The Essential Nature of New Testament Preaching Robert H. Mounce, 2005-12-01 This book makes plain that the man in the pulpit occupies a position of unrivaled significance in the life and destiny of his fellow man. It concerns the kerygma or, as Professor A. M. Hunter of King's College Aberdeen states in the Foreword, the preached Gospel which the first heralds of Christ proclaimed to the great pagan world of their day. That Gospel, which after nineteen centuries remains the Word from the Beyond for our human predicament. It tells what the Proclamation really was and how it runs like a golden thread through the whole New Testament. Dr. Mounce introduces his study with a survey of related terms as they appear in classical Greek. He proceeds to show the role of the herald in the life and culture of the Old Testament world through a careful investigation of the Septuagint and more importantly gives a detailed analysis of the nature of preaching as it occurs in the New Testament itself. The closing chapter forcibly demonstrates that true Christian preaching has ever been and always should be the medium through which God contemporizes His historic self-disclosure in Christ and offers man the opportunity to respond in faith. As a study of the heart of the joyful message that the first heralds of Christianity proclaimed, this book breaks fresh ground for a new understanding of the vital significance of preaching.

The Nature of Biblical Criticism John Barton, 2007-01-01 Biblical criticism faces increasing hostility on two fronts from biblical conservatives who claim it is inherently positivistic and religiously skeptical and from postmodernists who see it as driven by the falsities of objectivity and neutrality In this magisterial overview of the key factors and developments in biblical studies John Barton demonstrates that these evaluations of biblical criticism fail to do justice to the work that has been done by critical scholars over many generations Traditional biblical criticism has had as its central concern a semantic interest a desire to establish the plain sense of the biblical text which in itself requires sensitivity to many literary aspects of texts Therefore he argues biblical criticism already includes many of the methodological approaches now being recommended as alternatives to it and further the agenda of biblical studies is far less fragmented than often thought
