Gilbert,2008 This book is about the competitive relationship involving the men who represented Moravian College Bethlehem Pennsylvania and the men who represented Muhlenberg College Allentown Pennsylvania in intercollegiate varsity football competition between 1958 and 2006 Introduction Justice and American Intercollegiate Athletics Daniel R. Gilbert Jr.,2025-09-03 This is a book about athletic competitors belonging to something larger than their accustomed and immediate pursuits The centerpiece of this book is an accomplishment of justice in the routine conduct of American intercollegiate athletics This accomplishment was a resilient assembly of intercollegiate athletic competitors who sustained bilateral playing relationships and concurrently ventured into playing relationships outside their circle This was a just arrangement because participants tolerated one another s separate pursuits while affirming that they belonged to enduring playing relationships They affirmed such belonging through their bilateral scheduling practices Evidence of this justice accomplishment is abundant in hundreds of schedules This book contains two historical narratives about connected competitors departing one another s company to travel distinctive pathways In both narratives athletic competitors reestablished playing relationships from which they had departed Through their acts of connection departure and reconnection these competitors joined to create enduring patterns of centered belonging And they did this as athletic competitors whose interests were directly opposed Official Gazette of the United States Patent and Trademark Office ,1997 1991 NCAA Football National Collegiate Athletic Association,1991

The Athletic Trap Howard L. Nixon II, 2014-03-15 The commercial model of college sports

entangles presidents boards and their institutions in a complex web of dysfunctional commitments The unrivaled amount of cash poured into the college athletic system has made sports programs breeding grounds for corruption while diverting crucial resources from the academic mission of universities Like money in Washington politics the influence bought by a complex set of self interested actors seriously undermines movement toward reform while trapping universities in a cycle of escalating competition Longtime sport sociologist Howard L Nixon II approaches the issue from the perspective of college presidents how they are seduced by prestige or pressured by economics into building programs that move schools toward a commercial model of athletics Nixon situates his analysis in the context of what he calls the intercollegiate golden triangle a powerful social network of athletic media and private corporate commercial interests This network lures presidents and other university leaders into an athletic arms race with promises of institutional enhancements increased enrollments better student morale improved alumni loyalty more financial contributions and higher prestige These promises can cloud the judgment of college presidents and governing boards entangling them in an athletic trap that restricts their influence Unable to control spending inequalities and deviance within commercialized athletic programs universities are ensnared in financial political and social obligations that are difficult to sustain or escape Nixon clarifies the structure of this trap describes how higher education institutions fall into it and explores what it means for institutions and presidents caught in it This timely analysis also has relevance to the debates about the role of the NCAA and ongoing reform efforts in college sports The Athletic Trap will be of interest to university presidents board members and administrators sport sociologists concerned with the balance of power between academics and athletics and anyone else with a serious interest in college sports and its future
