Global Great Depression and the Coming of World War II John E. Moser, 2015-11-17 The Global Great Depression and the Coming of World War II demonstrates the ways in which the economic crisis of the late 1920s and early 1930s helped to cause and shape the course of the Second World War Historian John E Moser points to the essential uniformity in the way in which the world's industrialized and industrializing nations responded to the challenge of the Depression Among these nations there was a move away from legislative deliberation and toward executive authority away from free trade and toward the creation of regional trading blocs away from the international gold standard and toward managed national currencies away from chaotic individual liberty and toward rational regimentation in other words away from classical liberalism and toward some combination of corporatism nationalism and militarism For all the similarities however there was still a great divide between two different general approaches to the economic crisis Those countries that enjoyed easy unchallenged access to resources and markets the United States Great Britain the Soviet Union and France tended to turn inward erecting tariff walls and promoting domestic recovery at the expense of the international order On the other hand those nations that lacked such access Germany and Japan sought to take the necessary resources and markets by force The interplay of these powers then constituted the dynamic of international relations of the 1930s have nots attempting to achieve self sufficiency through aggressive means challenging haves that were too distrustful of one another and too preoccupied with their own domestic affairs to work cooperatively in an effort to stop them

June 1940, Great Britain and the First Attempt to Build a European Union Andrea Bosco,2016-06-22 June 2016 represents a significant moment in British history The decision to leave the European Union at the most critical period since its existence could bring unpredictable and far reaching consequences both for the United Kingdom and the Union itself June 1940 was also a turning point in British history On the afternoon of 16 June a few hours before the French Government opted for the capitulation Churchill made on behalf of the British Government an offer of indissoluble union When a sceptical Churchill put forward to the British Cabinet the text of the declaration drafted by Jean Monnet Sir Arthur Salter and Robert Vansittart he was surprised at the amount of support it received The Cabinet adopted the document with some minor amendments and de Gaulle who saw it as a means of keeping France in the war telephoned Reynaud with the proposal for an indissoluble union with joint organs of defence foreign financial and economic policies a common citizenship and a single War Cabinet The proposal however never reached the table of the French Government The spirit of capitulation embodied in Weygand and P tain prevailed and France submitted herself to the German will for the second time in seventy years After the Munich crisis Great Britain had to face the danger of another European war with the inevitable loss of the Empire and it was at this point that the country first began to favour the application of the federalist principle to Anglo French relations In this conversion to federalism a fundamental role was played by the Federal Union the first federalist movement organised on a popular basis The contribution of Federal Union to the development of the federal idea in Great Britain and Europe was to express and organise the beginning of a new political militancy and it represented the first step of a historical process the overcoming of the nation State the modern political formula which institutionalises the political division of mankind This study principally examines the first eighteen months of the Federal Union during which time it was able to raise itself to the attention of the general public and the political class as the heir of the League of Nations Union The research is based on extensive unpublished archival material found across the globe from London Oxford Brighton and Edinburgh to Washington Paris and Geneva

Ideology and the Rationality of Domination Gerhard Wolf, 2020-06-09 This well researched clear and convincing historical study examines the ideology and politics of Germanization during the WWII occupation of Poland Nicholas Stargardt author of The German War Following the brutal invasion and occupation of Poland the Nazis moved swiftly to realize one of their key ideological aims the expansion of German living space This involved deporting Jews bringing in German settlers and establishing an evaluation process that separated Poles from ethnic Germans As simple as this might have seemed initially the various parts of the German occupation machinery were soon embroiled in a bitter fight about the essence of Germanness and how to identify a German In this illuminating study Gerhard Wolf reveals an astonishing development in which a more inclusive understanding of Germanness based on the notion of Volk won out against an exclusive definition based on Rasse As Wolf demonstrates this decision paved the way for turning three million Poles into German citizens Parallel to the mass deportation and murder of Christian Poles and the genocide of Jewish Poles the Nazis paradoxically also presided over the largest forced assimilation program in German history Students and scholars of the Second World War the Holocaust and Nazism will find new analysis of German imperialism ethnic cleansing and genocide in this important book

The Explorer's Roadmap to National-Socialism Sarah K. Danielsson,2016-03-16 Whilst terms such as Lebensraum are commonly associated with National Socialist ideology of the 1930s and 40s ideas of racial living space were in fact generated in the previous decades by an international geographic community of explorers and academics Focusing on one of the most influential figures within this group Sven Hedin this is the first study that systematically connects the geographic community to the intellectual history of the development of National Socialist ideology and genocidal practices The book demonstrates how colonial racial and nationalistic policies were often spearheaded by explorers and geographers such as Hedin In Germany Britain France and Russia their positions as publicly recognized authors and reputable academics made them highly influential with politicians Whilst this influence was to become most visible within Hitler s Germany the debates were not by any means restricted to or even originated in Germany Germany was the home of some of the most prominent geographers but this scientific community had a tradition of international debate and exchange with especially British French and Russian geographic societies and institutions Many issues that were later discussed and championed by National Socialist ideology were aired and debated in this international setting raising important questions about the international character and impact of National Socialism Tracing the intellectual history of the international geographic community and its relationship to National Socialism this study provides an assessment of Hedin s close involvement with the Nazi elite as a culmination of decades of political and scientific work In so doing the book uncovers a long ignored or overlooked important connection between exploration geographers and genocide
