Navajo Education in Action Robert A. Roessel, 1977 The Rough Rock Demonstration School Robert A. Roessel, 1977 American Indian Education, 2nd Edition Jon Reyhner, Jeanne Eder, 2017-11-02 Before Europeans arrived in North America Indigenous peoples spoke more than three hundred languages and followed almost as many distinct belief systems and lifeways But in childrearing the different Indian societies had certain practices in common including training for survival and teaching tribal traditions The history of American Indian education from colonial times to the present is a story of how Euro Americans disrupted and suppressed these common cultural practices and how Indians actively pursued and preserved them American Indian Education recounts that history from the earliest missionary and government attempts to Christianize and civilize Indian children to the most recent efforts to revitalize Native cultures and return control of schools to Indigenous peoples Extensive firsthand testimony from teachers and students offers unique insight into the varying experiences of Indian education Historians and educators Jon Reyhner and Jeanne Eder begin by discussing Indian childrearing practices and the work of colonial missionaries in New France Canada New England Mexico and California then conduct readers through the full array of government programs aimed at educating Indian children From the passage of the Civilization Act of 1819 to the formation of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in 1824 and the establishment of Indian reservations and vocation oriented boarding schools the authors frame Native education through federal policy eras treaties removal assimilation reorganization termination and self determination Thoroughly updated for this second edition American Indian Education is the most comprehensive single volume account useful for students educators historians activists and public servants interested in the history and efficacy of educational reforms past and present Pedagogies and Curriculums to (Re)imagine Public Education Encarna Rodríguez, 2015-06-04 This book discusses current market based educational discourses and how they have undermined the notion of the public in public education by allowing private visions of education to define the public democratic imagination Against this discouraging background this text embraces Freire's understanding of hope as an ontological need and calls for finding new public grounds for our public imagination It further articulates Freire's mandate to unveil historically concrete practices to sustain democratic educational visions no matter how difficult this task may be by 1 presenting an in-depth description of the pedagogies and curriculums of eleven schools across historical and geographical locations that have worked or are still working with disenfranchised communities and that have publicly hoped for a better future for their students and by 2 reflecting on how the stories of these schools offer us new opportunities to rethink our own pedagogical commitment to public visions of education To promote this reflection this book offers the notion of publicly imagined public education as a conceptual tool to help understand the historical and discursive specificity of schools' hopes and to re-claim public schools as legitimate sites of public imagination American Indian Education Jon Reyhner, Jeanne Eder, 2015-01-07 In this comprehensive history of American Indian education in the United States from colonial times to the present historians and educators Jon Reyhner and Jeanne Eder explore the broad spectrum of Native experiences in missionary government and tribal boarding and day schools This up to date survey is the first one volume source for those interested in educational reform policies and missionary and government efforts to Christianize and civilize American Indian children Drawing on firsthand accounts from teachers and students American Indian Education considers and analyzes shifting educational policies and philosophies paying special attention to the passage of the Native American Languages Act and current efforts to revitalize Native American cultures A History of Navajo Nation Education Wendy Shelly Greyeyes,2022-03-01 A History of Navajo Nation Education Disentangling Our Sovereign Body unravels the tangle of federal and state education programs that have been imposed on Navajo people and illuminates the ongoing efforts by tribal communities to transfer state authority over Din education to the Navajo Nation On the heels of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Department of Din Education this important education history explains how the current Navajo educational system is a complex terrain of power relationships competing agendas and jurisdictional battles influenced by colonial pressures and tribal resistance An iron grip of colonial domination over Navajo education remains thus inhibiting a unified path toward educational sovereignty In providing the historical roots to today s challenges Wendy Shelly Greyeyes clears the path and provides a go to reference to move discussions forward Self-Determination and the Social Education of Native Americans Guy B. Senese,1991-06-19 Self determination a crucial conceptual development in American Indian social and educational policy and the force behind current Indian policy programs is critically analyzed in this volume by a scholar educator who has worked closely with Native Americans Guy B Senese explores the wide gulf between the rhetoric and the reality of self determination in contemporary Native American education an area that has received little scrutiny