Of Light And Silence:

T. S. Eliot and the Dynamic Imagination Sarah Kennedy, 2018-04-05 How is a poem made From what constellation of inner and outer worlds does it issue forth Sarah Kennedy's study of Eliot's poetics seeks out those images most striking in their resonance and recurrence the sea change the light invisible and the dark ghost She makes the case for these sustained metaphors as constitutive of the poet's imagination and art Eliot was haunted by recurrence His work is full of moments of luminous recognitions moments in which a writer discovers both subject and appropriate image This book examines such moments of recognition and invocation by reference to three clusters of imagery drawing on the contemporary languages of literary criticism psychology physics and anthropology Eliot's transposition of these registers at turns wary and beguiled interweaves modern understandings of originary processes in the human and natural world with a poet's preoccupation with language The metaphors arising from these intersections generate the imaginative logic of Eliot's poetry List of Lights and Fog Signals, 1937 Modern American Poetry and the Architectural Imagination Jo Gill, 2023 Modern American Poetry and the Architectural Imagination The Harmony of Forms assesses the relationship between architectural and poetic innovation in the United States across the twentieth century Taking the work of five key poets as case studies and drawing on the work of a rich range of other writers architects artists and commentators this study proposes that by examining the sustained and productive if hitherto overlooked engagement between the two disciplines we enrich our understanding of the complexity and interrelationship of both The book begins by tracing the rise of what was conceived of as modern and often international style architecture and by showing how poetry and architecture in the early decades of the century developed in dialogue and within a shared and often transnational context It then moves on to examine the material aesthetic and social conditions that helped shape both disciplines offering new readings of familiar poems and bringing other pertinent resources to light It considers the uses to which poets of the period put the insights of architecture and vice versa In closing Gill turns to modern and contemporary architects written accounts of their own practice in memoirs and other commentaries and examines how they have assimilated or resisted the practice and vision of poetry Textual Ethos Studies, Or Locating Ethics Anna Fahraeus, AnnKatrin Jonsson, 2005 Textual ethos studies talks about critical theory and ethics The Unhappy Consciousness E.F. Kaelin, 2012-12-06 In the wake of so many other keys to the treasure whoever undertakes still another book of criticism on the novels and drama of Samuel Beckett must assume the grave burden of justifying the attempt especially for him who like one of John Barth's recent fictional characterizations of himself believes that the key to the treasure is the treasure itself No one will ever have the privilege of the last word on these texts since any words other than the author's own found therein must be referred back to the text themselves for cautious verification Indeed the words the author has used to create the oeuvre stand by virtue of their own creativeness or fail in their pretense and need no critical comment to be appreciated for what they have achieved or have failed to achieve In criticism there is no privileged point of view not even the author's own. He has consulted his knowledge and experience to make the work and whoever would criticize his efforts would seem to owe him the indulgence of doing the same. If communication is mediated through the works, the author and his readers respond in reciprocal fashion to the expressiveness of their contexts. For the philosopher of art, the challenge is extremely tempting on a manifold count.

The Incomplete Manuscript Kamal Abdulla, 2013. Now translated into English. The Incomplete Manuscript Translated from Azerbaijani by Anne Thompson is a novel narrating the imaginary life of medieval icons. When a young researcher accidentally comes across a manuscript in the Manuscripts Institute, he discovers the unexpected but well-known epic Kitabi Dada Korkud combined with the history of Azerbaijani shah and poet Shah Ismail's life set in an entirely new interpretation. This stunning novel turns into a game of literary fiction that has already thrilled readers around the world. From the first pages of Incomplete Manuscript, Kamal Abdulla is like a lapidarist who for days and nights walks around the uncut diamond to find that particular angle for brilliant cut and tries to imagine what it will look like once cut and polished. Read the book as a detective novel and as an approach to myths and above all as an introduction to the study of self.

Prof. Andrea Brignon, France: Kamal Abdulla still can be singled out as a writer dancing with different layers of language, different periods of national history, different cinematic shots and montage effects of Confucius.

