And Sufis Muslim Religious Institutions Since 1500:

Scholars, Saints, and Sufis Nikki R. Keddie, 1972 Middle East officially Near East Scholars, Saints and Sufis Nikki R. Keddie, 1983-01-01 Scholars, Saints, and Sufis Nikki R. Keddie, 1978 An Islamic Reformation? Michaelle Browers, Charles Kurzman, 2004-01-01 This book brings together scholars with expertise in modern Islamic thought and practice to evaluate the claim that we are witnessing something tantamount to an Islamic Reformation by assessing the character and impact of various reformist trends in the Middle East and North Africa Each chapter also addresses the question of the appropriateness and usefulness of comparisons between Christian and Islamic or Western and Eastern reformations

Islam, Secularism, and Liberal Democracy Nader Hashemi, 2009-04-02 Islam's relationship to liberal democratic politics has emerged as one of the most pressing and contentious issues in international affairs Nader Hashemi challenges the widely held belief among social scientists that religious politics and liberal democratic development are structurally incompatible While there are certainly tensions between religion and democracy the two are not irreconcilable Liberal democracy requires a form of secularism to sustain itself yet the main political cultural and intellectual resources that Muslim democrats can draw upon are religious How can this paradox be reconciled Hashemi makes three principal arguments First in societies where religion is a key marker of identity the road to liberal democracy must pass through the gates of religious politics The process of democratization therefore cannot be artificially de linked from debates about the normative role of religion in government Secondly while liberal democracy requires secularism religious traditions are not born with an inherent secular and democratic conception of politics These ideas must be developed and in an emerging democracy how they are developed is critical Finally Hashemi argues that there is an intimate relationship between religious reformation and political development While the first often precedes the second these processes are deeply interlinked Democratization does not require a privatization of religion but it does require a reinterpretation of religious ideas that are conducive to liberal democracy By engaging in this reinterpretation religious groups can play a central role in the development and consolidation of democracy

Islam Secularism and Liberal Democracy argues for a rethinking of democratic theory so that it incorporates the variable of religion in the development of liberal democracy In the process it proves that an indigenous theory of Muslim secularism is not only possible but is a necessary requirement for the advancement of liberal democracy in Muslim societies

Women In Islam- Exploring New Paradigms Moin Qazi, 2015-01-01 Women in Islam Exploring new Paradigms is a revolutionary book that explores the vast literature and canonical texts on the rights of Muslim women The author argues that the revelation of Qur'an marked a watershed in the history of Muslim women It empowered them in several ways If women are oppressed today it is on account of factors extrinsic to Islam had the true intent of the Qur'an been followed there would have been gender equality but this true intent was undermined by Arabian patriarchal practices and by imports from surrounding egalitarian civilizations He believes that the solution lies not in reforming but in rediscovering Islam Differences regarding gender status are attributed primarily to the way the Qur'an has been predominantly interpreted especially in the shari'a holy law

Recognizing Islam Michael Gilsenan, 2013-06-03 Islam is more than a set of laws, rites and beliefs presented as a religious and social totality. As a word, it covers a multitude of everyday forms and practices that are interwoven in complex, sometimes almost invisible ways in daily existence. Drawing exclusively on his own fieldwork in Egypt, South Arabia and the Lebanon, the author explores the nature of Islam and its impact on the daily lives of its followers; he shows that all the Western stereotypes of Islam and its practitioners need to be treated with considerable scepticism. He demonstrates also that the understanding of Islam is dependent on recognizing a variety of class tensions and oppositions within an Islamic society. These have become all the more crucial in recent years with the growth of a capitalist economy in which the forms and functions of the state have expanded considerably. This study focuses on the social and cultural divisions between very different groups and classes ranging from the working masses of Cairo to the new bourgeoisie of Algeria and Morocco. The accent of the book is on the forms and transformations of Islam within these different societies. The impact of colonialism is discussed in this context and reformist and radical Islamic movements are analyzed in relation to shifting structures in class and society at large. First published in 1982

Islam in Modern Turkey Sukran Vahide, 2012-02-16 Islam in Modern Turkey presents one of the most comprehensive studies in English of the seminal Turkish thinker and theologian Bediüzzaman Said Nursi (1876-1960). A devout Muslim who strongly believed in peacefully coexisting with the West, Nursi inspired a faith movement that has played a vital role in the revival of Islam in Turkey and now numbers several million followers worldwide. While Nursi's ideas have been afforded considerable analysis, this book is the first to situate these ideas and his related activities in their historical contexts. Based on the available sources and Nursi's own works, here is a complete and balanced view of this important theologian's life and thought.

Iran's First Revolution Mangol Bayat, 1991-11-14 In order to understand Iran's religious revolution of 1978-1979, it is important to look closely at an earlier revolution in the country: the constitutional revolution of 1905-1909. This revolution, which resulted in the establishment of Iran's first parliamentary democracy, was a seminal event in the country's history. The most thorough and comprehensive history of the revolution to date, Bayat's book examines the uneasy alliance of clerical, bureaucratic, landowning and mercantile elements that won the support of the masses for a more democratic government, especially the clerical dissidents that gave the revolution an aura of religious legitimacy. Bayat argues that the recent religious revival in Iran is much less surprising when one sees how constitutionalists at the beginning of the century had to couch their calls for reform in the language of the Koran, claiming that political reforms constituted a return to Islam.