by students of American education policy Senese contends that many aspects of Native American self determination policy work against the full realization of that policy and are in fact contradictory Arguing that self determination is not a unified coherent policy moving toward more community and tribal self government and economic self help Senese makes a strong case for his theory that the policy has been a vehicle to promote a smooth transition toward a termination of the tribal federal relationship This book is an excellent addition to the developing literature that questions the pluralist assumptions of the late twentieth century liberal progressive social policy Each of the volume s three parts addresses a basic assumption of Native American social education policy Part I shows how self determination policy grew as a response to the moral requirements of reservation development in a political climate of American patriotism Part II shifts the focus more directly to schooling including a discussion of the concept of community control and the 1975 Self Determination and Educational Assistance Act The concluding section analyzes the dialogue that resulted from the fragmentation of Native Americans who were divided over the meaning of self determination How the concepts of trust and sovereignty have created grounds for the expropriation of the meaning of self determination is also explored This volume s

analysis of American Indian social and educational policy makes it required reading in the areas of Ethnic Studies Educational Policy Studies Ethnohistory and Sociology of Education The work is an important addition to the Education and Ethnic Studies collections of public and university libraries Transforming Diné Education Pedro Vallejo, Vincent Werito, 2022-03-29 Transforming Din Education honors the perspectives and voices of Din educators in culturally relevant education special education Din language revitalization well being tribal sovereignty self determination in Din education and university tribal community partnerships The contributors offer stories about Din resilience resistance and survival by articulating a Din centered pedagogy and politics for future generations Blood Struggle Charles F. Goodwin, 2022-03 Without Destroying Ourselves is an intellectual history of Native activism seeking greater access to and control of higher education in the twentieth century John A Goodwin traces themes of Henry Roe Cloud s Ho Chunk vision for Native intellectual leadership and empowerment in the early 1900s to the later missions of tribal colleges and universities TCUs and education based self determination movements of the 1960s onward Vital to Cloud s work was the idea of how to build from Native identity and adapt without destroying that identity As the central themes of the movement for Native control in higher education developed over the course of several decades a variety of Native activists carried Cloud s vision forward Goodwin explores how Elizabeth Bender Cloud Ojibwe D Arcy McNickle Salish Kootenai Jack Forbes Powhatan Renap Delaware Lenape and others built on and contributed to this common thread of Native intellectual activism Goodwin demonstrates that Native activism for self determination was never snuffed out by the swing of the federal government s pendulum away from tribal governance and toward termination Moreover efforts for Native control in education remained a vital aspect of that activism Without Destroying Ourselves documents this period through the full accreditation of TCUs in the late 1970s and reinforces TCUs continuing relevance in confronting the unique needs and challenges of Native communities today Indian Education: a National Tragedy, a National Challenge United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Labor and Public Welfare. world a cultural identity linked to their homelands through ancestral memory The Earth Memory Compass traces this tradition as it is imparted from generation to generation and as it has been transformed and often obscured by modern modes of education An autoethnography of sorts the book follows Farina King s search for her own Din identity as she investigates the interconnections among Navajo students their people and Din Bik yah or Navajo lands across the twentieth century In her exploration of how historical changes in education have reshaped Din identity and community King draws on the insights of ethnohistory cultural history and Navajo language At the center of her study is the Din idea of the Four Directions in which each of the cardinal directions takes its meaning from a sacred mountain and its accompanying element East for instance is Sis Naajin Blanca Peak and white shell West Dook o oos d San Francisco Peaks and abalone North Dib Nitsaa Hesperus Peak and black jet South Tsoodzi Mount Taylor and turquoise King elaborates on the meanings and teachings of the mountains and directions throughout her book to illuminate how Navajos have embedded memories in landmarks to serve as a compass for their people a compass threatened by the dislocation and disconnection of Din students from their land communities and Navajo ways of learning Critical to this story is how inextricably Indigenous education and experience is intertwined with American dynamics of power and history As environmental catastrophes and struggles over resources sever the connections among peoplehood land and water King s book holds out hope that the teachings guidance and knowledge of an earth memory compass still have the power to bring the people and the earth together The Native American Almanac: A Portrait of Native America Today Arlene B.
