Martin Wallen, 2017-09-01 The intriguing question in the title comes from an inscription on the collar of a dog Alexander Pope gave to the Prince of Wales When Pope wrote the famous couplet I am his Highness Dog at Kew Pray tell me Sir whose Dog are You the question was received as an expression of loyalty That was an era before there were dog breeds and not coincidentally before people were generally believed to develop affectionate bonds with dogs This interdisciplinary study focuses on the development of dog breeds in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries Beginning with the Foxhound the first modern breed it examines the aesthetic political and technological forces that generate modern human canine relations These forces have colluded over the past two hundred years to impose narrow descriptions of human canine relations and to shape the dogs physically into acceptable and recognizable breeds The largest question in animal studies today how alterity affects human animal relations cannot fully be considered until the two approaches to this question are understood as complements of one another one beginning from aesthetics the other from technology Most of all the book asks if we can engage with dogs in ways that allow them to remain dogs A Dog For The Job Noreen Clark, 2022-07-01 Noreen Clark has Ownership Destroying the Lives of Americans? Carole Wade, 2004-06-29 Ms Wade's subject is timely and provocative. Her quotes are from publications which reflect the urgency of today's growing number of pet parents who eat, sleep, and bathe with their dogs. The Pet Industry thrives on the triumph of dog ownership. Dogs flood every television and print advertisement. See a television ad for a car. See a dog. See a written ad for menopausal medication. See a dog with a woman. The overpowering Fifty Billion Dollars a Year Pet Industry has transformed advertising by capitalizing on the lonely dog owner's pocketbook.