Prof. Niyazi Mekhti, Baku University of Arts and Culture: Everything that an epic had to suppress in order to achieve unity and completeness, a great artistic force is needed: the force of a Bulgakov, a Joyce, a Walcott, or Kamal Abdulla.

Prof. Max Statkiewicz, University of Wisconsin-Madison: Kamal Abdulla is a professor of linguistics in Baku, Azerbaijan. This novel has been published in French, Turkish, Russian, Polish, Arabic, and Portuguese. Publisher's website: <http://sbpra.com/KamalAbdulla>.

Time, Tense, and Causation Michael Tooley, 1997. Michael Tooley presents a major new philosophical study of time and its relation to causation. The nature of time has always been one of the most fascinating and perplexing problems of philosophy; it has in recent years become the focus of vigorous debate between advocates of rival theories. The traditional tensed accounts of time, which hold that time has a direction and that the flow of time is part of the nature of the universe, have been challenged by tenseless accounts of time according to which past, present, and future are merely subjective features of experience rather than objective features of events. Time, Tense, and Causation offers a new approach in many ways intermediate between these two rivals. Tooley shares with tensed approaches the view that the universe is dynamic and that the past and present are real while the future is not, but he rejects the view that this points to the existence of irreducible tensed facts. Tooley's approach accounts for time in terms of its relation to causation; he argues that the direction of time is based upon the direction of causation and that the key to understanding the dynamic nature of the universe is to understand the nature of causation. He analyses tensed concepts and discusses semantic issues about truth and time. Finally, addressing the formidable difficulties posed for tensed accounts of time by the Special Theory of Relativity, he suggests that a modified version of the theory compatible with the account of time in this book is to be preferred to the standard version Time Tense and Causation is rich in sophisticated and stimulating discussions of many of the deepest problems of metaphysics It will be essential reading for anyone specialising in this area of philosophy Forbidden Acts Ben Hodges,2003-09-01 Applause Books Applause Theatre Lillian Hellman's classic The Children's Hour 1933 initially banned in London and passed over for the Pulitzer Prize because of its subject matter and Oscar Wilde 1938 by Leslie and Sewall Stokes a major award winning success that starred Robert Morley More recent plays include Mart Crowley's The Boys in the Band 1968 the first hit out gay play that was the most realistic and groundbreaking portrayal of gays on stage up to that time Martin Sherman's Bent 1978 which daringly focused on the love between two Nazi concentration camp inmates and starred Richard Gere William Hoffman's As Is 1985 which was one of the first plays to deal with the AIDS crisis and earned three Tony Award nominations and Terrence McNally's Love Valour Compassion 1994 which starred Nathan Lane and won the Tony Award for Best Play The other plays are Edouard Bourdet's The Captive 1926 Ruth and Augustus Goetz's The Immoralist 1954 and Frank Marcus The Killing of Sister George 1967 Forbidden Acts includes a broad range of theatrical genres drama tragedy romance comedy and farce They remain vibrant and relevant today as a testament of art's ability to persevere in the face of oppression The Nag Hammadi Library in English James McConkey Robinson,1984 Death, Language, Thought Metka Zupančič,2005 This volume contains fourteen essays in which different aspects of Gerard Bucher's thanatopoietic hypothesis are examined Initially five papers by Wilson Baldridge Claire Nouvet Jean Michel Rabate Helene Domon and Metka Zupancic were presented at the International Association for Philosophy and Literature IAPL during its 2001 meeting in Atlanta Subsequently Michel Deguy and Pierre Ouellet together with Christian Garaud Kuisma Korhonen Michael Degener and Maurizio Godorecci were invited to explore various implications of Bucher's hypothesis Bucher's own work as shown in his contribution to this volume analyzes the connection between our experience of death and the establishment of poetry as a means of approaching the truth of being of aestheticism and of ethics H.O.
