On Nature Daniel Halpern, 1987 A collection of twenty four essays by writers concerned with nature and natural history including Italo Calvino Howard Ensign Evans Robert Finch Joyce Carol Oates and Edward Hoagland

Landscape Perspectives Marc Antrop, Veerle Van Eetvelde, 2018-01-09 Climb a mountain and experience the landscape Try to grasp its holistic nature Do not climb alone but with others and share your experience Be sure the ways of seeing the landscape will be very different We experience the landscape with all senses as a complex dynamic and hierarchically structured whole The landscape is tangible out there and simultaneously a mental reality Several perspectives are obvious because of language culture and background Many disciplines developed to study the landscape focussing on specific interest groups and applications Gradually the holistic way of seeing became lost This book explores the different perspectives on the landscape in relation to its holistic nature We start from its multiple linguistic meanings and a comprehensive overview of the development of landscape research from its geographical origins to the wide variety of today s specialised disciplines and interest groups Understanding the different perspectives on the landscapes and bringing them together is essential in transdisciplinary approaches where the landscape is the integrating concept

The Nature of Landscape Han Lörzing, 2001

The Nature of Landscape Design: as an Art Form, a Craft, a Social Necessity Nan Fairbrother, 1974

Health and Natural Landscapes Alan Ewert, Denise Mitten, Jillisa Overholt, 2021-06-29 Natural landscapes are intricately tied to human health and well being While contemporary lifestyles have caused people to feel disconnected from the natural environment this relationship is now recognized as vitally important with landscapes increasingly valued for their stress reduction aesthetic and restorative benefits Providing an overview of the history theoretical concepts and individual and societal implications of human connection to natural landscapes this book considers natural landscapes role as an antidote to our modern predominantly urban society

Wellbeing and Self-Transformation in Natural Landscapes Rebecca Crowther, 2018-09-20 This book explores how natural landscapes are linked to positive mental wellbeing While natural landscapes have long been represented and portrayed as transformative the link to mental wellbeing is an area that researchers are still aiming to comprehend Accompanying five groups of people to rural Scotland the author considers individual external and group motivations for journeying from urban environments examining in what ways these excursions are personally and socially transformative Far more than traversing mere physical boundaries this book illustrates the new challenges experiences territories and cultures provided by these excursions firmly anchored in the Scottish countryside In doing so the author questions the extent to which people s own narratives link to the perception that the outdoors are positively transformative and what indeed does have the power to influence transformation Grounded in extensive qualitative research this contemplative and ethnographic book will be of interest and value to students and scholars of the outdoors and its connection to wellbeing

Landscape Experiences as a Cultural Ecosystem Service in a Nordic Context: Concepts, Values and Decision-making Rasmus Reinvang, Marianne Zandersen, Henrik Lindhjem, 2015 Cultural ecosystem services in the form of experiences derived from landscapes are potentially important but often overlooked Given the large and unprecedented landscape changes many of the Nordic countries are undergoing there is a need to find ways of including people s preferences and the value of landscape impacts in policy assessments and decision making processes The project aim has been to synthesize knowledge about the magnitude and value of landscape experiences and investigate current practices and examples of how landscape impacts are incorporated or not in policy assessments and decision making contexts in the Nordics The literature demonstrates potentially high unaccounted welfare loss from landscape change We find clear weaknesses in current practices that a second phase will try to address The project was carried out by Vista Analysis in Oslo and Department of Environmental Science at Aarhus University from 2014-15

Development and Perspectives of Landscape Ecology O. Bastian, Uta Steinhardt, 2002 The book gives a fundamental representation of landscape ecology which proves to be a young but an interesting and very important trans disciplinary science for the solution of environmental problems Both the theoretical basis and practical application of landscape ecology are considered Great value is attached to describe approaches and experiences from Germany and Central Europe and to discuss them in an international context The book is addressed to landscape planners managers conservationists and architects to biologists and geographers to colleges universities authorities and to the general public being interested in ecological issues Among the themes are e.g. the roots and the position of landscape ecology problems of scale and dimension landscape analysis diagnosis potentials evaluation change prognosis tools like remote sensing and information systems spatial planning and nature conservation

Fire, Native Peoples, and the Natural Landscape Thomas Vale, 2013-04-16 For nearly two centuries the creation myth for the United States imagined European settlers arriving on the shores of a vast uncharted wilderness Over the last two decades however a contrary vision has emerged one which sees the country s roots not in a state of pristine nature but rather in a human modified landscape over which native peoples exerted vast control Fire Native Peoples and the Natural Landscape seeks a middle ground between those conflicting paradigms offering a critical research based assessment of the role of Native Americans in modifying the landscapes of pre European America Contributors focus on the western

