Of Places:

Visual and Linguistic Representations of Places of Origin Maria Pia Pozzato, 2017-12-05 This book is about the representations both visual and linguistic which people give of their own places of origin It examines the drawings of interviewees who were asked to draw their own place of origin on a white A3 sheet using pencil or colour according to their choice If they were born in a place they did not remember because they moved in when they were very small they could draw the place they did remember as the scenario of their early childhood The drawings are examined from three different perspectives semiotics cognitive psychology and geography The semiotic instruments are used to describe how each person reconstructs a complex image of his/her childhood place and how they translate their own memories from one language to another e.g. from drawing to verbal story trying to approach what they want to express in the best possible way The cognitive psychological point of view helps clarify the emotional world of the interviewees and their motivations during the process of reconstruction and expression of their childhood experiences The geographical conceptualizations concern a cultural level and provide insight into the cartographic models that inspire the maps people drew One of the main findings was the influence from cultural codes as demonstrated in the fact that most of the US students interviewed drew their maps showing considerable cartographic expertise in comparison to their European counterparts The Origin and History of Irish Names of Places Patrick Weston Joyce, 1869 Places and Politics in an Age of Globalization Roxann Prazniak, Arif Dirlik, 2001-02-07 This ambitious work provides a unique statement on the question of place based activism and its relationship to powerful forces of international capital Arguing that specific places around the world are sites for the defense and enhancement of daily life in the context of rapidly expanding global technologies and investment options the contributors reach for a vision of social development that supports sustainable humane cultures Bringing together the local and the global this work provides the first sustained linkage of ethnic groups in diaspora to macrocosmic processes of world capital that inevitably reach down to mediate even the most local experiences The essays ranging in their discussion of place from Los Angeles and New York to New Zealand and Indonesia offer both reasoned argument and authoritative information on how local experience interacts with larger processes of global capital and the diasporic phenomenon The book will be an invaluable resource and launching point for scholars and students in ethnic and identity studies and will interest all readers exploring the production of place and identification The Capability of Places Sandra Wallman, 2011-08-04 How can we assess the ability of a place to respond to challenges like migration recession and disease Places which seem similar can respond very differently and with varying degrees of success to external threats and to the interventions designed to manage them In this magisterial work drawing on decades of research Sandra Wallman explores how we can measure and compare the resilience of communities looking in detail at neighbourhoods in London Rome and Zambia Each locale is examined as a system which is more or less open or closed open systems tend to be more resilient when faced with external challenges As well as being a fascinating study in its own right the book includes detailed accounts of the research methods used as well as a user friendly typology for classifying local systems making it an invaluable tool for students researchers and policy makers In Place/out of Place

Tim Cresswell, 1996 In Place Out of Place was first published in 1996 Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions What is the relationship between place and behavior In this fascinating volume Tim Cresswell examines this question via transgressive acts that are judged as inappropriate not only because they are committed by marginalized groups but also because of where they occur In Place Out of Place seeks to illustrate the ways in which the idea of geographical deviance is used as an ideological tool to maintain an established order Cresswell looks at graffiti in New York City the attempts by various hippie groups to hold a free festival at Stonehenge during the summer solstices of 1984 86 and the Greenham Common Women's Peace Camp in Berkshire England In each of the cases described the groups involved were designated as out of place both by the media and by politicians whose descriptions included an array of images such as dirt disease madness and foreignness Cresswell argues that space and place are key factors in the definition of deviance and conversely that space and place are used to construct notions of order and propriety In addition whereas ideological concepts being expressed about what is good just and appropriate often are delineated geographically the transgression of these delineations reveals the normally hidden relationships between place and ideology in other words the out of place serves to highlight and define the in place By looking at the transgressions of the marginalized Cresswell argues we can gain a novel perspective on the normal and taken for granted expectations of everyday life The book concludes with a consideration of the possibility of a politics of transgression arguing for a link between the challenging of spatial boundaries and the possibility of social transformation Tim Cresswell is currently lecturer in geography at the University of Wales Sense of Place and