O ye Gentlemen: Arabic Studies on Science and Literary Culture Arnoud Vrolijk, Jan Hogendijk, 2007-10-31 O ye Gentlemen explores two vital strands in Arabic culture: the Greek tradition in science and philosophy and the literary tradition. They are permanent and though drawing on Islam as a dominant religion, they are by no means dependent on it. That the strands freely

interweave within the broader scope of Schrifttum is shown by more than thirty essays on subjects as varied as the social organisation of bees spontaneous generation in the Shi'ite tradition astronomy in the Arabian nights the benefits of sex precious stones in a literary text the virtue of women in Judaeo Arabic stories animals in Middle Eastern music and the transmission of Arabic science and philosophy to the medieval West

Schooling Islam Robert W. Hefner, Muhammad Qasim Zaman, 2010-12-16 Since the Taliban seized Kabul in 1996 the public has grappled with the relationship between Islamic education and radical Islam Media reports tend to paint madrasas religious schools dedicated to Islamic learning as medieval institutions opposed to all that is Western and as breeding grounds for terrorists Others have claimed that without reforms Islam and the West are doomed to a clash of civilizations Robert Hefner and Muhammad Qasim Zaman bring together eleven internationally renowned scholars to examine the varieties of modern Muslim education and their implications for national and global politics The contributors provide new insights into Muslim culture and politics in countries as different as Morocco Egypt Pakistan India Indonesia Iran and Saudi Arabia They demonstrate that Islamic education is neither timelessly traditional nor medieval but rather complex evolving and diverse in its institutions and practices They reveal that a struggle for hearts and minds in Muslim lands started long before the Western media discovered madrasas and that Islamic schools remain on its front line Schooling Islam is the most comprehensive work available in any language on madrasas and Islamic education

Dreams, Sufism and Sainthood Katz, 2018-08-14 Based on Muhammad al-Zaww's extraordinary diary of 109 dream conversations with the Prophet Muhammad this study provides a rare intimate view of 15th century North African Muslim life The study reconstructs Zaww's life story over a critical ten year period and examines his career as a sufi in the historical context of North Africa and Mamluk Cairo Psychological aspects of Zaww's religious experience are thoroughly explored The concluding chapter provides an introduction to the role of dreams and visions in medieval Islam Particular attention is paid to the way Zaww and his successors used their visions to legitimate claims to being awliya or living saints

Religious Resurgence and Politics in the Contemporary World Emile Sahliyah, 1990-08-14 This book examines the highly politicized religious groups and movements that have surfaced since the late 1970s in the United States Central America South Africa the Philippines India and the Middle East Sahliyah and others analyze this trend toward the politicization of religious conservatism and question a number of assumptions central to concepts of modernization For example it has been assumed by development theorists that the interrelated components of modernization would enhance the trend toward secularization of societies This book shows that in many societies today religious revivalism and fundamentalism seem to be direct products of modernization A global comparative approach is utilized to formulate general explanations for religious revivalism and its implications for modernization development and politics

Contending Visions of the Middle East Zachary Lockman, 2010 This second edition considers how the global war on terror has changed the way the West views the Islamic world

The New Cambridge History of Islam: Volume 2, The Western Islamic World, Eleventh to Eighteenth Centuries Maribel Fierro, 2010-11-04 Volume 2 of The New Cambridge History of Islam is devoted to the history of the Western Islamic lands from the political fragmentation of the eleventh century to the beginnings of European colonialism towards the end of the eighteenth century The volume embraces a vast area from al Andalus and North Africa to Arabia and the lands of the Ottomans In the first four sections scholars all leaders in their particular fields chart the rise and fall and explain the political and religious developments of the various independent ruling dynasties across the region including famously the Almohads the Fatimids and Mamluks and of course the Ottomans The final section of the volume explores the commonalities and continuities that united these diverse and geographically disparate communities through in depth analyses of state formation conversion taxation scholarship and the military

The ^APoliticization of Islam Kemal H. Karpat, 2001-05-03 Combining international and domestic perspectives this book analyzes the transformation of the Ottoman Empire over the nineteenth and twentieth centuries It views privatization of state lands and the increase of domestic and foreign trade as key factors in the rise of a Muslim middle class which increasingly aware of its economic interests and communal roots then attempted to reshape the government to reflect its ideals

Muslim Travellers Dale F. Eickelman, James Piscatori, 2013-11-05 Pilgrimage travel for learning visits to shrines exile and labour migration shape the religious imagination and in turn are shaped by it Some travel such as pilgrimage explicitly intended for religious purposes has equally important economic and political consequences Other travel not primarily motivated by religious concerns and thus neglected by many scholars nonetheless profoundly influences religious symbols metaphors practices and senses of community These studies encompassing Muslim societies from Malaysia to West Africa also suggest how encounters with Muslim others have been as important in shaping community self definition as encounters with European others This volume brings together historians social scientists and jurists concerned with pilgrimage scholarly travel and migration in both medieval and contemporary Muslim societies and explores basic issues Can Muslim travel be regarded as a distinct form of social action What role does religious doctrine play in motivating travel and how do doctrinal interpretations differ across time and place What are the strengths and limitations of various approaches to understanding the transnational and local significance of pilgrimage migration and other forms of travel An image of Muslim tradition and change in local communities in relation to travel emerges which competes with the myth of the universality of the Islamic community Politics and Religion in the Modern World George Moyser,2002-11 First published in 2004