United States and look at the question of fire regimes the single human impact which could have altered the environment at a broad landscape scale and which could have been important in almost any part of the West Each of the seven chapters is written by a different author about a different subregion of the West evaluating the question of whether the fire regimes extant at the time of European contact were the product of natural factors or whether ignitions by Native Americans fundamentally changed those regimes An introductory essay offers context for the regional chapters and a concluding section compares results from the various regions and highlights patterns both common to the West as a whole and distinctive for various parts of the western states The final section also relates the findings to policy questions concerning the management of natural areas particularly on federal lands and of the naturalness of the pre European western landscape

Landscape Ecology in Asian Cultures Sun-Kee Hong,Jianguo Wu,Jae-Eun Kim,Nobukazu Nakagoshi,2010-12-25 Cultural landscapes are a product of the interactions between humans and natural settings They are landscapes and seascapes that are shaped by human history and land use Socioeconomic processes especially but also environmental changes and natural disturbances are some of the forces that make up landscape dynamics To understand and manage such complex landscapes interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary approaches are necessary emphasizing the integration of natural and social sciences and considering multiple landscape functions The spatial patterns of Asian landscapes are strongly related to human activities and their impacts Anthropogenic patterns and processes have created numerous traditional cultural landscapes throughout the region and understanding them requires indigenous knowledge Cultural landscape ecology from a uniquely Asian perspective is explored in this book as are the management of landscapes and land use policies Human dominated landscapes with long traditions such as those described herein provide useful information for all ecologists not only in Asia to better understand the human environmental relationship and landscape sustainability

Landscape and the Ideology of Nature in Exurbia K. Valentine Cadieux,Laura Taylor,2013-05-07 This book explores the role of the ideology of nature in producing urban and exurban sprawl It examines the ironies of residential development on the metropolitan fringe where the search for nature brings residents deeper into the world from which they are imagining their escape of Federal Express technologically mediated communications global supply chains and the anonymity of the global marketplace and where many of the central features of exurbia very low density residential land use monster homes and conversion of forested or rural land for housing contribute to the very problems that the social and environmental aesthetic of exurbia attempts to avoid The volume shows how this contradiction to live in the green landscape and to protect the green landscape from urbanization gets caught up and represented in the ideology of nature and how this ideology in turn constitutes and is constituted by the landscapes being urbanized

Western Impressions of Nature and Landscape in Southeast Asia Victor R. Savage,1984

Visions of Nature Riyan J. G. van den Born,W. T. de Groot,Rob H. J. Lenders,2006 Visions of nature are the ideas that people hold of what nature is and how we should relate to it These visions are important for the design of democratically grounded landscape and nature policies These contributions were presented at an expert meeting at Radboud University June 2001 The Nature of Landscape Samuel Latta Kingan,1920 Modelling Nature-based Solutions

New Cultural Landscapes Maggie Roe,Ken Taylor,2014-01-21 While historical and protected landscapes have been well studied for years the cultural significance of ordinary landscapes is now increasingly recognised This groundbreaking book discusses how contemporary cultural landscapes can be and are created and recognised The book challenges common concepts of cultural landscapes as protected or special landscapes that include significant buildings or features Using case studies from around the world it questions the usual measures of judgement related to cultural landscapes and instead focuses on landscapes that are created planned or simply evolve as a result of changing human cultures management policy and practice Each contribution analyses the geographical and human background of the landscape and policies and management strategies that impact upon it and defines the meanings of cultural landscape in its particular context Taken together they establish a new paradigm in the study of landscapes in all forms Nature Policies and Landscape

Policies Roberto Gambino,Attilia Peano,2014-11-11 The book focuses on the relationship between nature conservation policies and landscape policies This is a relevant subject due to the current need of reviving nature conservation policies which are today affected by a general effectiveness deficiency To this end landscape policies can play a crucial role bridging nature and culture fostering more integrated approaches to nature conservation and stimulating the active participation of local communities The book gathers reflections researches and experiences developed on an international level on this subject by experts coming from different international contexts Europe U S A various disciplinary backgrounds geographers planners biologists historians jurists economists etc and several institutional bodies Universities administrative bodies international organizations such as IUCN EUROPARC Federation UNESCO etc The overall reflections gathered in the book which is divided in three main sections regulations and institutional frameworks policies actions and tools combine to suggest innovative visions about the relationships between nature policies and landscape policies
