Ode Arcadia:

The House That Jack Built Jack Spicer, 2011-07-21 The House That Jack Built collects for the first time the four historic talks given by controversial poet Jack Spicer just before his early death in 1965. These lively and provocative lectures function as a gloss to Spicer's own poetry, a general discourse on poetics, and a cautionary handbook for young poets. This long-awaited document of Spicer's unorthodox poetic vision, what Robin Blaser has called the practice of outside, is an authoritative edition of an underground classic. Peter Gizzi's afterword elucidates some of the fundamental issues of Spicer's poetry and lectures, including the concept of poetic dictation, which Spicer renovates with vocabularies of popular culture, radio, Martians, and baseball; his use of the California landscape as a backdrop for his poems; and his visual imagination in relation to the aesthetics of west coast funk assemblage. This book delivers a firsthand account of the contrary and turbulent poetics that define Spicer's ongoing contribution to an international avant-garde. "The Real Thing" William Baker, 2013-05-24 With a writing career spanning over half a century and encompassing media as diverse as conferences, radio, journalism, fiction, theatre, film, and television, Tom Stoppard is probably the most prolific and significant living British dramatist. The critical essays in this volume, celebrating Stoppard's 75th birthday, address many facets of Stoppard's work, both the well-known such as Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead and Shakespeare in Love, as well as the relatively critically neglected, including his novel Lord Malquist and Mr. Moon and his short stories The Story, Life Times, Fragments, and Reunion. The essays presented here analyze plays such as Arcadia, The Invention of Love, The Real Thing, and Jumpers; Stoppard's film adaptation of J.G. Ballard's Empire of the Sun; his television adaptation of Ford Madox Ford's Parade's End; and his stage adaptations of Chekhov's plays Ivanov, The Seagull, and The Cherry Orchard, as well as his own theatrical trilogy on Russian history, The Coast of Utopia, Voyage, Shipwreck, and Salvage. Also included is an interview with Tom Stoppard on the 16 November 1982 debut of his play The Real Thing at Strand Theatre, London, and a detailed account of the Stoppard holdings in the Harry Ransom Center at the University of Texas at Austin. From his fascination with Shakespeare and other historical figures and time periods to his exploration of the connection between poetic creativity and scholarship, to his predilection for word play, verbal ambiguity, and use of anachronism, Stoppard's work is at once insightful and wry, thought-provoking and entertaining, earnest and facetious. The critical essays in this volume hope to do justice to the brilliant complexity that is Tom Stoppard's body of work. United States of America V. The Odes of Horace Steele Commager, 1995 In The Odes of Horace, Steele Commager examines the odes with particular attention both to their language and structure and to the effect a poem is intended to or does produce. Horace's conciseness and apparent clarity, phrase by phrase, tempt us into believing that there is an equally concise and clear meaning to be assigned to a poem or even to his thought as a whole. Yet Horace has no systematic philosophy to impart; his poems record only an imaginative apprehension of the world. Each ode is a calculated assault on our sensibilities, a deliberate invasion of our consciousness Only by yielding to each in its entirety can we momentarily share Horace's vision The Odes, Epodes, and Carmen Seculare of Horace Horace, 1741 Gardens and Academies in Early Modern Italy and Beyond Denis Ribouillault, 2024-10-21 This collection of essays explores the role of gardens in early modern academies and conversely the place of what might be called academic culture in early modern gardens While studies of botanical gardens have often focused on their association with a research institution the intention of this book is deliberately broader seeking to explore the interconnections between the built environment of the early modern garden and the more or less organised social and intellectual life it supported As such the book contributes to the intersection of several fields of research garden history literary history architectural history and socio-political history and considers the garden as a site of performance that requires an intermedial approach California.
