Natural Helping Networks:

Natural Helping Networks Alice H. Collins,Diane L. Pancoast,1976 Social Support Networks James K.

Whittaker,James Garbarino, This book offers for the first time a clear conception of what social support networks are why they are important how they are identified and sustained where they fit in an overall framework of human services and their limits and potential in selected fields of practice Individual chapters explore child adolescent and family services daycare and early childhood development divorced and stepfamilies schools delinquency prevention and treatment mental health service to the elderly development disabilities healthcare and health promotion and drug treatment The use of social support networks extended family friends neighbors and other informal helpers is an idea whose time has come in the human services field At a time when spiraling costs and popular sentiment weigh against any major expansion of services it is apparent that a service strategy based primarily on the notion of professional helping delivered on a case by case basis usually in a one to one relationship has serious limitations Professional response to this major work has been uniformly positive The editors have assembled a book of considerable importance brilliant in both scholarship and construction will appeal to a broad readership Gerald Euster University of South Carolina offers a much needed balance to the focus on individual and internal dynamics which has characterized social work education for several decades Eleanor Reardon Tolson University of Chicago Social Support Networks is a valuable contribution a unique original and authoritative book an exciting timely and definitely practice oriented book with a strong theoretical and research base Anthony N Maluccio University of Connecticut James K Whittaker is professor of social work at the University of Washington A former childcare worker therapist and administrator in residential childcare he has been a consultant to governmental and voluntary children s agencies throughout the United States James Garbarino is Elizabeth Lee Vincent Professor of Human Development in the College of Human Ecology at Cornell University He was president of the Erikson Institute for Advanced Study in Child Development Chicago Illinois from 1985 to 1994 He is the co author of Troubled Youth Troubled Families also available from AldineTransaction Natural Helping Networks Alice H. Collins,Diane L. Pancoast,1976 Relational Social Work Fabio Folgheraiter,2004 In this innovative book Fabio Folgheraiter presents a systematic introduction to networking and reflexive practice in social work The text explores how the interested parties in social care can acquire a shared power in care planning and decision making and that when this networking occurs the efficacy of caring initiatives increases Encyclopedia of Canadian Social Work Francis J. Turner,2006-01-01 All of us as Canadians are touched throughout our lives by some aspect of social welfare either as recipients donors or taxpayers But despite the importance of the social network in our country there has been no single source of information about this critical component of our society Even professionals in the field of social work or social services have not had a comprehensive volume addressing the myriad features of this critical societal structure The Encyclopedia of Canadian Social Work fills this need Over five hundred topics important to Canadian social work are covered written by a highly diverse group of social workers covering all aspects of the field and all areas of the country Practitioners policy makers academics social advocates researchers students and administrators present a rich overview of the complexity and diversity of social work and social welfare as it exists in Canada The principal finding from this project underscores the long held perception that there is a Canadian model of social work that is unique and stands as a useful model to other countries The Encyclopedia of Canadian Social Work will be an important source of information both to Canadians and to interested groups around the world The Encyclopedia of Canadian Social Work is available in e book version by subscription or from university and college libraries through the following vendors Canadian Electronic Library Ebrary MyiLibrary and Netlibrary It Starts with People Hank Resnik,1978 Rural Social Work T. Laine Scales,Calvin L. Streeter,H. Stephen Cooper,2013-07-03 A thoughtful text integrating strengths assets and capacity building themes with contemporary issues in rural social work practice Now in its second edition Rural Social Work is a collection of contributed readings from social work scholars students and practitioners presenting a framework for resource building based on the strengths assets and capacities of people a tool essential for working with rural communities This guide considers methods for social workers to participate in the work of sustaining rural communities Each chapter features a reading integrating the themes of capacity building and rural social work discussion questions that facilitate critical thinking around the chapter and suggested activities and assignments Rural Social Work Second Edition explores Important practice issues in rural communities including the challenges of working with stigmatized populations such as gay lesbian bisexual and transgendered people the homeless and people living with HIV AIDS Practice models that hold special promise for rural social workers including evidence based practice and community partnership models Newer research tools such as asset mapping social network analysis concept mapping and Geographic Information Systems GIS Exploring how social workers can integrate the tremendous resources that exist in rural communities into their practice Rural Social Work Second Edition provides a solid introduction to the complex challenging and rewarding work of building and sustaining rural communities Report to the President from the President's Commission on Mental Health, 1978: Appendices United States. President's Commission on Mental Health,1978 Child Mental Health Practice from the Ecological Perspective Richard L. Munger,1991 The ecological perspective is a contextual approach which works at the interface between families and the broader ecology or ecosystem of the child the approach is not new but has not been widely adopted due to the lack of illustrative material available for practitioners Through an approach more descriptive and explanatory than empirical the author shows the clinician or other child care professional why the child s environment is crucial and provides techniques to draw people in the child s environment into the healing process Neighborhood Networks for Humane Mental Health Care Arthur J. Naparstek,David E. Biegel,Herzl R. Spiro,2012-12-06 It is hard to think of a more timely and topical major contribution than Drs Naparstek Biegel Spiro and collaborators have provided in this volume Their penetrating comprehensive study and field tests give us mapping toward the goal of reifying the concept of community as applied to human services. The book will prove invaluable to those at the policy level: legislators, planners, and administrators. It will serve as an essential reference for community workers, professional providers, natural helpers, and citizens as a whole. A salient ideal of New Federalism placing governance as close to the people as practicable seems a prophetic match with the model of Neighborhood Empowerment. As the authors point out, conventional wisdom has seemed to offer government regulation, control, and program evaluation as a panacea package for improving human services. This work suggests a radically different approach: specifically, a shift to greater instrumental involvement of the richly variegated mosaic of American neighborhoods combined with a system of excellent high technology service agencies. Certainly genuine efforts have been made before toward a true linkage of the community with human services. The Great Society programs with their emphasis on citizen involvement and maximum feasible participation established the foundation for legitimate citizen-consumer linkage with the program process. Yet in so many instances the results fell far short of expectations.