Sense of Planet Ursula K. Heise, 2008-09-29 Sense of Place and Sense of Planet analyzes the relationship between the imagination of the global and the ethical commitment to the local in environmentalist thought and writing from the 1960s to the present Part One critically examines the emphasis on local identities and communities in North American environmentalism by establishing conceptual connections between environmentalism and ecocriticism on one hand and theories of globalization transnationalism and cosmopolitanism on the other It proposes the concept of eco cosmopolitanism as a shorthand for envisioning these connections and the cultural and aesthetic forms into which they translate Part Two focuses on conceptualizations of environmental danger and connects environmentalist and ecocritical thought with the interdisciplinary field of risk theory in the social sciences arguing that environmental justice theory and ecocriticism stand to benefit from closer consideration of the theories of cosmopolitanism that have arisen in this field from the analysis of transnational communities at risk Both parts of the book combine in depth theoretical discussion with detailed analyses of novels poems films computer software and installation artworks from the US and abroad that translate new connections between global national and local forms of awareness into innovative aesthetic forms combining allegory epic and views of the planet as a whole with modernist and postmodernist strategies of fragmentation montage collage and zooming

Mediated Identities in the Futures of Place: Emerging Practices and Spatial Cultures Lakshmi Priya Rajendran, Nez Hapi Dellé Odeleye, 2020-01-02 This book examines the emerging problems and opportunities that are posed by media innovations spatial typologies and cultural trends in re shaping identities within the fast changing milieus of the early 21st Century Addressing a range of social and spatial scales and using a phenomenological frame of reference the book draws on the works of Heidegger Merleau Ponty and Don Ihde to bridge the seemingly disparate yet related theoretical perspectives across a number of disciplines Various perspectives are put forward from media human geography cultural studies technologies urban design and architecture etc and looked at thematically from networked culture and digital interface and other perspectives The book probes the ways in which new digital media trends affect how and what we communicate and how they drive and reshape our everyday practices This mediatization of space with fast evolving communication platforms and applications of digital representations offers challenges to our notions of space identity and culture and the book explores the diverse yet connected levels of technology and people interaction The Authorship of Place Dennis

Lo, 2020-09-14 The Authorship of Place is the first monograph dedicated to the study of the politics history aesthetics and practices of location shooting for Taiwanese Mainland Chinese and coproduced art cinemas shot in rural communities since the late 1970s Dennis Lo argues that rural location shooting beyond serving aesthetic and technical needs constitutes practices of cultural survival in a region beset with disruptive and disorienting social changes including rapid urbanization geopolitical shifts and ecological crises In response to these social changes auteurs like Hou Xiaoxian Jia Zhangke Chen Kaige and Li Xing engaged in location shooting to transform sites of film production into symbolically meaningful places of collective memories and aspirations These production practices ultimately enabled auteurs to experiment with imagining Taiwanese Mainland Chinese and cross strait communities in novel and contentious ways Deftly guiding readers on a cross strait tour of prominent shooting locations for the New Chinese Cinemas this book shows how auteurs sought out their disappearing cultural heritage by reenacting lived experiences of nation building homecoming and cultural salvage while shooting on location This was an especially daunting task when auteurs encountered the shooting locations as spaces of unresolved historical social and geopolitical contestations tensions which were only intensified by the impact of filmmaking on rural communities This book demonstrates how these complex circumstances surrounding location shooting were pivotal in shaping both representations of the rural on screen as well as the production communities institutions and industries off screen Informed by cutting edge perspectives in cultural geography and media anthropology The Authorship of Place both revises Chinese language film history and theorizes groundbreaking approaches for investigating the cultural politics of film authorship and production This extraordinary book discusses the uses of location shooting in films by contemporary

Taiwanese and Mainland Chinese directors ranging from Li Xing to Jia Zhangke It highlights the ways in which place memory and identity stances respond to social changes and geopolitical disparities In a world full of uncertainty the argument about the imaginary homeland as an experienced cinematic reality only renders it more urgent and universally relatable Ping hui Liao University of California San Diego The Authorship of Place is certainly a welcome intervention into the study of Chinese cinemas and their auteurs that further contributes to the wider study of location shooting as well as cultural geographies and place based imaginaries of film It is rare to find a book dealing with space place in and around cinema that is this inventive and nuanced in its methodologies Stephanie DeBoer Indiana University
