Bressers,Walter A. Rosenbaum,2003-12-30 Bressers Rosenbaum and their contributors analyze what until recently has been among the least examined issues implicit in the growing global discourse about sustainable development the creation of institutions and processes for effective governance of sustainability policies The creation and endurance of governance institutions capable of implementing sustainability policies is in fact fundamental for any viable conception of sustainable development The analyses focus not only on how societies can organize but on how they do organize to overcome such daunting obstacles in the Netherlands the Northwest United States Costa Rica Madagascar Senegal and the European Union The writers focus particularly upon the special problem embedded in the sustainability paradigm that of organizing governance across scales that is to say across and between geographic political ecological or other social levels in a sustainable regime In recent years the scale problem has emerged as a major and enlarging concern as international efforts proliferate to implement various sorts of sustainability policies The analyses focus not only on how societies can organize but on how they do organize to overcome such daunting obstacles The analyses place considerable emphasis upon the history and lessons to be learned from ongoing efforts to achieve such governance in several diverse international settings including the Netherlands the Northwest United States Costa Rica Madagascar Senegal and the European Union

The Implementation and Effectiveness of International Environmental Commitments David G. Victor, Kal Raustiala, Eugene B. Skolnikoff, 1998 Because environmental problems do not respect borders their solutions often require international cooperation and agreements The contributors to this book examine how international environmental agreements are put into practice Their main concern is effectiveness the degree to which such agreements lead to changes in behavior that help to solve environmental problems Their focus is on implementation the process that turns commitments into action at both domestic and international levels Implementation is the key to effectiveness because these agreements aim to constrain not just governments but a wide array of actors including individuals firms and agencies whose behavior does not change simply because governments have made international commitments The book is divided into two parts Part I looks at international systems for implementation review through which parties share information review performance handle noncompliance and adjust commitments Part II looks at implementation at the national level with particular attention to participation by governmental and nongovernmental actors and to problems in states with economies in transition The book includes fourteen case studies that cover eight major areas of international environmental regulation conservation and preservation of fauna and flora stratospheric ozone depletion pollution in the Baltic Sea pollution in the North Sea trade in hazardous chemicals and pesticides air pollution in Europe whaling and marine dumping of nuclear waste Contributors Steinar Andresen Juan Carlos di Primio Owen Greene Ronnie Hjorth Vladimir Kotov John Lanchbery Elena Nikitina Kal Raustiala Alexei Roginko Jon Birger Skj rseth Eugene B Skolnikoff Olav Schram Stokke David G Victor J rgen Wettestad Copublished with the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis

Pollution Control in United States J. Clarence Davies, 2014-04-04 Pollution control a key component of U S environmental policy has made important progress in recent decades Yet important problems remain and there is need for improvement in the pollution control regulatory system This book is the most extensive evaluation of that system ever produced It reveals many strengths and accomplishments but also illustrates serious shortcomings and the need for reform The volume emerges from three years of research on a fragmented system of institutions statutes and procedures that is often inefficient and ineffective hobbled by misplaced priorities Part I provides an in depth description of this system centered on the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the labyrinthine laws it must implement The authors evaluate the federal legislation administrative decisionmaking and the state federal division of labor that defines the system Davies and Mazurek assess the effectiveness and efficiency of U S pollution control They discuss the performance of U S laws and regulations in comparison with those of other nations assess the ability of the U S pollution control system to meet future problems and consider proposals for reform and repair Within this far reaching analysis they include criteria that are often overlooked by policymakers and analysts including social values equity nonintrusiveness and public participation Environmental Economics and Investment Assessment K. Aravossis, 2006 The current emphasis on sustainable development is a consequence of the general awareness of the need to solve numerous environmental problems resulting from our modern society This book addresses the topic of Investment Assessment and Environmental Economics in an integrated way in accordance with the principles of sustainability considering social and environmental impacts of new investments Bringing together papers from the First International Conference on Environmental Economics and Investment Assessment papers encompass topic areas such as Economy and the Environment Investment Planning and Assessment Environmental Economics and Entrepreneurship Environmental Investment Planning Sustainable Environmental Management Environmental Impact Assessments and Investments Environmental Performance Indicators Environmental Management Systems Legislation and Law Enforcement Cost Benefits Analysis Natural Resources Management Social Issues and Environmental Policies Risk Management in Environmental Investment Location Optimization
