Journalism's Roving Eye John Maxwell Hamilton,2011-08-15 In all of journalism nowhere are the stakes higher than in foreign news gathering For media owners it is the most difficult type of reporting to finance for editors the hardest to oversee Correspondents roaming large swaths of the planet must acquire expertise that home based reporters take for granted facility with the local language for instance or an understanding of local cultures Adding further to the challenges they must put news of the world in context for an audience with little experience and often limited interest in foreign affairs a task made all the more daunting because of the consequence to national security In Journalism's Roving Eye John Maxwell Hamilton a historian and former foreign correspondent provides a sweeping and definitive history of American foreign news reporting from its inception to the present day and chronicles the economic and technological advances that have influenced overseas coverage as well as the cavalcade of colorful personalities who shaped readers' perceptions of the world across two centuries From the colonial era when newspaper printers hustled down to wharfs to collect mail and periodicals from incoming ships to the ongoing multimedia press coverage of the Iraq War Hamilton explores journalism's constant and not always successful efforts at dishing the foreign news as James Gordon Bennett put it in the mid nineteenth century to describe his approach in the New York Herald He details the highly partisan coverage of the French Revolution

the early emergence of special correspondents and the challenges of organizing their efforts the profound impact of the non yellow press in the run up to the Spanish American War the increasingly sophisticated machinery of propaganda and censorship that surfaced during World War I and the golden age of foreign correspondence during the interwar period when outlets for foreign news swelled and a large number of experienced independent journalists circled the globe From the Nazis intimidation of reporters to the ways in which American popular opinion shaped coverage of Communist revolution and the Vietnam War Hamilton covers every aspect of delivering foreign news to American doorsteps Along the way Hamilton singles out a fascinating cast of characters among them Victor Lawson the overlooked proprietor of the Chicago Daily News who pioneered the concept of a foreign news service geared to American interests Henry Morton Stanley one of the first reporters to generate news on his own with his 1871 expedition to East Africa to find Livingstone and Jack Belden a forgotten brooding figure who exemplified the best in combat reporting Hamilton details the experiences of correspondents editors owners publishers and network executives as well as the political leaders who made the news and the technicians who invented ways to transmit it Their stories bring the narrative to life in arresting detail and make this an indispensable book for anyone wanting to understand the evolution of foreign news gathering Amid the steep drop in the number of correspondents stationed abroad and the recent decline of the newspaper industry many fear that foreign reporting will soon no longer exist But as Hamilton shows in this magisterial work traditional correspondence survives alongside a new type of reporting Journalism s Roving Eye offers a keen understanding of the vicissitudes in foreign news an understanding imperative to better seeing what lies ahead

The Age of Exploration: Totally Getting Lost (Epic Fails #4) Ben Thompson,Erik Slader,2019-04-16 Christopher Columbus is one of the most famous explorers of all time but he was neither the first nor last adventurer to ever stumble upon a great discovery From the Silk Road of Asia to the icy shores of Antarctica our knowledge of the world today is in large part due to several intrepid pioneers risking life and limb for the sake of exploration After all setting off into the dark unknown requires an enormous amount of bravery But every explorer quickly learns that courage and curiosity aren t enough to save you if you can t read a map or trespass on somebody else s land In this fourth installment of the Epic Fails series authors Erik Slader and Ben Thompson introduces readers to an international cast of trailblazers and details every mutiny wrong turn and undiscovered city of gold behind the age of exploration

The World's Westward March Peter F. Krogh, 2020-06-25 In this book Peter F Krogh examines the major events and individuals which figured prominently in the movement of centers of initiative and of the world's main axis of commerce and communication from East to West over the last five hundred years The book follows the westward migration of the world's center of gravity from China in the fifteenth century across Eurasia to the Near East onward to Europe and then to America and now to the Pacific Rim The focus is on historical figures who by virtue of their vision and action led the movement It highlights what unfolds when a powerful idea is embraced by a formidable individual who pursues the idea with uncommon ability and intensity Along the way the book identifies qualities that make for leadership on a grand scale which aspiring leaders may find instructive and even inspirational

Uncovering America's First War Matthew F. Schmader, 2025-03-18 By the 1530s Indigenous Pueblo populations in the American Southwest reached tens of thousands of people with a rich culture expressed through stunning architecture ceramic technology and ceremonial life Then into that world came outsiders an army from Spain's new colony in Mexico led by Francisco V zquez de Coronado First contacts at the western Pueblos of Zuni Hopi and Acoma led to open warfare By the winter of 1540 increasing tensions and resistance spilled over into violence in America's earliest named war the Tiguex War which occurred in an area settled by ancestors of today's Rio Grande Pueblos The largest and most intact battle site of that fierce conflict is known as Piedras Marcadas Pueblo situated within present day Albuquerque New Mexico Fighting back against Coronado's crossbows and muskets with stone tipped arrows and slingstones the Puebloans mounted a courageous defense of their largest village piling rocks on rooftops and hurling them down at attackers Hundreds of artifacts found at Piedras Marcadas reveal the life and death contest for survival that occurred within those ancient walls and plazas