Support Networks in a Caring Community J.A. Yoder, J.M.L. Jonker, R.A.B. Leaper, 2012-12-06. The historic Binnenhof seat of the Dutch government in The Hague provided the setting January 1985 for a conference in which participants from eleven countries met to consider the theme: Support networks in a caring community: research and policy fact and fiction. At the outset, conference leadership provided by Professors J.M.L. Jonker (The Netherlands) and R.A.B. Leaper (United Kingdom) urged the conferees not to allow their enthusiasm for informal support networks to combine with the pervasive awareness of the failures of welfare states into a simplistic stance of advocacy with a consequent appeal to politicians to direct state funds accordingly. Legitimate criticisms of the responses of welfare states to the needs of citizens were to be seen as the context for discussion, not the substance of conference deliberations. More specifically, if it is now apparent to many people that governmental assistance of individuals with social needs can lead to an undesirable dependency on the part of increasingly passive citizens, that awareness does not lend logical support to an ideological position that governmental expenditures are pernicious per se to be replaced as rapidly as possible by a return to reliance on self, family, friends, and associations that are developed voluntarily and financed by those who are sufficiently interested.

Primary Prevention Practices Martin Bloom, 1996-03-26. Intended for use by students in the helping professions as well as by practitioners and researchers in the field, Primary Prevention Practices offers step-by-step procedures on how to use more than 50 techniques of prevention practice.

Stress And The Family Hamilton I McCubbin, Charles R. Figley, 2014-06-17 First published in 1983 This is Volume 1 of two in a collection of on stress and the family The books view the family as both producing and reacting to stress and attempt to identify the sources of stress from either inside or outside the family microsystem Further the volumes distinguish between sudden unpredictable and overwhelming catastrophic stress and the more normal gradual and cumulative life stressors encountered over the life span Moreover the series brings into focus several rich perspectives which effectively integrate the hundreds of generalizations about the functional and dysfunctional methods family members use to cope with stress

The Social Basis of Community Care (Routledge Revivals) Martin Bulmer, 2015-06-11 Care for the elderly disabled and mentally ill within and by the community forms a vital part of current social policy Martin Bulmer argues that this policy is inadequately thought out and rests on a series of poorly founded sociological assumptions As a result there is a vacuum at the heart of government's social care policy which is likely to lead to ineffective or deteriorating provision for those in need This book first published in 1987 will be essential reading for all those concerned with the organization and delivery of social care whether as students practitioners or teachers It will be particularly useful for courses dealing with social policy the personal social services and the social context of social work

Human Behavior Theory Roberta R. Greene, Nancy Kropf, 2017-07-12 As American society becomes increasingly diverse social workers must use a variety of human behavior frameworks to understand their clients culturally complex concerns This text applies specific human behavior theories to diversity practice They show how human behavior theory can be employed in interventions in the life problems of diverse client populations at the individual group social network and societal levels Several groups are examined They include minority groups ethnic groups women older adults members of certain social classes affected by economic and educational disadvantage especially those living in poverty people with developmental disabilities people of varying sexual and gender orientations and religious groups Case studies that illustrate social work practice in the area are highlighted The case studies include Social Work Practice within a Diversity Framework The Social Work Interview Symbolic Interactionism Social Work Assessment Meaning and Language Erikson's Eight Stages of Development Role Theory and Social Work Practice A Constructionist Approach Risk Resilience and Resettlement Addressing Diverse Family Forms Small Group Theory Natural Social Networks Power Factors in Social Work Practice This volume will be a fundamental resource for practitioners and an essential tool for training

Social Work Treatment Francis J. Turner, 2011-03-15 First published in 1974 Social Work Treatment remains the most popular and trusted compendium of theories available to social work students and practitioners It explores the full range of theoretical approaches that drive social work treatment and knowledge development from psychoanalysis to crisis intervention This treasure trove of practice knowledge equips professionals with a broad array of theoretical approaches each of which shine a spotlight on a different aspect of the human condition Emphasizing the importance of a broad based theoretical approach to practice it helps the reader avoid the pitfalls of becoming overly identified with a narrow focus that limits their understanding of clients and their contexts This sweeping overview of the field untangles the increasingly complex problems ideologies and value sets that define contemporary social work practice The result is an essential A to Z reference that charts the full range of theoretical approaches available to social workers regardless of their setting or specialty
